VOL. 120, No. 66 — VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, MARCH 19, 1953—34 PAGES — PRICE: 5 CENTS SATURDAY, 10 CENTS

Ah! Spring! You Beautiful Thing!

The birds are singing, the bees are buzzing, the buds are budding . . . and the young man takes renewed interest in double-whistle ankles. Not that a well-turned limb doesn't attract attention any day in the year, but the young man's fancy will officially turn to thoughts of you-know-what Friday at 2.01 p.m. At that magic moment, the sun reaches the vernal equinox, and spring will be here, officially. In Victoria today, students from Elmira, Ore., High School beat spring to the draw by 24 hours. Being admired are Lois Rath, Phyllis Johnston and Sally Evans. The whistlers are Dick Buckler and Jerry Willette. The five students are on a sightseeing visit here after attending a music conference in Bellingham. (Times photo by Bill Halkett.)

Victoria Budget Brought Down

Mill Rate May Be Cut Despite Higher Costs

WHAT BUDGET MEANS

Following table shows what taxes are on three different priced city homes, and what they would be at provisional tax rate for 1953 of 58½ mills and at 55 mils:

Market Value	Assessed Value	1952 Taxes	58½ rate	55 rate
$ 7,500	$4,000	$175	$181	$171
10,000	5,000	203	210	198
14,000	7,100	282	290	275

First Draft Shows 58.5 Mills Needed

The city of Victoria is to have another "austerity budget" this year and there is a fair prospect it will mean a reduction from last year's tax rate of 56½ mills on 100 per cent of land assessments and 65 per cent of improvements, despite the fact overall spending by the city will be higher.

The provisional budget brought down in City Council this morning calls for total expenditures of $6,517,535.

This is an increase of $673,000 over the actual expenditures in 1952, but because of higher revenues from non-tax sources and a higher assessment could be financed with a rate of 58½ mills.

However this is before the council starts paring the budget and Mayor Claude Harrison indicated he has every hope that the final budget can be cut below the 1952 rate.

The budget statement disclosed that the city finished 1952 with a revenue surplus of $311,196, which was $47,000 greater than in 1951.

This surplus will be carried forward to help keep the 1953 mill rate down.

Here, briefly is the budget picture:

Budget Picture in Brief

Total proposed expenditure $6,517,535.

Revenues from other sources than property taxation $3,383,583.

Amount required to be raised by property taxes $3,133,952 (an increase of $250,555).

A large part of the extra money required from properties will be collected because of the higher assessment roll this year.

Each mill levied will produce $53,571, instead of $51,033 last year.

Council members expressed the view they have a good chance of cutting expenditures to the point where a reduction in the mill rate can be achieved, although it was pointed out some of the economies achieved last year cannot be repeated.

Council started with a provisional budget of $6,961,360 in 1952 and slashed it to $6,247,255 before it had finished paring down costs.

The budget was submitted to council by City Comptroller Dennis Young and City Manager Cecil Wyatt.

Water Responsible for Increase

Biggest increase this year is $100,965 for a water distribution system, with replacements and extensions taking up a major part of the increase.

School costs are up $86,126 and debt charges, $54,762. Cost of fire protection is down $13,463, while police protection is up $34,248 and street lighting up $12,929.

Only $1,960 is estimated for purchase of new parking meters this year compared to $11,252 spent last year.

Question of charitable grants is expected to result in lengthy debate. The sum of $6,800 has been included in the budget. Last year, only $2,050 was actually allotted.

The city estimated it would benefit by $91,000 under the new Rolston education formula. But after the provisional budget was completed the government announced Wednesday it would share increased school costs over the 1952 level on a 50-50 basis rather than the previously announced 75-25.

City Comptroller Young said he did not yet know how this would affect Victoria financially.

"At the time of writing, an accurate or even understandable interpretation of the Rolston formula was not obtainable although we have been assured that the city will benefit to the extent of approximately $91,000," he reported.

Special expenditure this year includes $25,000 replacement of a fire truck ladder; $9,480 for new traffic signals; $65,200 for new street construction, and $10,935 for new equipment purchases in public works.

Items such as new street construction, grants—including the $14,590 estimated for "special" grants—are expected to be scrutinized closely.

Revenues from licenses and permits are up $17,500, principally from trades licenses and building permits. Rents and franchises are down, mainly because of sale of Ogden Point elevator and other city properties.

Police court fines are expected to bring in the same revenue as last year—$65,000.

500 to 1,000 Perish In Turkish Quake

Shock Felt Over 10,000 Sq. Miles

ISTANBUL (AP)—A violent earthquake shook western Turkey Wednesday night and unofficial reports today said from 500 to 1,000 persons perished. President Celal Bayar left Ankara with government officials for the stricken region.

Zahmi Argon, Red Crescent Red Cross information officer, said unconfirmed reports from the scene estimated the dead at 500. Two Istanbul newspapers estimated the death toll at 1,000.

The quake apparently centred around Balikesir, across the Sea of Marmara from Istanbul, and near the First World War battlefield of Gallipoli. Police at Balikesir said by phone there were 38 confirmed dead in the towns of Gonen and Manyas, but that there was no contact with the towns of Yenice and Cihan, believed to have been even harder hit.

HALF HOMES DESTROYED

Balikesir police had unconfirmed reports that 500 were dead in Yenice and Cihan, towns of about 2,000 each. Their confirmed reports included 35 dead at Gonen, 100 miles southwest of Istanbul, and three at nearby Manyas. They said more than half the homes in the latter two towns had been destroyed or damaged.

The Istanbul observatory said the quake was felt over an area of more than 10,000 square miles. Through the affected area, people fled their homes, spending the night in the open.

CAMPNEY EXPLAINS CBC POLICY

TV Promised Within Weeks Once Joint Application Made

Quick processing of a joint CKDA-CJVI television license was assured today by Solicitor-General Ralph Campney, who is visiting Victoria.

Mr. Campney, who represents Vancouver Centre in the federal house, estimated a joint application would be approved "in a month or two months" after submission to the CBC board of governors.

It has been estimated, however, it would take at least six months to prepare the technical data needed for a joint application.

Mr. Campney said the CBC is encouraging joint applications, and many small eastern Canadian centres are following this line. Radio stations and newspapers are banding together in some places, he said.

He said this strengthens the financial feature, and makes TV more easily obtainable for small cities.

On Wednesday, Dave Armstrong, owner - manager of CKDA, heard that the CBC had reversed its decision not to accept TV license applications from Victoria.

He announced his intention to proceed with TV plans calling for an expenditure of $400,000, and suggested to the management of CJVI that representatives of both stations "look into all the possibilities of a joint application."

Although William Guild, CJVI manager, is in eastern Canada, and not available for comment, he has expressed himself in favor of a joint operation.

CKDA's plans call for construction of a 50-kilowatt transmitter, or more than triple the 16-kilowatt transmitter now used by KING in Seattle.

According to the trade, such an installation here would eliminate the need for costly antennas on rooftops, since the built-in antenna would suffice.

"If that is not sufficient, a simple device that the owner can erect himself usually does the job," said Eric Young, local TV technician.

He added, though, that experience has proven that TV set owners are not satisfied to be limited to one station, and that if they want to reach Vancouver, Seattle, Bellingham and Tacoma, that large antennas will be required.

Engineers claim that a large antenna will improve reception anywhere beyond a one-mile radius of the transmitter by eliminating interference caused by fuorescent lights, doorbells, and ignition systems common to buses and British-made cars.

33 May Have Died in 2 U.S. Plane Crashes

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Two United States military planes crashed in Newfoundland Wednesday and the death toll may reach 33.

It was announced today that a second U.S. plane, a B-29 medium bomber, plunged into St. George's Bay with 10 men aboard while on a routine flight. Fate of the occupants was not known.

Meanwhile, searchers looked for survivors of a giant bomber which crashed on the east coast of Newfoundland with 23 persons aboard. Ten bodies have been found. There was no immediate trace of the other 13 persons.

Details of the B-29 crash were not available. Wreckage was found in the bay, on the province's west coast, but there was no sign of life.

On the other side of the island, search parties hunted for the remaining 13 persons aboard the 10-engine RB-36 which went down north of here while en route from the Azores to its base at Rapid City, N.B.

Ten bodies were found near the still-burning wreckage on a heavily-wooded hilltop today by woodsmen.

They said the plane crashed into a hilltop but did not say if it had burned. The plane had a gasoline capacity of 20,000 gallons.

All men in the tiny settlement of Bygoyne's Cove, nearest to the crash scene, left in motorboats early today in an effort to reach the wreckage. Another rescue party also started out by jeep from McAndrew air force base.

None Named To Succeed Czech Premier

VIENNA, Austria (UP)—The body of Czech dictator Klement Gottwald, who died mourning his idol Joseph Stalin, was consigned to a marble tomb in Prague today with the name of his successor still unannounced.

The funeral pattern, as described by Prague radio, was a miniature copy of last week's Kremlin rites for Stalin.

Gottwald, whose brief fatal illness was strikingly similar to Stalin's, died Saturday — just three days after flying home from Moscow where he was one of the chief mourners for his Communist master.

As Gottwald's funeral got underway with a four-mile procession through the Czech capital today, there still was no announcement as to who would replace him as president-dictator of Red Czechoslovakia.

RED CROSS DRIVE LAGS

Red Cross canvassers are barely keeping pace with the passing days as the month-long campaign draws nearer its end. With the month 61 per cent gone, the Red Cross drive quota has only hit the 58.5 per cent mark of the $70,500 target. The total collected at noon today was $41,250.

BAKER'S DOZEN

13th Girl Born To U.S. Couple

PITTSFIELD, Me. (AP)—Lloyd Brooks looked at his newborn 13th daughter today and decided that "if we're ever going to have a son, guess we'll have to adopt one."

But Brooks said he was nonetheless pleased with the arrival Wednesday night of eight pound two ounce Lorene Avis, which brought his family to 13 daughters, the largest all-girl family in the United States.

When Lorene Avis' arrival was announced, the 37-year-old, $40-a-week textile worker dashed happily up to the delivery room of Osteopathic Hospital in Waterville, shouting:

"I knew it would be another girl."

Both the baby and Mrs. Brooks were reported doing well. The mother is 37 years old, stands five feet tall and weighs a mere 100 pounds.

The oldest of the other daughters, 15-year-old Eunice, exclaimed: "If she had been a boy we'd have had to send her back. Boys are always fighting."

German Police Beat Back Reds Protesting Alliance With West

BONN, Germany (AP)—Reinforced police today beat back nearly 1,000 Communist-led demonstrators who tried to march on the West German Parliament to block ratification of twin treaties that would bring the Bonn republic into armed alliance with the West.

The screaming, chanting demonstrators scrambled over a barbed wire barricade blocking the street and attempted to break through a police cordon.

The police met them about 200 yards from the Parliament buildings and drove them back with powerful streams of water from hoses.

Several demonstrators were arrested.

Police said that Communist and neutralist opponents of the rearmament treaties had imported hundreds of demonstrators from all sections of West Germany, especially the industrial Ruhr.

Police closed off an area of nearly 10 square blocks around the Parliament with the barbed-wire barricades. All around the building they stretched fire hoses. Water guns were mounted on the roof.

The demonstrators shouted anti-rearmament and peace slogans.

Several were injured.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer will launch the treaties on their third and final reading in the Bundestag (lower house) with a government declaration. This will be followed by a debate lasting probably eight hours.

The 77-year-old government chief wants this step completed before he goes to the United States for a state visit April 6.

The treaties are the Allied-Bonn peace contract, giving West Germany near-sovereignty, and the six-country European Defense Community pact, setting up a unified West European army. Germany would contribute 500,000 men to the one-uniform force.

As the two agreements came up in the Bundestag, the confident Adenauer called for a big majority "to show the way" to the rest of free Europe. The final vote was expected tonight.

Hope Fading For Renewal Of Wheat Pact

OTTAWA (BUP)—Hope for renewal of the International Wheat Agreement appeared to be fading rapidly today.

Federal grain officials remained silent on details of the Washington negotiations and Trade Minister C. D. Howe declined comment on a statement by Sir John Teasdale, chairman of the Australian Wheat Board, that a new three-year pact was "unlikely."

But other federal officials echoed the pessimism.

The negotiations were expected to end in about 10 days, but there was a report that the Canadian delegation would come home if a price was not settled by this week-end.

It was understood that representatives from the 46 major importing and producing countries of the free world were still 20 cents apart on the proposed ceiling prices for the new agreement and 15 cents apart on floor price quotations.

Dies When Trapped In Sand Hopper

Flying Saucer Seen

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (BUP)—Two residents of Prince George in north-central British Columbia claimed today they saw a "flying saucer" shoot across the sky at a "tremendous speed."

Fred Harper and Peter Evans told the Royal Canadian Mounted Police they observed the saucer for more than an hour. They said it would hover low, then shoot up in bounces and finally disappeared. The men said it changed color from white to reddish yellow.

ACADEMY AWARDS TONIGHT

Who'll Win Oscars—Shirley? Bette? Joan? Gary? Brando?

BY PHIL LEE
Times Movie Reviewer

Step right up, folks, and join in the annual guessing game.

Tonight Hollywood names the outstanding picture and stars of the year.

In the gals' division Academy Award winners could be Joan Crawford (Sudden Fear), Bette Davis (The Star), Susan Hayward (With a Song in My Heart), Julie Harris (Member of the Wedding), or Shirley Booth (Come Back Little Sheba).

My choice—if you're interested—is Shirley Booth.

The choice between the men for Oscars is among Gary Cooper (High Noon), Kirk Douglas (The Bad and the Beautiful), Alec Guiness (The Lavender Hill Mob), Marlon Brando (Viva Zapata), Jose Ferrer (Moulin Rouge).

Without having seen Moulin Rouge or The Bad and the Beautiful, I'm picking Cooper in High Noon. Or if Breaking the Sound Barrier is entered, as I understand it is, then my choice would be Ralph Richardson.

Crawford

Cooper

Some of those mentioned for supporting Oscars include Jack Palance (Sudden Fear), Richard Burton (My Cousin Rachel), Arthur Hunnicut (The Big Sky) and Victor McLaglin (The Quiet Man).

The western, High Noon, received the most nominations as the best picture of the year. Personally, I've always thought this one over-rated. The best picture of the year for my money is Breaking the Sound Barrier. If it is not entered then I would choose The Quiet Man.

Unhesitatingly I would name John Ford as the best director of the year for the wonders he performed with run of the mill actors in the gay, Irish comedy, The Quiet Man.

I also hope Cecil B. DeMille gets an award for his awesome technicolored documentary of circus life, The Greatest Show On Earth.

You can hear the awards from the RKO Pantages Theatre stage, Hollywood, tonight via Seattle radio station KOMO. Or if you have a TV set you can witness the presentation over KING-TV. The radio show starts at 7.30, the TV at 8.00.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

MAYORAL MINIVER

REFERENCE HAS BEEN made in the press on more than one occasion to Mayor Harrison's penchant for capes. And more than once this session I have caught the gleam of the scarlet satin lining of his cape as he sat in the Speakers' gallery or on the floor of the House listening to the debate.

But the mayoral cape, despite "cloak-and-swagger" suggestion, pales into insignificance when compared with the dressy proclivities of some other Canadian mayors, who are copying the custom, long followed in Britain and some European countries, of investing this office with distinctive garb.

McGEER INNOVATION

For some time the Mayor of Vancouver has been appearing in replendent robes, complete with imposing chain of office, at civic functions—an innovation, if I recall aright, introduced by the late Gerry McGeer during his incumbency of the mayoralty.

However, the mainland city's mayoral garb, imposing though it is, was streets behind the sartorial splendor of the Lord Mayor of London, who visited here from England in 1951, wearing the magnificent silk robes, with their real-gold embroideries and galloon, the plumed tricorne hat, and the massive jewelled and enamelled gold chain of office, that have been the official uniform of London's chief magistrate for centuries.

OTTAWAS TURN

This being Coronation year, when mayoral aspirations may understandably include a yearning to be among the great and near-great at the ceremonies in Westminster Abbey, more attention is being focussed upon what the well-dressed mayor will wear there.

As might be imagined, Ottawa's lady mayor, Dr. Charlotte Whitton, is exercising a woman's prerogative and has chosen a spanking new outfit for the occasion, at which she will represent her city in June. And it's not going to be just one of those dull black robes that men mayors seem to fall for, even for occasions of pageantry and panoply, either. No, sir!

SCARLET SILK

Charlotte—and I know she will forgive the familiarity as we are old friends—is to put Ottawa on the map at the Coronation ceremonies by wearing a resplendent mayoral robe of red silk with miniver fur facings and cuffs, trimmed with black satin and gold lace, the whole completed by a handsome lace jabot, something after the style worn by the Lord Mayor of London.

With that imposing ensemble, she will wear a new tricorne hat and her present handsome civic chain of office. Incidentally, I like the touch of miniver, because miniver happens to be the ermine-tailed white fur worn by royalty, peers and peeresses on their Coronation robes, and Ottawa is evidently not going to be outdone when it comes to sartorial splendor.

CITY FATHERS FANCY, TOO

It isn't only Ottawa's lady mayor who is blossoming forth in new finery for special occasions. Controllers are to be decked out in maroon robes trimmed with gold lace, and a cockaded hat with a gold button, while its aldermen will wear blue velvet-faced robes and a similar cockaded hat. I smile when I read that all this was decided at a "secret caucus" of the council on Feb. 16, but has only just been announced.

In the meantime the robes have been ordered from a London firm which makes robes for the Royal family, thus ensuring the proper finishing touches of elegance.

Now, if only our City Fathers could be persuaded to follow suit, we wouldn't need to worry any more about May 24 parades—we could just ask the mayor and council to promenade in costume and call it a day!

Saskatchewan Oil Output Up 35% in 1952

REGINA.—Total production of Saskatchewan crude oil in 1952 was approximately 35 per cent higher than that of 1951, setting a new all-time record.

In December 174,040 barrels of crude were produced from Saskatchewan wells to swell the cumulative total for the year to 1,696,288 barrels. Total production during 1951 was 1,249,281 barrels.

New areas on production during last year included Fosterton, Hoosier, Wapella, Eastend, Driver-Eureka, Buffalo Coulee and Eatonia.

There are more than 200 bicycle manufacturers in Holland, which produced 480,000 bikes in 1949.

Discrimination In Industrial Taxes Charged

Gibbs Terms New Levies 'Punitive'

The Social Credit government is imposing discriminatory taxation on the logging and mining industries, P. A. Gibbs (Liberal Oak Bay) charged in the Legislature Wednesday.

The member was referring to the 10 per cent tax the government proposes to impose on logging and mining company profits above $25,000.

Because only two industries will be affected, Mr. Gibbs said the taxation is "punitive and punishing."

He predicted the taxation will reduce investment in the two industries, and shareholders will sell out their stock and invest in other industries.

"The new taxation will bring about a declining faith in these two industries," the Oak Bay MLA said.

He couldn't understand why the government initiates higher taxes when the big requirement is a "disinflationary policy."

If the government hadn't instituted a pay-as-you-go policy, with all capital projects being paid for in one year, a tax reduction of $25 per capita would have been possible, he exclaimed.

Finance Minister Einar Gunderson said "the only thing wrong with the new taxation is the fact it wasn't instituted years ago."

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

VICTORIA'S SUNSHINE RECORD TO DATE, 1953—214.4 HOURS

SYNOPSIS: The storm which gave gale force winds to the coast yesterday remained almost stationary west of Queen Charlottes overnight but has weakened considerably. Major storm development now is located farther south off the American coast and heading eastward. This should maintain cloudy and showery weather over the southern parts of the province. Renewed storm activity over the northern coast seems likely Friday.

TIMES' ARTICLES START CONTROVERSY

Oak Bay Councillors Brand Shaw's Theory One-Sided

Articles currently appearing in the Times in support of amalgamation of the city and adjacent municipalities were attacked at Wednesday's Oak Bay Council meeting.

Contributed by B.C. Power Commission member Forrest L. Shaw, the series was called ". . . one-sided and obviously sparked by city residents," by Clr. Geoffrey Ellis.

"Citizens in Oak Bay would gain nothing by amalgamation except increased taxes," stormed Clr. Ellis. "I am sure that if anyone here were so misguided as to support this idea he would regret it. It seems to me we should offer a rebuttal."

Clr. George Gregory agreed that "the only time the city mentions amalgamation is when it wants to cut its expenses."

"This was started by Alderman (Brent) Murdoch," he continued. "I have heard it all before at Chamber of Commerce meetings."

Speaking against an immediate rebuttal of Mr. Shaw's arguments for amalgamation, Clr. G. Murdoch said: "We should let him have his say first."

Reeve P. A. Gibbs had to leave the meeting, and was not available for comment on the matter.

JOE STALIN'S HIS PARTNER

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (UP)—Automobile dealer Bruce Strowd wants to cash a $25 war bond if Josef Stalin or his heirs haven't already collected.

Strowd purchased the bond in 1943 when the German armies were battering Stalingrad. He put Stalin's name on it as co-owner and mailed the bond to Moscow.

PRODUCTS FAIR WILL USE ARENA, CURLING RINK

A B.C. Products Fair three times as large as last year's is promised for Victoria this year by Lorrace Kirk, chairman of the Junior Chamber of Commerce fair committee. Dates are May 4 to 9.

Both the Memorial Arena and the new curling rink on Quadra will be used for the fair. The space betwen the two buildings will be turned into a midway, where livestock shows will be held.

A beauty queen contest will be held, with $100, a fur coat and a chance to compete at the PNE in Vancouver included in the prize list. Cliff Maltby will organize the beauty contest.

A high-wire act will provide thrills again this year and there will be fashion shows and photo and hobby displays. A new car and a television set will be door prizes.

SAYS ROSENBERGS GUILTY

Greenglass Insists He Told the Truth

NEW YORK (UP)—Convicted atom spy David Greenglass has insisted in two interviews with members of his family that he told the truth as a witness against his sister and brother-in-law, Ethel and Julius Rosenberg.

This was disclosed Wednesday night by Emanuel H. Bloch, attorney for the condemned couple sentenced to die in the electric chair for giving U.S. atomic secrets to Russian agents during the Second World War.

Bloch said Greenglass, who is serving a 15-year prison term for his part in the Soviet espionage operation, denied to his mother and to his older brother that he lied when he gave damning testimony against the Rosenbergs.

The mother, Mrs. Tessie Greenglass, and the brother, Bernard Greenglass, visited David on separate occasions at the Lewisburg, Pa., penitentiary. The attorney said they visited the prison at his suggestion.

Bloch said Mrs. Greenglass came to him and asked, "What can I do to help my daughter?"

"I told her to go down and get Davie to tell the truth," Bloch said. The brother made a similar visit. Both reported back to Bloch that "Davie says he has been telling the truth."

David Greenglass also told his mother and brother he had never been coached by federal agents before drawing segments of the atomic bomb to back up his story that he supplied secret information to the spy ring while assigned to the Los Alamos laboratory as an army sergeant.

Careless Driving Costs Victorian $25

Ellison Queale, 1326 Vimy, was found guilty on a charge of careless driving and was fined $25 by Magistrate A. I. Thomas in Central Saanich police court Wednesday afternoon.

Court was told Queale was involved in a two-car collision March 8 on the Pat Bay highway. His counsel was J. Alan Baker.

In the same court, Robert Dinsdale, 3027 Jackson, was fined $10 for careless driving. He was found guilty after a trial. Evidence was that he was in the wrong lane of travel riding his motorcycle abreast with two other bike riders on East Saanich Road February 25.

Yvette Germain Semeyn, Prospect Lake, pleaded guilty and was fined $10 for violating a license restriction. She had been prohibited from driving unless accompanied by another adult with a valid license.

Commons Switches Today From TV to Tax Changes

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons today studies Finance Minister Abbott's 1953-54 budgetary tax changes, setting aside temporarily a debate on government radio and television policies.

The debate on radio-TV occupied members for the second straight day Wednesday and took on some aspects of a marathon as George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, spoke for more than an hour criticizing an earlier speech by Transport Minister Chevrier.

Works Minister Fournier, government House leader, then indicated the broadcasting debate will be postponed and attention turned to budget resolutions preceding bills which give effect to tax changes in the budget.

Mr. Drew charged Transport Minister Chevrier with an "utterly shameless distortion of the facts" in a speech Monday on television. The minister, Mr. Drew said, had made a "shameless appeal to prejudice" by saying Progressive Conservative policy on television would discourage establishment of French-language stations.

Mr. Drew said his party believes there should be an effective partnership between the publicly-owned CBC and privately-owned stations in both radio and television. All stations should be under "impartial control," not under the regulation of the CBC which itself was a competitor.

Ontario CCF Party Held Guilty of Red Tactics

TORONTO (BUP)—The Ontario CCF party was accused Wednesday night of using Communist tactics to convert a party study and research centre into a propaganda mill to destroy the original aims of the party.

The charge was levelled by 15 former trustees of the Woodsworth Memorial Foundation who resigned last February in a growing dispute on party policies with the provincial organization.

A signed statement by the former trustees charged their successors has "usurped" the original intent of the institution by converting it from a study centre into a dispensary of partisan political propaganda.

The charge was hotly denied by Woodsworth house vice-president David Lewis.

He labelled it a case of "sour grapes," and said the original trustees had failed to do their job in educating party members.

Woodsworth House, named for J. S. Woodsworth, the founder of the CCF party, was established in 1945 as a study and education centre for persons interested in learning about the party. It was controlled by a board of directors. Last year the provincial party organization moved in and gained control in February at the institution's annual meeting.

In their statement, the former trustees delivered a blistering attack on their successors.

They said the Ontario CCF party had no interest in maintaining the original ideals of the party and that the provincial group's "carefully planned invasion" of the foundation last year was "not the action of men who have any use for free discussion."

The statement also charged the party with liqudating old members of the Woodsworth House board, of "packing" the annual meeting with its own supporters, and of waging a "poison" campaign of misrepresentation and character assassination against old board members.

"These proceedings represent the tactics of people who have been corrupted," the statement said. "They have shown that they believe in free discussion in the same sense in which the Communist believe in democracy."

Vice-president Lewis said in rebuttal:

"A group of members of the foundation and the CCF party have come to the conclusion that the group which signed the statement and has run the foundation as a clique, as a little toy for its own special design, has failed entirely to do any worthwhile educational and research on social problems."

Up-Island Merchants Back Mainland Freight Service

CAMPBELL RIVER — Commissioner John Lambie and A. D. Corker, village clerk, will attend a meeting of the cabinet Saturday to speak in favor of retaining the Courtenay-Campbell River truck service of Vancouver Barge and Transportation Ltd.

The hearing will be the second in an appeal launched by Island Freight Service, Ltd. against the Public Utilities Commission decision permitting the Vancouver barge firm to operate the truck service.

At the original meeting March 6, Island Freight representatives said the franchise was wrongfully given since the Vancouver firm had failed to show convenience and necessity.

Every merchant of Campbell River and Campbellton had expressed to the local chamber of commerce his approval of the new company's service and the speedy transport provided.

Meanwhile, on March 12, Island Freight announced a new service to be inaugurated April 1 whereby truck trailers will be loaded in Vancouver and shipped by barge to Vancouver Island. The firm promises reduced rates and delivery by the next morning of goods reaching the CPR wharf at Vancouver as late as 4 p.m. each day.

GRAIN STRIKE TALKS REOPEN IN VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER, B.C. (BUP) —The first round-table discussions between disputing parties in the month-long strike of West Coast grain handlers opened today and federal conciliator Bernard Wilson was hopeful progress would be made.

Wilson, whose six-point plan for ending the strike was rejected by both sides Tuesday night, declined to say what proposal he would put to the meeting, however.

In turning down Wilson's proposition, the 279 CIO grain workers stood firm on their 12½ cent an hour wage increase demand which touched off the strike Feb. 16.

Anti-malarial activities now cover 7,800 villages in Turkey as part of expanded health programs.

Lose Vote If on Duty; Servicemen Ask Change

An opportunity to vote in municipal elections was asked Wednesday night by servicemen resident in Esquimalt who are required by duty to be away on election day.

The group asked the Esquimalt Ratepayers' Association to sponsor a move to bring council attention to the matter. Members decided though that the short time between nominations closing and election day makes a solution almost impossible.

Exception was taken to the penalty charged by Esquimalt on overdue taxes, after July 1. L. J. Freeman said Victoria did not charge a penalty until after October 1 and that other municipalities charged no penalty, but instead gave rebates for prompt payment.

Election of officers follows: Ralph Meaker, president; A. Hart, vice-president; Mrs. G. Pickard, treasurer, and L. J. Fuller, A. M. Galbraith, Paul Kryski, Dr. W. J. Smith, A. E. Brown and J. B. Cleland, members of the executive.

Proof of the Pudding

A NEWS DISPATCH FROM Washington this week told of the removal of United States price controls from the last small list of items. Included were steel, alloys, machine tools and a few chemicals. So ends the nationwide program that had attempted to halt the inflationary spiral of prices by clamping ceilings on the selling prices of a vast number of commodities. And with it ends the great, unwieldy system of price controllers, investigators, law enforcers and price setters that is inseparable from any such structure of state regulation.

If it had been spectacularly successful, the disadvantages of price control in the United States might have been overlooked as necessary evils. But when it is considered that the expense and aggravation of the system were largely in vain, that inflation in the United States exceeded that in Canada, where no such price controls were imposed, then the arguments of the opponents of control are vindicated.

Price control was unwelcome because it interfered too much with the economy of the country. It failed because it did not interfere enough.

It is demonstrably impossible to hold the inflationary line for long with price control alone. Inevitably, if the system is to be made to work, wages also much be controlled. That step the United States was not prepared to take on the wide basis necessary. Price controls open up a whole new field of state regulations. That is a fact not often recognized by its advocates.

Canada's government wisely resisted the urging of opposition parties to follow the United States lead. Mr. St. Laurent, Finance Minister Abbott and their advisers recognized that the way to control the inflationary growth was not to snip petals off the flowers but to attack the plant at its roots. The basic economic causes of inflation were assailed, rather than the effects.

To this end, one of the principal sources of a rising price level—the too-easy extension of credit—was brought under control through raising of the discount rate, which automatically raised interest rates. Taxes were increased to drain off excess purchasing power. The government budgeted for surpluses for the same reason. Restrictions were placed on retail credit. Bank loans were discouraged.

These measures were carried out in the face of loud outcries from Progressive Conservative and CCF spokesmen. They were invoked in face of growing criticism from the housewife and the wage earner, who saw in them only a restriction on their ability to purchase goods.

But they worked, that is the point. The inflationary rise slowed, halted. It was soon possible to relax the restrictions that had been imposed.

It is nearly a year now since bank credit restrictions were removed, proof that the Canadian government's policy had been the right one—proof that drastic controls applied at the source would curb the rising cost of living more quickly, more effectively than by nibbling at prices. There can be little doubt that the eyes of our neighbors, now admiring Canada's economic situation have also noted our handling of the inflation problem. This country has made a notable contribution to the field of national economic management.

Abou-u-u-t Turn!

ALTHOUGH THERE IS NO ASsurance that Victoria interests will be granted a television broadcasting license, the CBC has made a quick reversal of its decision that no applications would be considered from this area.

The ruling February 17 was that Victoria was considered to be within range of the proposed Vancouver station (to be operated by the CBC) and hence did not need one of its own. The arguments against such a stand, of course, were obvious. This city would obtain only fringe reception from Vancouver, as it does from Seattle. In other words, reception of programs would be on an "off again, on again" basis. In addition, Victoria talent would suffer — individual artists, symphony orchestra, hockey team, and so on—since all broadcasts would have to originate in the mainland city.

There seemed no more reason to deny this city its local TV outlets than there would be to decree that we should have to be content with radio programs only from Vancouver.

Public protest and the arguments of experts appear to have been effective. The CBC now "may consider" applications from Victoria broadcasters. The move will be welcomed here, but one wonders about the continuing reluctance to come right out and say a license will be granted, and what moved bureaucracy in the first place to issue its poorly-substantiated refusal.

Growers and California Wines

IN RECENT DAYS DIFFERENT opinions have been voiced about the future of the local loganberry industry in the event of California wine imports.

On the one hand are growers and representatives who see importation of the American bottled products as a severe blow to themselves. On the other are those who suggest the berries can be sold effectively in forms other than wine.

Interests opposing entry of California wine have not stated exactly why the local product will be seriously injured. Having created a special clientele for their wine, why should they assume that the arrival of another beverage would kill their market?

Thousands of British Columbians who might enjoy a glass of wine do not buy loganberry. If they purchase imported wines now, conceivably they will give part of their custom to the California interests when shipments arrive from that state. But if they are non-buyers of the local product at present, their actions will not diminish sales of wineries in this area and in other parts of British Columbia.

California wines, it should be noted, will not be bought merely because they come from California. They will depend for their popularity on taste, standard and price. Only if they prove themselves superior and competitively inexpensive will they be major factors in the local and provincial wine market.

Saanich Rules Out Hunters

SAANICH APPEARS TO HAVE used that ounce of prevention which is worth more than a pound of cure in formally banning hunting in the municipality.

The decision will come as a blow to a few hunters, but the safety measure inherent in the council's action will far outweigh any inconvenience to such sportsmen.

The reeve and councillors have faced the fact that their municipality is growing up and building up. It is far better to take precautions against injury to residents than to wait until after an accident has occurred to bring in official prohibition against use of guns.

It is to be presumed that farmers of the district will be allowed the usual privileges of shooting with permits to protect their crops, but even with such exceptions the law against use of firearms there will create an important sanctuary.

Saanich is wise before the event—in this case the incidence of possible tragedy. The council's action merits general approval.

Very Fond Farewell

WITH SOMETHING LIKE DElight most British Columbians heard this week that another country is willing to accept the Sons of Freedom Doukhobors as immigrants. Costa Rica, in Central America, has indicated that it would welcome these people on the same basis as any other newcomers.

The information was obtained through the personal visit of the spiritual leader of the fanatical sect (not to be confused with the larger body of law-abiding Doukhobors.) It may well be that Costa Rica does not know what it is letting itself in for. It may well be, also, that with a fresh start in a new land the Sons of Freedom would enter upon a less violent period of their history.

Costa Rica reportedly enjoys freedom of religion, has no compulsory military service, and boasts economic conditions which the Sons would find agreeable. Whether it also has compulsory education in schools which are inflammable is not known.

The Sons have not yet made their decision. It is possible that many will not want to go, now that a possible destination has been found. But other residents of the province, particularly in the Kootenays, will await the choice with intense interest. This is a case where to speed the parting guest, even to the extent of a sizeable transportation grant, would be a pleasure as well as very good business indeed.

LOOSE ENDS

Within the Family

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

LONDON — On a Sunday in spring half of London seems to promenade along the route of Queen Elizabeth's coronation parade. It examines, with a proprietary air, the rank growth of stands and bleachers surging up on the fringes of the parks.

Hutchison

The children leap upon the stout planking. The father of the family observes that the underpinning of steel tubes is set in new concrete and could last for a century at least. The housewife, on brief recess from rations and queues, speculates on the notable visitors who will briefly occupy all this apparatus at the great moment.

Not only the stands but the coronation belong to London in a strictly personal sense. London has earned that proprietorship by centuries of experience since the Conqueror rode through the forest to a little Roman and Saxon town beside the Thames. It has crowned, adored, driven out and buried many monarchs. If they were the right sort of monarchs London has owned them, too.

Assuredly that ownership is more complete, friendly and intimate today than ever. For the young Queen is truly the child of London. The monarchy, in this town, is a family relationship as it can be nowhere else.

IT HAS NOT ALWAYS been so. Up to the last century most of the kings and queens of England were a pretty disagreeable lot. When George IV died in 1830 The Times announced that "there never was an individual less regretted by his fellow-creatures than this deceased King. What eye has wept for him? What heart has heaved one sob of unmercenary sorrow?" Even in the 1850s eminent English statesmen were openly advocating a republic and Queen Victoria threatened to abdicate if the press continued its attacks on the monarchy. And always in the deepest racial memory of this island stood the decapitated figure of the first Charles, whose dying word was, "Remember!" England never forgot and never will.

Foreigners may imagine that London's feeling for the present Royal Family is blind and snobbish adulation. It is nothing of the sort. It is a kind of solid, domestic attachment. The Royal Family is an extension of every family in England.

THEREIN lies the real strength of the monarchy, stronger now than it ever was before — stronger because the 50,000,000 members of the English family have been driven together in family reunion by their common sacrifice and peril.

Queen Elizabeth incidentally heads a Royal Family. But that is not the real reason she is the head of this people. Her real and effective title rests not in the palace but in the chilly, rationed living room of the ordinary English home.

Now this, surely, is a strange and prodigious fact, without parallel in human history. Since one age died and another began, hardly noticed, on August 4, 1914, most of the world's kings have been hustled into limbo by purge, civil war and revolution.

ENGLAND has also conducted its own revolution, one of the largest on record. Yet in all this upheaval not one drop of blood has been shed and no one of the slightest consequence questions the value of a monarchy. Among any other people this would be a miracle, doubtless an impossibility.

It is no miracle in England. It is the inevitable result of this people's whole character and experience. With all their old-fashioned and stodgy look, they have never stood still. They have been engaged in a ceaseless search and experiment. Kingship survives and grows in strength because it has learned to express that endless adventure. It has moved steadily away from the palace into the ordinary average English home.

NO ONE OUTSIDE London can quite appreciate the intimacy of that present relationship. Queen Elizabeth wears a hat shaped (as the fashion designers say) like a flower pot upside down. Within a week half the girls on London's streets are wearing flower pots. Prince Charles is photographed in a double-peaked cap like Sherlock Holmes' famous deer-stalker. Half the small boys in the park today were wearing the same headgear. Everybody in London knows this morning that the Queen watched a football match yesterday, and everybody discusses her outing as if she were a sister on a well-earned holiday. Queen Mary's illness is a personal anxiety in every family.

SUCH FEELINGS can hardly be understood beyond this island, certainly not in many parts of this sprawling Commonwealth. In India, the largest Commonwealth nation and a republic, Elizabeth is not even a Queen but only the "Head" of the Commonwealth, a distant symbol with no emotional or racial content. In other places the monarchy stands unimpaired because it is the most workable and practical institution of government so far invented.

These people cannot convey their family sense of unity with the Crown to others, can only share such intimations of their own feelings as others care to understand. Those feelings are never articulate but in coronation time they are highly concentrated.

They are concentrated in the Cockney family now examining the steel and wooden stands to make sure that they will bear the load of coronation day. Elizabeth is Queen, after some nine centuries of evolutionary change because she is a beloved member of that same family.

Wide Open at the Top

By JOSEPH AND STEWART ALSOP From Washington

THE SOVIET strategic air force, as though to celebrate its increasing power, is now flying fairly frequent reconnaissance missions over the North American continent.

So far as is known, Soviet air reconnaissance in this hemisphere began last summer. The earliest Soviet contrails (which are vapor trails that consolidate in the cold air, in the wake of high-flying aircraft) were sighted over Alaska and northwestern Canada.

Joseph

Since then, the sightings have been intermittently recorded. So far, approximately 10 have been confirmed as undoubtedly resulting from Soviet reconnaissance missions. Only a fortnight ago, two more contrail sightings were added to the total.

One was in northern Canada, the other in the vicinity of the important Thule airbase in North Greenland, indicating the Soviets are systematically reconnoitering the northern defensive fringe.

These contrail sightings give added significance to the already awe-inspiring air defense choice that now confronts President Dwight D. Eisenhower. As exclusively reported by these correspondents yesterday, the President is now considering the findings of an air defense study group of the most highly qualified American scientists, formed by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology under Air Force contract.

This is the group known as Project Lincoln, which also bore the name of the Summer Study Group when the working party was expanded for final review purposes last summer. The scientists of this group have in effect offered the President a simple but enormous choice.

SOLEMN WARNING

On the one hand, they have solemnly warned that the United States will be nakedly exposed to air-atomic destruction by the Kremlin within the short period of two years. On the other hand, they promised a reasonable measure of security against this fearful danger, if the President will order a comprehensive air defense program, incorporating the most recent scientific advances, at an estimated cost of $16,000,000,000 to $20,000,000,000. The President must choose whether to spend the money or run the risk.

The contrail sightings on the Northern hemisphere fringe bear on the Project Lincoln-Summer Study Group findings in several different ways. They illustrate in the first place the weakness of the existing air defense system.

American planes reconnoitering the fringe of the Soviet Empire have been rather frequently intercepted, and at least one of them—the Navy Privateer in the Baltic incident—has actually been shot down. The Soviet reconnaissance missions have been flown, in contrast, without once encountering interception.

Still more significantly, the contrails the Soviet bombers left behind them have provided, in almost all instances, the only evidence of their passage.

Few of the contrail sightings, although regarded as definitely confirmed and leading to defensive alerts, have been accompanied by warnings of the presence of an enemy from the vastly over-touted "radar fence." The radar stations just were not near enough.

This implies, of course, a vital fact that is well known to the Soviet intelligence if not to the North American public. To all intents, our Northern approaches are a defensive vacuum. We lack the dependable very early warning which is the first and most absolute essential of a truly effective air defense system. The vast, empty, Northern spaces of this hemisphere give us the possibility of building an effective air defense. But by the same token, the difficulties of throwing an air warning and defense net across those frozen, hostile spaces account in large measure, for the enormous estimated expense of a real air defense of the continent.

Then, too, these sightings of Soviet conrtails in our northern air support the Project Lincoln-Summer Study Group view, that the threat of the Soviet strategic air force cannot any longer be lightly laughed off.

There can be very little doubt that reconnaissance missions are now being run both regularly and frequently by the Soviet strategic air commanders. Visual observation has had to be largely depended on, to discover these Russian "recon" missions. Visual observation is highly undependable, to say the least, in the depopulated Northern wastes. If 10 contrails have been definitely sighted by our air-watchers, many scores more must have passed unobserved, except by the ptarmigan, the arctic fox and the other creatures of the tundra.

ANTIQUE SHOPS AND EARLY CLOSING

It is with a feeling of humility I venture to address you on the above subject. The city council and other powers that be appear to regard the antique shops of Victoria with a condescension almost bordering on superciliousness or disdain. Yet the antique shops attract more tourists, probably than anything else the city has to offer.

The tourists do not come here to admire the beauty of the civic architecture or the excellence of the garbage trucks. They may stand in awe for a few minutes to gaze at the Parliament Buildings and the Empress Hotel, but they have to pass these buildings anyway on their road uptown from the ferry boats.

The antique shops have only the summer season to work on, yet they pay a license fee much higher in proportion to even the regular gift shops or Scots tweed shops. What harm would result if the antique shops were given a free hand to remain open as long as they like?

During the summer months thousands of tourists pour off the ferry boats, eager to spend money, every week. This money is new money pouring in and benefits every business in the city.

There is nothing more annoying to the tourists who may only be here the one day to see the city closed up tight on Wednesday.

The Students' View

During the present furor over education with everyone and his aunt airing their views there has been no such contribution from us, the students. After all we are the ones primarily concerned and we should have our say too.

People have been asking everyone but us questions about modern schooling and education. Perhaps they think we are not bright enough to know what we want but the fact remains that we are the newest recipients of this education and are perhaps in a favorable situation to answer some of these questions.

High school is four years long. Sometimes we think it is too long and during the spreadout courses which are really at times too easy we tend to get lazy and forget how to work.

The blow comes when we get to college and find twice as much work during one term as in one year of high school. On the other hand the extra time at high school permits a great many extracurricular activities the value of which is illimitable in preparing young citizens for responsibilities.

We do not think that the time spent in such preparations is lost because when we get out into this modern world where leisure is increasing we have the time to practice the good citizenship which we learned in high school. Not so very long ago people did not have the time we have now to be active citizens and so education along these lines would have been wasted.

The effective living course which was severely attacked not so long ago is new. I missed the course in lieu of five periods a week called "guidance, health and physical education," which answered the same purpose. The five effective living periods a week include physical education and hygiene as well as time dealing with sound philosophies for living and economic problems. The time spent in such problems as a supplement to home education on the subject is in our opinion, completely adequate. We think that group discussions on personal problems and family relationships under the guidance of a trained counsellor, as all effective living teachers are, are a valuable contribution to our education.

We wish that there was a course of perhaps two periods a week on current events in order to acquaint us with what is happening in the world. We realize that it is beyond the scope of anyone to tell us what the events are or to make us aware of goings-on across the border, across the continent or on the other side of the world. The lack of such a course is partly responsible for the abysmal ignorance of most students on current events.

The elaborate equipment—"frills"—makes education so much more pleasant. We wish that we could have used some of the fine, up-to-date equipment and played games in the spectacular gymnasiums from which our younger brothers and sisters are benefiting, but we have not suffered any inadequacies from not doing so. Do we think them unnecessary? No, we like them and think they add to a student's appreciation of education.

The question of report cards has come up again and again. Frankly, with the instructions printed on them one cannot help but understand them. However we think that the system of percentage values is far superior to the current set-up of "o, s, n."

Those brilliant students who make high marks should be rewarded with the satisfaction of seeing their marks in black and white whereas those who are unfortunate enough to fail should not be lulled into a state of complacency by being protected from seeing their marks. The tendency is to crush the top and boost the bottom with the result that nobody knows for certain where he stands.

MARTIN NETTLED ON BCHIS POLICY

House in Uproar As Opposition Charges Campaign Pledge Broken

Social Credit ranks squirmed in the Legislature Wednesday as the government's hospital insurance policies came under heavy opposition fire.

Health and Welfare Minister Eric Martin, sitting in the BCHIS hot-seat, was the chief target for CCF and Liberal attacks which threw the House into an uproar late in the afternoon sitting.

Time after time opposition members tossed pointed questions which Mr. Martin adroitly evaded.

Focal point of the debate was a question put by Randolph Harding (CCF, Kaslo-Slocan):

"Does the Social Credit government intend to carry out its election campaign promise to institute a voluntary hospital insurance scheme?"

Mr. Martin ducked the question several times.

"Social Credit gave its solemn promise a voluntary scheme would be instituted. Do you intend to honor your promise?" Mr. Harding persisted.

"That's a difficult question to answer, and you know it," replied the minister. "You said earlier you weren't going to put me on the spot."

He explained his government had "inherited the Hospitaal Insurance Act which is a bad act."

"You can change it," retorted Mr. Harding.

"In spite of the act's compulsory features any act of that type is safe as far as the people are concerned as long as Social Credit is in office," came back Mr. Martin.

OPPOSITION JEERS

This brought loud jeers and moans from the opposition.

"I hear groans of frustration," cracked Mr. Martin.

Mr. Harding wasn't satisfied with the minister's replies.

The Kootenay MLA accused the Socreds of promising voluntary hospital insurance simply to get votes.

"As soon as you got into power you changed and broke your promise," he said.

Mr. Martin said "this reminds me of a terrier trying to shake a rat."

The House broke into great laughter.

"As long as we come between the people and compulsory measures, I don't mind being the rat," Mr. Martin shouted above the din.

Premier Bennett and Education Minister Tilly Rolston were out of the House during most of the uproar.

Capt. D. J. Proudfoot (Lib., Victoria), had Mr. Martin backed against the wall at one point. The Victoria member asked if the government will continue making hospital insurance compulsory for workers on payroll deduction and voluntary for others on the direct payment plan by neglecting to prosecute delinquents.

"You know the answer as well as I do," replied Mr. Martin after the question had been asked three times in a different way each time. "There will always be two methods of payment under the present system. There can't be any other way."

"It's discrimination against the industrial workers," said Tony Gargrave (CCF, Mackenzie).

"It's discrimination mostly against the trade unions," added William Moore (CCF, Comox).

GAINS ADMISSION

Mr. Moore later gained an admission from Mr. Martin that the number of non-insured persons entering hospitals has increased.

"It has increased one-half of 1 per cent," said the minister.

When the minister told Robert Strachan (CCF, Cowichan-Newcastle), there are 5,000 more registrants now than a year ago, the MLA said the population has increased 30,000 in that period.

"There should be 10,000 new registrants, not 5,000. In other words there are 5,000 more people dodging BCHIS today than a year ago," Mr. Strachan figured.

Mr. Martin got into a wrangle at the outset of consideration of his department's estimates when he refused to answer hospital insurance questions until the BCHIS vote was reached.

A battle developed, and he eventually gave in.

Asked by Frank Snowsell (CCF, Saanich) if it's compulsory to pay BCHIS premiums, Mr. Martin replied:

"All residents must register for hospital insurance and pay premiums unless they have been exempted."

IN THE HOUSE

B.C.'s Social Credit government's pay-as-you-go policy is saving money in more ways than one.

In addition to saving it because of the lack of interest charges, Finance Minister Gunderson told the House Wednesday $10,000 will be saved on the printing of bonds.

"We're not printing bonds this year because there'll be no borrowing. Printing of bonds is very expensive," he said when asked why the cost of printing in 1953-54 will be $20,000 instead of $30,000.

"Don't put words in my mouth."

Mr. Strachan: "I didn't put words in your mouth."

Mr. Martin: "You did."

Mr. Strachan: "Well, I take them back, they wouldn't fit anyway."

Premier Bennett is proving to be a stern master.

The legislative corridor buzz is the Premier was going to forego a night sitting of the House Wednesday if the lawmakers finished the finance department estimates and half the health and welfare department estimates in the afternoon.

They didn't, and the House sat until midnight.

The opposition leader missed both sittings.

Social Aid Formula Helps 4,000 B.C. Families

Roughly 4,000 B.C. families will get increased social assistance allowances as a result of the provincial government's new policy on cost-sharing with the municipalities.

The new formula, announced in the Legislature Wednesday by Health and Welfare Minister Eric Martin, will result in institution of an 80-20 cost sharing method throughout. Since 1951, the government has paid the larger share of the 80-20 split on the basic cost, but shared increases on a 50-50 basis with the municipalities.

The new offer is conditional on the municipalities paying increased allowances, authorized by the government in 1951 and 1952 but not paid by all municipalities, to all eligible recipients.

The new system is effective April 1, and will cost the government an additional $200,000.

Several years ago the government shared social assistance costs 80-20 throughout, but in 1951 changed the system. In that year social assistance payments to heads of families were increased 20 per cent monthly. But the government paid the boosts on a 50-50 share basis, and continued to the 80-20 split on the original amount. Most of the municipalities agreed to this system.

But when the government proposed on the same basis a $2.50 monthly increase in 1952, most of the large municipalities balked. They protested continuance of the 50-50 share formula because it meant costly administration.

Victoria was one of the municipalities which rejected the plan. Thus recipients of social assistance in the city never received the second boost authorized in 1952. The government didn't pay its half to municipalities which didn't contribute.

Meanwhile, recipients in unorganized territory, the whole responsibility of the government, received both increases.

Under the new system, the municipalities which refused to participate in the 50-50 share basis will be compelled to pay the boosts authorized in 1951 and 1952 to eligible cases.

They won't be eligible for the new overall 80-20 split until they agree to bring their social assistance payments up to the standard level.

Social assistance payments to heads of families now total $62.50 monthly, $40 for single persons, and $12 for each dependent.

Nobody Wants A Cold because even a 'sniffle' can be very annoying. But here's a tip to make your 'cold' days a lot less uncomfortable: Use the most absorbent tissue handkerchiefs you can buy, because too-frequent blowing irritates the nose. . . . And remember there's nothing like 3-ply FACE-ELLE for super absorbency. In fact it's the only 3-ply tissue! Its gentle softness, too, is always kind to the nose . . . a pure-cellulose softness with no harsh impurities. So don't let habit-buying keep you from enjoying these unique Face-Elle advantages. Say "Face-Elle, please" and be sure of more comfort for your money. In addition to regular 2-ply Face-Elle in the green box, there's a choice of 3-ply white in the pink box, the big foot-square man-size and Face-Elle En Pastels. They're all good!

"I'm Sitting On Top Of The World" when I see my cakes coming out of the oven so beautifully light, so tender and delicious-looking. And though I may seem smug, it's plain to see that anyone can have cakes just wonderful. Just use SWANS DOWN CAKE FLOUR. You see, Swans Down is made for just that purpose . . . to give you better baking results, to assure you of beautiful, moist, melt-in-your-mouth cakes . . . every time. Bake with confidence, the way I do. Bake with Swans Down Cake Flour—the flour that is sifted again and again until it is 27 times as fine as ordinary flour. Remember men love Swans Down Cakes . . . and the girls who bake them!

It's A "Back For More" dish if ever I've tasted one. Yes, be sure, some blustery March evening soon, to give your family this heart-warming taste-treat — HEINZ COOKED MACARONI. It's enriched with the smoothest cream sauce you've ever enjoyed. Or serve HEINZ COOKED SPAGHETTI, drenched in spicy tomato sauce. Delicious—and so easy to prepare. In fact, Heinz Cooked Spaghetti and Macaroni (two kinds of each) are my favourite "wife-savers". After a busy day of shopping or housecleaning, it's a pleasure to be able to prepare a meal with so little fuss and bother. A meal, what's more, that will bring you plenty of compliments. Because these dishes are "husband-pleasers", too. Try them and see!

Gesundheit! I wish you the very best of health . . . and to help that wish come true, I'll give you my favourite cure for a cold. Drink the juice of one lemon in a glass of water with a half teaspoon of bicarbonate of soda . . . added very slowly. Drink as the foaming quiets. Do this every three or four hours at the first signs of a cold and see how quickly it alkalinizes your system and you feel better. Yes, it's a cold-chasing remedy that I like to keep handy during these sniffly March days. And I'm sure that once you've tried it, you'll agree that it works wonders. So take my tip—take my cure. But do be sure to use SUNKIST CALIFORNIA LEMONS. They're the finest, juiciest grown.

No Wonder it's way up top in popularity, BLUE BONNET DE LUXE MARGARINE has so many De Luxe advantages. For instance, the convenient shape of the De Luxe Blue Bonnet quarters. They go right from the package to the plate . . and they're handy to slice into pats, too. Four separate, golden-yellow quarters, by the way—each individually wrapped in pure aluminum foil. That's to preserve the delicate, sweet flavour of De Luxe Blue Bonnet . . . delicious fresh from the refrigerator—or when served melting hot on toast, meat or vegetables. Another De Luxe convenience—the chart on the package shows exactly where to cut for recipes, so forget your measuring cup.

Isn't It Funny how things you learned at school suddenly come back to you? My washing used to have a yellow tinge—then I remembered my chemistry teacher telling me that seven colours combine to make white, and one of them is blue. That's why there's no true white without blue. So of course the answer to the problem of yellow-looking washings is Blue. You know you must rinse your wash to get the clothes clean, then simply put a dash of Blue in the water—to get them really white. Your sheets, shirts and table linens will fairly sparkle! What's more, Blue is kind to fine fabrics—won't harm them in the least. Costs just a few cents a month, too!

Yes, for the whitest wash, use RECKITT'S BLUE.

TLC TO BOYCOTT WICK'S PARLEYS

Labor Minister's Invitation Held 'Insult' to Wage Earner, Industry

Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council agreed Wednesday night that labor should boycott round-table conferences on labor matters announced Wednesday by Labor Minister Lyle Wicks.

"Considering the time spent in making submissions to the Ash committee that held hearings on ICA Act amendments, I think this suggestion is an insult to labor and industry," said Victor Midgley, carpenters' international representative.

"The minister is not interested in conferences," said A. P. Rayment, council secretary. "He has his own opinions. He'll call his conferences, then do what he likes."

John Aubry, legislative committee chairman, deplored delegates' sympathetic attitude toward the former full-time Labor Relations Board.

"It always was a lousy set-up," he said. "We shouldn't weep any crocodile tears about it now."

"We have to make up our minds about what we are going to do," he continued. "Not long ago if no agreement could be reached we set up picket lines and pulled our people out on strike. We may have to do that again."

On a motion by Mr. Midgley, the secretary was instructed to keep the council informed on the stand taken by members of the Legislature on labor matters.

GARNISHEE STAND

The council also adopted a motion by Mr. Aubry to limit garnishees to one-quarter of a man's income.

"In this case against Sgt. Thomas Stevenson, he is left with $60 per month," Mr. Aubry said. "This is cruel and vicious, and we should make a strong representation.

"If courts and judges are so stupid as to pass such judgments that ask a man to be an honest police officer on $2 a day, then I say they are unsound," he said.

Letters from MP's Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, and Angus MacInnis, suggesting that the bill to amend the Criminal Code might not reach Commons in time for the present session, were received and filed.

Mr. MacInnis stated many representations had been made to the special committee studying the bill, and that he felt amendments would be made to some or perhaps all of the sections under protest.

Executive of the council was instructed to draft a resolution supporting the B.C. Government Employees' Association in its effort to win arbitration rights.

Civil Defense Asks $17,734 From Councils

Oak Bay's share of 1953 civil defense expenditures will be $1,950, according to advice received by council Wednesday night. Council referred the matter to the municipal estimates committee.

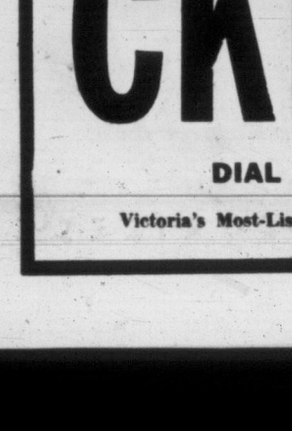
The budget showed that local municipalities and Victoria will be asked for a total of $17,734 this year. Grand total to be spent in the area is $53,200, with the government being asked for two-thirds.

Victoria will be asked to put up $9,718, or 54.8 per cent; Saanich will be asked for $4,043, or 22 per cent; Esquimalt, $1,010, or 5.7 per cent, and the provincial area within the scope of Greater Victoria civil defense, the same as Esquimalt. The total budget is reduced only $200 from last year.

BEST FESTIVAL CHOIR TO GET RADIO SPOT

The best choral group appearing in this year's Greater Victoria Music Festival will be presented in a half-hour program over the CBC network and will be awarded a $50 prize as well, Kenneth Caple, CBC regional superintendent, has announced.

The festival will run from April 23 to May 2. About 800 entries have been received so far, including many from up-Island.



MAGNA CARTA STREET MAY MATCH RUNNYMEDE

Oak Bay council could not reach a decision Wednesday night when the question of a street "by any other name" arose.

A new extension to Runnymede Street, which cannot bear the same name due to numbering difficulties, stimulated the imagination of the council before the matter was handed back to municipal engineer, A. S. G. Musgrave, to settle.

Historians all, council members recalled that the following names would tie in: King John, Barons, Beck, Stanford and, of course, Magna Carta. The suggestion was then made that the street should bear the name of a local VC.

Mr. Musgrave did not say whether he would enlist the aid of the public before making his decision.

Foresters to Gather For Annual Ceremony

Annual dinner of Court Victoria No. 1004, Independent Order of Foresters, has been set for April 20.

High Chief Ranger J. Carlisle, from Washington State, will attend as principal speaker.

The court's bowling committee has planned its annual dinner and dance for April 18 at the Golden Slipper, Broad Street.

The ancient Jordan valley and the Dead Sea in Palestine are more than 1,200 feet below sea level.

House Told Municipalities Cheated On Grants

B.C.'s Social Credit government was accused Wednesday of misrepresenting its grants in aid of education to municipalities.

Leo Nimsick (CCF, Cranbrook), said the additional $4,400,000 the government boasts it's giving municipalities in 1953-54 is offset by the $5,000,000 the municipalities won't get from sales tax revenue under the new Rolston Formula.

"The government is reneging on the municipalities," he said.

Under the new school financing system the government will keep all revenue from the sales tax, instead of giving one-third to the municipalities.

By instituting the new plan at the start of this year, he contended, the municipalities are being deprived of three months' sales tax revenue. The government's fiscal year ends March 31.

"They can't get it both ways," said Finance Minister Einar Gunderson. "Most will get more revenue this year under the new system than they did last year."

W. T. Straith (Lib., Victoria) said the government is keeping money from the municipalities, and then making a big gesture of giving it back to them.

Announcing Completely NEW "DRIVER ENGINEERED"
'53 MERCURY TRUCKS

NEW "DRIVER-ENGINEERED" CABS

For 1953, Mercury Trucks introduce "built-around-the-driver" Cabs—Custom and Standard. Everything here is new and everything new is here . . . to make the driver's job easier and safer.

Entirely new "Driver-Engineered" Cab interiors feature new smartness—new roominess—new comfortable three-man seat—new all round visibility for safety—new curved instrument panel for fast reading—new wider doors for easier getting-in-and-out. Everywhere there's something new, something better to make the driver's job more pleasant, more efficient.

Mercury Truck "Driver-engineered" Cab exteriors are impressive. They look big, they are big—they are engineered to improve overall truck operation—to make Mercury Trucks the best on the road.

GREATEST LINE OF MERCURY TRUCKS EVER BUILT!
8 great series . . . 17 wheelbases . . . 5 V-8 engines . . . over 100 completely new models from 4,000 to 27,000 lbs. G.V.W.

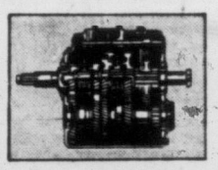
Here they are—the new 1953 Mercury Trucks—introducing a completely new concept of truck design. Mercury Trucks for '53 present new handsome appearance—new time-saving features—new visibility—new conveniences—new power ranges—new models—new wheelbases—and there's completely new comfort and safety with the new built-around-the-driver "Driver-engineered" Cabs. Yes, '53 Mercury Trucks have more of everything truck operators need and want.

Completely new '53 Mercury Trucks are "strength-engineered" for durability—have stay-on-the-job stamina. New axles, new transmissions, new "short-turn" chassis design make handling easier and faster.

Mercury Trucks offer FIVE "power-engineered" V-8 engines ranging from 106 Hp. to 155 Hp. . . . each teamed with proven "Loadomatic" economy.

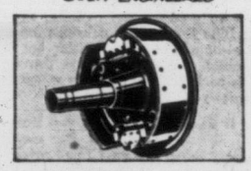
Completely new "Driver-engineered" Mercury Trucks are truck-engineered, truck-built to meet the ever increasing hauling needs of expanding Canada.

5 GREAT ENGINES V-8 definitely!

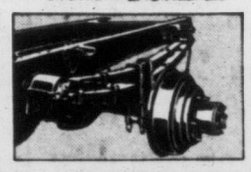
NEW TRANSMISSIONS "SERVICE-ENGINEERED"


More good news! Synchro-Silent transmissions are "standard" on all Mercury Trucks for '53! Synchro-Silent transmissions bring new smoothness, new quietness—and eliminate "double clutching." New transmissions — new advanced rear axle engineering creates new versatility — new power ranges.

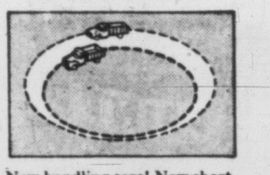
Mercury Trucks also introduce steering column gearshifts on ALL Light Duty Trucks—for passenger car convenience. In addition, Automatic Drive or Overdrive are available (at extra cost) on 1953 Mercury Truck Series M-100 Light Duty Models.

NEW BRAKES "SAFETY-ENGINEERED"


New POWER to stop! New STAMINA to last! New SAFETY—that's Mercury Truck's "safety-engineered" brakes. All-new self-energizing action, reduces need for extreme pedal pressure.

NEW SPRINGS "STRENGTH-ENGINEERED"


More comfort! More stability! More truck life—because, '53 Mercury Trucks introduce new longer, Wide-Span springs. Deflection rate is reduced—fragile loads are cushioned against shocks from roughest roads.

NEW STEERING "TRAFFIC-ENGINEERED"


New handling ease! New short turning! New shorter wheelbase-chassis design—new wide-tread set-back front axles reduce turning diameters as much as 6 feet for easier time-saving manoeuvreability.

'Come Back Little Sheba' Oscar Class

(OSCAR CLASS) "COME BACK LITTLE SHEBA" (Royal) — They're picking the Academy Award winners tonight and there's little doubt that all those who saw Shirley Booth play her famed Broadway role of Lola Delaney in Paramount's adaptation of the Wilson Inge-Theatre Guild hit which opened at the Royal last night will want to know wha' hoppen? if this fine actress doesn't win the Oscar.

With the exception of Julie Harris in "Member of the Wedding" and Bette Davis in "The Star," Victorians by now have seen all the pictures whose stars have been nominated for Hollywood's highest accolade, the Academy Award. Take your pick of pictures covering the past 12 months, be they British, American or Continental, and I think that there's little doubt that Miss Booth stands head and shoulders above the rest of the actresses we have seen on city screens.

However—when you're listening to the awards tonight or viewing them over the family TV set—it might be wise to remember that there is a feeling in Hollywood that it is unfair for an actress of Miss Booth's stature to leave a familiar Broadway role, come to Hollywood and re-enact it for the celluloid records. It is felt that this gives her an unfair advantage over film stars who are called upon to make several pictures each year. Whether this will have a bearing on the awards only time will tell.

"Come Back Little Sheba," like the Academy Award picture of a few years back, "Lost Weekend," is based on alcoholism.

Don Delaney, played masterfully by Bart Lancaster, is a confirmed alcoholic but who has been off the bottle for a year thanks to the aid of Alcoholics Anonymous. How and why he became an alcoholic is gradually revealed through his fat, sloppy wife Lola, who lives in the past, hanging on grimly to every enchanting memory of things long since dead, such as her little dog Sheba who strayed, rather than brave the future. Lola is Don's wife via a shotgun marriage. He, a man of family station far above hers, gives up his medical career, drinks up his inheritance and finds solace only in the bottle.

The play is a neat thing. Its development of the character of Don and Lola seen through the lives of the youngsters, Turk Fisher (Richard Jaeckel) and Marie Loring (Terry Moore) is strong and demanding. Adding suspense and even fear is the ever-present threat of the bottle.

Although as far as this reviewer is concerned the play is flawlessly executed and directed, the triumph is Miss Booth in this her screen debut. Her characterization of this fat, fluttery, uncertain Lola is one to be remembered. There was no acting there. Only something real, living and from life.

"Come Back Little Sheba" is the picture that points up more than anything else what a stage background can do for actors and actresses of the magic silver screen.

"LADY KITTY," in Somerset Maugham's "The Circle," opening Saturday on the Victoria Theatre Guild stage, Langham Court, is Miss Connie Thompson. A well-known and popular local actress, Miss Thompson also is a playwright. In last year's South Vancouver Island Drama Festival, she won best actress award. Recently one of her plays was awarded a mention in the Ottawa Workshop play-writing contest.

'Watch Out for Subversives', Defense Head Warns

Leonard G. Hatcher, Greater Victoria target area civil defense director, asked the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council Wednesday night to "watch out for subversives."

"In London, during the war, we found 145 Communists out of 107,000 workers," he said in an appeal to the council for civil defense aid.

"These subversive elements are not obvious to many authorities, but they are to you," he said. "If trouble comes, you know the people who are suspect."

Mr. Hatcher said he had been approached by one person who "promised all sorts of things."

"I had her checked up and found she was left wing," he said. "She never came back."

The civil defense head appealed to the council to name an adviser to work with him on labor matters, and to encourage union members to join wardens' groups.

At this point Mr. Hatcher encountered trouble when Robt. Millikin, of the General Teamsters' Union, said his union had offered civil defense the support of its 200 members and had never received a reply to its letter.

HEARD NO MORE

"I put my name in for rescue and demolition work and heard no more," said James Moffat, carpenters' business agent.

"This council offered its services in 1951, and as far as I know the only use made of the offer was that you asked the painters' union to clean up your hall," said T. G. Gooderham, TLC representative.

"Considering attacks on allied aircraft, don't you think we should get defense plans going faster," he suggested.

Mr. Hatcher said he had only recently received information on transport, and had confined his first efforts to organizing the medical services.

"I think I was right in doing that," he said. "I'm sorry about the other delays, and perhaps did not see the right people, but I am here now to ask your help."

North Countrymen From South Lands To Revisit City

Members of the Lancashire and Yorkshire Societies of Los Angeles and Oakland, California, enjoyed their stay in Victoria so much last summer that they are coming here again in August.

This was reported today by Reginald Clarke, president of the League of Roses, Lancashire and Yorkshire Society here. Mr. Clarke last summer was in charge of arrangements for entertaining the U.S. visitors.

Last year the U.S. visitors numbered 85. They were entertained with a concert and dance, a dinner, a president's dinner, a park concert and several house parties.

Mr. Clarke said the Victoria society hopes to be able to arrange a similar program this year.

Yugoslavia Raps Border Incidents

BELGRADE (Reuters)—Yugoslavia has accused its Soviet-bloc neighbor, Bulgaria, of causing 59 border incidents in the last three months. A protest to the Bulgarian embassy here blamed the satellite country's frontier guards for the alleged incidents.

Sports

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

It's all-star time again in the Western Hockey League and the annual head-scratching and ear-pulling that goes with it.

For instance, what do you do when the records point out one fact, coaches indicate others and sentiment raises its ugly head and smacks all other arguments right between the horns?

Still, league president Al Leader has requested that these selections be made and submitted to him by Monday at the latest where there's a $100 cheque waiting for the first team, the most valuable player and the outstanding rookie.

Walker

Most valuable player—Emile Francis (Vancouver), Ivan Irwin (Victoria), Vic Stasiuk (Edmonton).

Best rookie—Jerry Foley (Seattle), Andy Bathgate (Vancouver), Lou Fontinato (Vancouver).

There, that didn't take long, did it, taking into consideration the fact that one is always inclined to favor the player he may see most during the season? And also that certain other factors can either influence a decision or cause a last-minute change of heart.

For example: Ed Dorohoy has been a terrific centre for the Cougars this year and understandably might have been even better had he not been burdened with the coaching woes of a last-place club. But there is no dearth of good centre ice men. It will be noted that Saskatoon's Chuck McCullough and Seattle's Rudy Filion, both of whom rate all-star berths on their sason's record, can be given only honorable mentions.

No Argument in Francis' Case

The same could be said of a number of other positions, but suffice to remark—on the above selections we stand with the passing observation that if there is one player who has given more and obviously contributed greatly to his team's play during the year than Cougars' Ivan Irwin, it undoubtedly is Francis, the jumping jack in the Vancouver nets.

Reibel is the point-champion-elect of the league and according to coach Poife of the Flyers can't miss with the parent Red Wings next year. He was rookie of the year in the American League last season.

Stasiuk was the standout right winger of the season now drawing to a close (ingloriously so here) while Senick, despite the fact that he missed some 20 games of the regular season due to injuries and a tryout with the New York Rangers, has no peer at his position.

Oooooh! Imagine the Radioactivity

And what forward wouldn't want to meet Evans and Irwin on the blue line. Imagine what would happen if such a situation ever arose and said forward neglected to chart his course carefully through this mine field. An atomic explosion could then likely be compared to a toy pistol.

Well, anyway that's it. Other selectors will undoubtedly have different views to which they are entitled.

Just as all complaints can be registered at the dead letter office, mailing address of which will be Memorial Arena, come Friday night at approximately 10.30 as the Cougars bid their season's farewell.

Major League Map Due for Revision

More Changes Predicted In Future

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UP)—On the theory that the first step always is the hardest, club owners and officials today predicted further sweeping changes in the big league baseball map will result from the transfer of the Braves to Milwaukee.

"There now is really only one key question," said Warren Giles, National League president. "That is how big a handicap two teams in one city will be under in this day of television."

Walter O'Malley, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, was more emphatic.

"One thing I'm sure of," he said. "This transfer is going to set off a chain reaction and there are bound to be some more transfers."

MONTREAL MENTIONED

Official sources pointed to the St. Louis Browns and Philadelphia A's as the teams most likely to transfer in the near future. Speculation on the new sites included Baltimore, Montreal and, of course, the two big west coast cities, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Although American League club owners rejected the transfer of the Browns to Baltimore last Monday, it was pointed out that they left the door open for the switch to be made next year. An unidentified Baltimore syndicate already has offered Veeck $2,400,000 for his 80 per cent interest.

If the predicted transfers go through, New York and Chicago will be the only cities supporting more than one big league team.

Lou Perini conceded that the overwhelming factor which persuaded him to leave Boston was the conviction that television had made it a one-team city.

"I regretted leaving," Perini said. "But I was absolutely convinced that Boston could not support two teams in this era of television."

GUARANTEED PROFIT

The terms of Perini's agreements with the American Association and the City of Milwaukee virtually guaranteed a profit for five years. Perini was called upon to pay only $50,000 damages to the association—a figure which Kansas City protested in vain—and he will pay only $1,000 a year rental for the first two years in the Milwaukee park.

In the following three years, he will pay a 5 per cent fee on admissions and also turn over 5 per cent of the income from concessions.

HIGH SCHOOL TOURNEY

Vics, Alberni In Hoop Win

It was one down and two to go as far as Vancouver Island teams were concerned at the end of the first round of the British Columbia High School Basketball Tournament in Vancouver Wednesday.

Two Island clubs in the monster cage classic, Alberni and Victoria High, won their first games to advance to the second round, while Mount View High got off to a bad start when they were beaten 50-34 by West Vancouver.

The tournament continues every day this week with the finals slated Saturday night.

The Alberni club, three-time winners of the Island prep championship, turned in the most impressive showing of the Island clubs, trouncing Como Lake 59-38.

In Oliver, Vic High drew one of the toughest clubs in the opening round but squeezed through with a come-from-behind 33-30 victory.

BADLY WEAKENED

Greatly weakened by the loss of Ken Murray, unable to make the trip because of illness, Mount View was little match for West Vancouver and were beaten 50-34.

Records started to fall early as a first-round game set three new marks in the record books. A strong Prince Rupert club chilled Quesnel 102-25 for the new records, which were: Highest winning score, highest total game score (old record, 116) and highest total for one player as Jerry Ford scored 40 points, erasing Paul Buday's mark of 30 points set last year with Duke of Connaught.

Other first-round scores were: Trapp Tech 55, Mission 29; Duke of Connaught 67, Creston 33; Burnaby South 74, Tweedsmuir 41; Kamloops 47, Vancouver 40.

Wednesday's losers were paired today, the losers of these games being eliminated from further competition.

ALL-STARS STARRY

Vic High Totems were forced to come from behind for their victory as they trailed by three points at the end of the first quarter and were tied 16-16 at half-time of the low-scoring game. Eddie Pederson and George Denison, members of the Island all-star team, led their club by scoring 10 points each.

Alberni's starry guard, Dave Williamson, turned in a brilliant game for his Chieftains, thumping in 16 points.

The weakened Mount View squad gamely stayed within four points of West Van for three-quarters of the game, but collapsed in the last quarter.

Guard Dave Price was the leading Mount View scorer with a dozen points.

Island team line-ups follow:

Victoria High—Donahue, Stewart, Lou, Sleep, Pederson 10, Denison 10, Woollett, Jones 2, Worthy, Crabbe 5, Zarry 6. Total 33.

Oliver—B. Radies 1, B. Martino 16, R. Carter, R. Worth, A. McLaughlin, M. Martino 11, R. Topping, G. Guidi 2, L. Laverick. Total 30.

Alberni—Pennington 4, Veitch 7, Mosdell 7, Williamson 16, Schick 10, Knowles 1, Parry 2, Sweeney 6, Boylan 6. Total 59.

Como Lake—Strileshi 1, Gurling 7, Monssen 2, Hodgeson, Irving 1, Cairns 9, Szelander 6, Delawski 8, Arrowsmith 4. Total 38.

West Vancouver—K. Riley 13, Burrows 4, Moren 8, Rathbone 6, Rabb, Lancaster 3, Gardner 10, B. Riley, Lisle, Wallace 2, Anthony 4. Total 50.

Mount View—Price 12, Stewart 4, Walker, Jones 6, Cameron 4, Knudson, Grainger 6, Russell 1, Winter 1. Total 34.

Fluttering Leafs Live To Fight Another Day

Boston 2, Rangers 1; Toronto 4, Chicago 3

At the first intermission, the spectators could have been forgiven if they concluded that Toronto Maple Leafs had decided to go quietly to the National Hockey League sidelines.

Needing a victory to preserve their last chance for a playoff spot, the Leafs were trailing Chicago Black Hawks 2-0 and had fired only seven shots at the visiting goalkeeper.

But between periods, someone must have convinced the Leafs that they had a chance. Outshooting their opponents 25-10 over the last two periods, they worked their way to a 3-2 lead, watched the Hawks tie it up once, then rallied again to take a 4-3 decision.

Having lived to fight another day, the Leafs travel to Montreal tonight to try their luck against the Canadiens. A victory could haul them up within two points of the fourth-place Hawks, with both clubs having two games to play.

BRUINS ALMOST HOME

Meanwhile Boston Bruins virtually nailed down their playoff spot by defeating the Rangers 2-1 at New York. Even if they drop their remaining three games, their worst possible finish would be a fourth-place tie.

The Bruins can make sure of their playoff berth by defeating the front-running Red Wings at Detroit tonight. The Wings and Canadiens are assured of finishing one-two in the final standings.

HERE IN JUNE

Touring Irish Soccer Team Named

BELFAST (CP)—Seventeen players were named today by the Northern Ireland Football Association for the summer tour of Canada and the United States which starts May 5.

The tentative itinerary: New York, May 15; Hamilton, May 18; Toronto, May 20; Winnipeg, May 23; Edmonton, May 27; Vancouver, May 30; Victoria, June 2 or 3; Vancouver again, June 6; Toronto, June 13; Montreal, June 16 or 17.

The 17 players and their regular clubs are: Norman Upritchard, Portsmouth; Len Graham, Doncaster; Alf McMichael, Newcastle United; Gerry Bowler, Millwall; John McCabe, Leeds United; Danny Blanchflower, Aston Villa; Frank McCourt, Manchester City; John Casey, Newcastle United; James D'Arcy, Brentford; Ed Crossan, Blackburn Rovers; Sam Hughes, Glentoran; E. McMorran, Doncaster; Ray Ferris, Birmingham; Bruce Shiells, Cliftonville; John Scott, Manchester United; Billy Neill, Glentoran; Norman Lockhart, Aston Villa.

The team will be accompanied by Fred Cochrane, president of the NIFA; two selectors, S. Walker and A. Kennedy, and trainer G. Morgan, former Notts Forest star.

UNITED SIGN NEW PLAYER, PLAY SATURDAY

Victoria United have added player strength to bolster their Anderson Cup hopes by signing 29-year-old George Lang, a recent arrival from England.

Lang, an inside left or half-back, was a member of the army team that won the European armed forces championship last year. He played on the championship team in India from 1947 to 1949. He stands five feet 11 inches and weighs 175 pounds.

United will host Vancouver City, in a conditioning contest for Anderson Cup play-offs, at Macdonald Park Saturday afternoon at 2.30.

Mt. Douglas In Rugger Win

Mt. Douglas High School downed Oak Bay High, 14-6, in an inter-high school senior "B" rugby match at Windsor Park, Wednesday.

Behind 6-5 at the half, the winners tallied two penalty goals and a try to score their first victory of the season.

Bob Skillings led the winners with a try and penalty goal.

Science, Not Sham, on Mat Card Tonight

A sports oddity, a wrestler whose technique is based on more science than sham, will be in the spotlight tonight in the main event of Ken Williamson's weekly card at Victoria Ballroom.

Dave Jons of London, England, is the grappler in question and his mastery of ring technique has won him a host of fans in local shows. Tonight he will be up against Tommy Martindale in a return match.

The semi-main event pairs Swedish Axel Cadier and Tarzan Zimba while Dick Hayes and Rex Gordon meet in the 8.30 curtain-raiser.

BARCELONA, Spain—Louis Skena, France, outpointed Luis Mendez, Spain 9, flyweights.

MONIZ, GLADSTONE TORRID

Beavers Listen as Tyees Bats Chatter

A pair of graduates from the Victoria Tyee outfield are making a strong bid to get their diplomas in a higher class.

Bob Moniz and Granny Gladstone, whose bats led the Tyees to the Western International League pennant last year have been the centre of attraction at the Portland Beaver training camp and both appear to have an excellent chance of remaining with the Coast League club.

In a string of four Portland exhibition games, Moniz was the starting left fielder and has picked up 12 base hits, including four against the St. Louis Browns. Gladstone has been hitting so well that he has been placed in the clean-up position.

City Bonspiel

The Victoria Curling Club will hold its first bonspiel in the Quadra Street rink, April 21 to 25.

The event has been scheduled to follow the Seattle bonspiel which ends April 19.

Esquimalt, Scots in Cup Soccer

Cup play will begin in the Victoria and District Football Association Saturday.

Esquimalt and Canadian Scottish meet at Athletic Park in a first-round Jackson Cup match as regular league play is suspended for a day.

However, league play resumes Sunday as Civil Service, currently trying to cut the three-point spread between themselves and league-leading Victoria West, take on Heaneys at Heywood Avenue at 2.30.

FIGHT RESULTS

DALLAS — Pierre Langlois, 131½, France, outpointed Bobby Dykes, 134¼, San Antonio, 10.

Indiana Hoop Champs, Houbregs Sets Mark

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A free throw by Bob Leonard with 27 seconds to go gave Indiana a pulsating 69 to 68 victory over scrapping Kansas Wednesday for the national collegiate basketball championship.

It was a tingling battle tied 10 times which went down the stretch with the teams never more than three points apart in the final period.

Washington won the third-place consolation by humbling Louisiana State, 86-69, with big Bob Houbregs scoring 42 points.

The championship game had all the thrills of an A-grade movie.

Indiana figured in setting three tournament records. Their 310 points for the four games of the event topped the 307 which Washington had set by winning the consolation. Illinois in 1951 held the previous mark with 298.

The Hoosiers broke the four-game free throw record with 108, and Don Schlundt set a new mark for free throws in the four-game series with 49.

Houbregs broke the four-game tournament field goal record with a total of 57, beating the 53 set by Kansas' Clyde Lovellette last year. The big Washington pivot man missed the all-time tournament scoring record, also held by Lovellette, by two points. His total was 139, compared with Lovellette's 141.

The Huskies put into the record books a new high total of field goals with 118, beating the 113 set by Kentucky in 1951.

RULES MAY REMAIN SAME

Francis Stripped Of Point Records

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association stripped Clarence (Bevo) Francis of Rio Grande (Ohio) College of his basketball scoring records Wednesday.

The NCAA rules committee adopted the recommendation by the National Association of Basketball Coaches that official records include only games played by Varsity teams of four-year, degree-giving colleges.

In its 39th game schedule Rio Grande played only 12 institutions meeting these specifications. Francis scored 1954 points for an average of 50.1 per game, by far the most ever recorded by a college basketball player.

The rule specifies further that for its records to be included officially a team must play a majority of its games against institutions meeting the outlined requirements.

Thus, all of Rio Grande's games are removed from the books. Bevo had a 46-plus point average for the 12 games against senior colleges.

The NCAA action is retroactive to the beginning of official records and Homer Cooke, director of the NCAA statistical bureau, said the records would have to be re-written wherever possible.

FOUL RULE STAYS

Meanwhile, college coaches declined to take a stand on the controversial "one and one" free throw rule and the matter didn't come to the floor of the convention considering rules this morning.

It appeared certain that the free throw rule would be retained by the rules group, which went into immediate executive session.

The only positive action taken by the National Association of Basketball Coaches was a resolution asking that there be a freer interpretation of the rules by officials to cut down excess foul calling.

The coaches asked that the rules committee, headed by coach Bruce Drake of the University of Oklahoma, write into the rules a suggestion spelling out more clearly infractions.

JUNIOR PUCK FINALS DEFINITELY HERE MONDAY

Victoria All-Stars, junior hockey club, will meet the interior champs here Monday and Tuesday for the British Columbia title.

First of a two-game, total-goal series will be played as a preliminary to the Merchants-Navy CHL final on Monday.

Trail and Vernon, hampered by lack of ice time, will play a sudden-death contest at Vernon Saturday, with the winner traveling to Victoria for the finals.

JOINS 300-GOAL CLUB; KILBURN TO ASK HEARING

Wingy Moves Into Rocket's Class

The two goals George Wingy Johnston scored Wednesday night for Tacoma Rockets will have lots of company in his record book.

The goals, which helped Rockets to a 5-5 Western Hockey League tie with Edmonton Flyers, were the 300th and 301st of a professional hockey career which started in 1940.

They boosted the 32-year-old winger alongside Maurice Richard of Montreal Canadiens in at least one respect. Besides the Rocket, Johnston is the only active pro who has surpassed the 300-goal mark.

Johnston, in his fourth season with Rockets, was born in Winnipeg and turned professional with Chicago of the National Hockey League.

Other Tacoma goals were scored by Mark Marquess, Freddie Brown and Dave Wall, who salvaged a tie for Rockets by beating Flyer goalie Glen Hall at 14.35 of the third.

Playing coach Bud Poile paced Edmonton with two goals. Singles were netted by defenceman Larry Zeidel, Dutch Reibel and Jim Anderson. Reibel, not far from clinching the league's scoring championship, also picked up two assists.

The draw allowed Rockets, who are touring the Prairies, to move into a fifth-place tie with New Westminster Royals. Flyers moved to within two points of the third-place Vancouver Canucks.

A single game also makes up tonight's schedule, Rockets moving on to Saskatoon for a clash with the WHL's first-place team.

Meanwhile, here in Victoria it was announced that four members of the Cougars have been recalled by the parent Montreal Canadiens.

The quartette will leave Monday following the club's final game of the season at Seattle, Sunday.

Kilburn, under indefinite suspension for reportedly attacking referee Eddie Powers in Vancouver, Tuesday night, has said he will ask league president Al Leader for a hearing on the matter.

However, at the moment he is on the suspended list and will not see action against New Westminster Royals in the Cougars' final home game of the season here Friday night. Kilburn was also fined $100.

Curling Tips

By BILLY ROSE

(This is the 18th in a series of curling articles, written especially for the Times by Billy Rose, former Canadian champion from Sedgewick.)

CURLING MUSTS

Two of the great essentials of good curling are weight and hitting the broom. Without them your game will be only mediocre at best.

Using proper weight, and throwing straight at the broom, a player should not fail to make the shot his skip requests. The skip can only indicate the shot to be made, the rest is up to the thrower. If he throws fast his rock will run straight, getting either a clean miss or a chip and loss of his own rock. On the other hand, a slow rock will curl two to four feet.

A good skip learns the ice by closely watching every rock that is thrown and remembering the amount of curl for different weights. The ability of a skip to place the broom in the right place will often be the deciding factor in a game of otherwise evenly-matched teams.

TEAM UNDERSTANDING

However, each man must know the weight his skip is asking. When an exact understanding on weight is obtained by four curlers they are well nigh unbeatable.

As a rule weight is much more important than hitting the broom. Do not let yourself be swayed into throwing a runner just for the thrill of smashing a rock out of the house.

The chap and lie game is the style of curling I prefer instead of the running game which is employed by other skips, notably those from Saskatchewan.

I have won many games from knockout artists simply because more of my rocks stopped in the house. Their shots, while taking out the shot rock, often wicked out themselves. In recent seasons, it might be pointed out, the chap and lie style has found favor with the majority of our curlers.

Harper Beats Harper in Duncan 'Spiel

A family feud was settled Wednesday night in one of the best curled games ever seen at the Duncan Curling Rink.

Ron Harper entered the finals of the Duncan Bonspiel main event when he scored a 7-6, last rock victory over his son Glen.

Merchants Primp For Ice Crowning

Merchants 9, Navy 2

By DENNY BOYD

Coronation ceremonies may be held a little early in Victoria. There will be no certified royalty at this one, but nevertheless there will be a crowning and unless the Royal Canadian Navy can pick up its slipping gaiters, the ceremony will be held next week.

Victoria Merchants are the heirs apparent to the crown, moving still another step closer to the Commercial Hockey League throne Wednesday night at Memorial Arena when they clobbered Navy 9-2 to take a commanding 3-0 lead in the best-of-seven city championship series.

Navy now face the stern proposition of winning the fourth game Monday night or packing it all up. Should they lose, they will be forced to fish down in their ditty bags and hand Merchants the crown they won last year and judging by Wednesday's performance, look like anything but a good bet to repeat.

While the first two games of the series were close for two periods at least, this latest game was a complete rout from the middle of the first period, Merchants taking a 4-0 lead in that frame, banging in four more goals in the second period before Navy retaliated with a pair, and adding the ninth marker in the third period.

JOINT EFFORT

Spectacular Toby Brown and crafty Norm LaCree hammered most of the nails into the Navy coffin, splitting an even dozen scoring points between them.

Brown, the league's top scorer, had four goals and two assists while LaCree scored once and added five assists. LaCree brilliantly set up all of Brown's goals and engineered the play that let Ron Bremner, third man on the productive line, score Merchants' seventh goal.

While Navy goalkeeper Norm Jones did not have one of his better nights, he was not entirely at fault for the deluge. Certain members of the Navy defensive corps did their best checking after goals were scored. At any rate, it would have taken a great goalie and an even greater defense to stop Merchants, who were at their sizzling best.

TWO SLIPS

Merchants used young goalie George Hall, who gained no little prominence when he led Victoria Junior All-Stars to the coast championship this week. Hall, a great prospect, looked completely at ease, the only two goals eluding him coming within 34 seconds of each other near th end of the second period.

Orville Coulter got Navy's first goal at 18.09 of the second period on a pass from a face-off while Russ McKay got the second at 18.43.

One of the wildest brannigans of the season almost turned the game into a riot in the first period when there were four separate fights in progress at one time.

TAKE YOUR PARTNER

Navy's Del Brown and Merchants' Bill Reynolds crashed into the boards and came up swinging. As if by signal, practically every player on the ice dropped sticks, chose partners and began flailing away.

Navy's Doug Johnson had the misfortune to draw Ab Wiebe and was later removed from the ice with a possible dislocated shoulder and facial cuts after getting a proper working over.

Referee Leo Ornest must have established some sort of record when he handed out 50 minutes in penalties for the outburst, Brown and Reynolds getting five each and Wiebe, LaCree, Johnson and Stan Christensen getting 10-minute misconducts.

The penalties had a sobering effect on the players and there were only three minors called after the first period.

SUMMARY

First period — 1, Merchants, McColl (Gunter, Reynolds) 9.56; 2, Merchants, Lacree (T. Brown) 10.39; 3, Merchants, T. Brown (Lacree, Bremner) 12.07; 4, Merchants, McColl (Reynolds) 14.11. Penalties, Wiebe 50, D. Brown (major), Reynolds (major), Lacree, Christensen, Wiebe, Johnson (all 10-minute misconduct) 15.53.

Second period — 5, Merchants, Evans (Plsche) 6.36; 6, Merchants, T. Brown (Lacree) 10.38; 7, Merchants, Bremner (T. Brown, Lacree) 16.33; 8, Merchants, T. Brown (Lacree, Bremner) 17.46; 9, Navy, Coulter (McKay) 18.09; 10, Navy, McKay (Derrry, Coulter) 18.43. Penalties, none.

Third period—11, Merchants, T. Brown (Lacree) 6.11. Penalties, Audette 12.05, Derry 14.40, Reynolds 18.11.

BARONS CHALLENGE NHL CHAMPS

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland Barons, shunned in their bid for National Hockey League membership, today challenged the NHL playoff winners to a best-of-five series for the Stanley Cup—if the Barons win the American League's Calder Cup.

James C. Hendy, Barons' managing director, said he has written Clarence Campbell, NHL president, that the Barons want to play the NHL winners in the event Cleveland takes the AHL cup.

Fain Off to Good Start

By UNITED PRESS

If Ferris Fain won the American League batting crown last year after a wretched start, what will he do this season at the rate that he's been belting the ball in the Grapefruit League?

In 1952, as a member of the Philadelphia A's, Fain went 0-for-21 before collecting his first hit of the season. Still, he wound up with his second straight batting championship.

So far this spring, the stocky first baseman who was traded to the Chicago White Sox during the winter has rapped 14 hits in 25 times at bat for a .560 average. Fain walloped his first string exhibition homer and two singles Wednesday as the White Sox beat Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast League, 12-9.

There may be many who argue that exhibition hitting is little more than exercise and batting championships must be won during the 154-game regular season, but there can be little doubt that Fain is in good shape for a crack at a third straight American League crown.

Several top-flight pitching performances featured Wednesday's exhibition games. Dick Marlowe and Dave Madison allowed only six hits between them as the Detroit Tigers blanked the St. Louis Cardinals, 5-0; veteran Johnny Sain pitched four hitless innings as the New York Yankees beat the Boston-Milwaukee Braves, 5-3; Bob Lemon pitched a two-hit, three-inning stint in the Cleveland Indians' 10-6 triumph over the New York Giants, and rookie Tom Simpson stopped the St. Louis Browns with two hits in the last four innings as the Chicago Cubs won, 5-4.

The Cleveland Indians jumped on big Jim Hearn for 11 hits and all their 10 runs in the first three innings to beat the Giants for the fourth time in six games. Lemon, who was wild in his first start last week, had good control and yielded only one run. Clint Hartung hit a Giant homer, while Al Corwin was holding Cleveland scoreless for the last five innings.

Oils Active At Vancouver

Oils are fairly active on Vancouver stock exchange today but otherwise trading is light.

York Oil, at 38, is off two points from Wednesday, but United Oil is up one at 1.44. Central Leduc is marked at 3.70. Calmont at 1.68 is off two.

Estella traded fairly actively around 62, down three from Wednesday. Pacific Nickel also dropped three points to 1.12. Quatsino, at 49, is up four from Wednesday.

Canadian Western Lumber at $9.90 is down 10 cents.

Base Metals Up at Toronto

TORONTO (CP). — Prices were mixed today as trading slowed toward the stock market's close.

Base metals gained more than half a point on the exchange index, the largest improvement of the session; oils and golds rose. Industrials were mixed while western oils slipped after recent gains. Uraniums held firm after recovering early losses and New Brunswick base metals rose.

Higher-priced base metals gained slightly and a few other good advances bolstered the list.

In uraniums Gunnar, Chimo and New Delhi showed slightly higher toward the close.

Western oils weakened on losses in leading issues such as Anglo-Canadian, Pacific and Canadian Atlantic.

Strength in juniors buoyed the golds list as seniors traded lower and holding companies mixed.

A few large price changes spotted the mixed industrials list as International Paper and General Dynamics added more than $1 each.

New York Resists Downward Move

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined today in a moderate manner with many signs of resistance to the move.

The fall went to around a point at the most with the great bulk of minus signs in the minor fractions.

Lower were Pennsylvania Railroad, U.S. Gypsum, Anaconda Copper, Du Pont, Westinghouse Electric, U.S. Steel, Chrysler, Studebaker and Boeing.

Canadian stocks showed little change. Hiram Walker was ahead ⅛ and Dome Mines gained ¼. Canadian Pacific, International Nickel and Distillers Seagram remained unchanged.

On the American stock exchange, Royalite Oil slipped ½.

Penmans, Up 2 Points, Leads Montreal Trades

MONTREAL (CP) — Prices backtracked in light forenoon trading today on the stock market. Movements were fractional with the exception of Penmans, up two points.

Papers, utilities and miscellaneous industrials shared the weakness with Canadian Celanese, Abitibi and Bell moving lower. Senior metals, led by Aluminium and Hudson Bay Mining, improved slightly.

Trend in beverages and steels was mixed. Senior oils and carriers were unchanged.

Mines were mainly steady to higher. Up were Dominion Asbestos, Nubar, East Rim and Eastern Metals.

Western oils dipped in slow trading. Home, Empire Oils and Tri-Toronto lost pennies.

Gilt-Edged Issues Set London Pace

LONDON (Reuters) — Most sections were firm on the stock exchange today but business was light.

Gilt-edged issues set the pace for the rest of the market. They came in for persistent small demand. Together with a stock shortage, this resulted in widespread gains of one-eighth.

Engineerings, particularly electrical equipment, were popular. Miscellaneous leaders moved into the limelight, while textiles and certain other principal groups showed useful gains.

Foreign bonds were irregular.

Leading oil shares showed small gains and shippings were generally firm.

LONDON (CP)—Financial Times index of stocks: 124.2, up 0.7.

Closing prices: Babcock & Wilcox 71s 6d, Boots Pure Drug 20s 1½d, Canadian Pacific $55, Central Mining £1 11/16, Consolidated Goldfields 48s 9d, Courtaulds 41s 1½d, Hudson's Bay Co. 105s, Imperial Chemical 47s 6d, Imperial Tobacco 54s 10½d, Metal Box 59s 6d, Mexican Eagle 20s 6d, Rand Mines 82s 6d.

You Can Hear Canada Growing . . .

By FORBES RHUDE
CP Business Editor

Canadians who have occasion to look around in Canada sometimes wonder whether the significance of what is happening is generally appreciated.

After all, Canadians have been told since before the start of the century that Canada would be a great country some day; but, while there has been much to arouse pride, the expected day of greatness has seemed to recede.

But this time, if we can believe our eyes and all we are told, it is different. This time, we are not only a storehouse of materials as we have always thought, but we are finding the materials, and other people want them. This time we are still a few people, but we are many more than we were, and we have undergone a forced schooling in the last dozen years.

Some thoughts on the complex Canadian subject were expressed by J. Gerald Godsoe, national vice-president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, in an address Wednesday night to the National Office Management Association in Toronto.

"I sometimes feel, when away, that an awareness of the miracle that we are witnessing today in Canada is more manifest outside our borders than within . . ." he said.

"There seems no doubt that we are on the threshold of one of those great surges of development which through the years has brought one nation after another to a position of greatness.

"You can listen at any moment and hear Canada growing. At this moment, almost any Canadian in any settlement can hear the magic sound of expansion, great and small. The superstructure of a strong and vital nation is going up.

"Canada is offering opportunities to capital, to industry and to individuals unequalled since the opening of the Great West in the United States.

"We are living in great times. There will be problems, but none that cannot be surmounted. There will be setbacks, but none of a size that will disturb in any real way our march forward."

MAGNESIUM MAKES JOBS

TORONTO (CP) — Dominion Magnesium, Ltd., formed 12 years ago, reports that it now employs 750 people in three plants at Haley, Ont., and that another plant will open at Beauharnois, Que., this month. Magnesium is one of the "light metals" which promises to make a big place for itself in this age of jet speed.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG (CP)—Upturns in U.S. grain prices contributed to a firm undertone in prices today on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

Highlight of the dull session was further export interest in barley, accompanied by trade reports that a cargo of 200,000 bushels of Canadian barley had been sold overnight to the United Kingdom.

American buying in oats was believed to represent inter-market spreading. The odd processor order came into flax. United States buying kept rye up.

Export loadings of Canadian wheat overnight totaled about 1,220,000 bushels, including: United Kingdom 325,000, India 320,000; Norway 205,000 and Pakistan 370,000.

Prices for Class Two wheat northerns, top grades, were up 1 cent. Class Two durums advanced 4 cents, while all IWA wheat prices remained unchanged.

$1,000 Scholarship

John Labatt, Ltd., has established a $1,000 scholarship in the business administration post-graduate course at the University of Western Ontario, because "the phenomenal growth of Canada will put a premium on Canadian-trained executives a few years hence."

The scholarship, the firm's announcement says, "is an investment in the availability of men equipped to provide the kind of industrial and community leadership Canada needs."

U.S. Will Increase Aluminum Stockpile

NEW YORK (CP).—The Wall Street Journal says aluminum stockpiling will be stepped up by the United States government despite opposition from American aluminum producers. The Journal adds: "Though stockpiling figures are secret, it was learned that top mobilization officials want 'progressive acceleration' in the rate of aluminum deliveries to the government's strategic board."

Juveniles of Drama Win Praises Of Helpful Festival Adjudicator

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

In its third day, Victoria Schools Drama Festival showed an intensity of interest growing as the week progresses.

Adjudicator Mrs. John Pirtle is greatly assisting, through her innovation of speaking to children on both sides of the footlights, frequently between plays instead of at the end of the session.

"THE KING IN THE KITCHEN"
By Margaret Slattery
Presented by Brentwood School

The King ..... Carol Greenhalsh
The Peasant ..... Wayne Hannah
The Princess ..... Gail Logan
The Cook ..... Daphne Sluggett
The Duke ..... Richard Hetherington
The Guard ..... Ronnie Pugisey
First Kitchen Maid ..... Louise Forsberg
Second Kitchen Maid ..... Janet Milligan
Director: E. W. Hatch

The adjudicator considered this a delightful play. It had fast pace, high comedy and fine teamwork. It was an excellent choice for a group consisting of smaller children, she said.

"THE GASCON RING"
By David Scott Daniell
Presented by S. J. Willis Junior High School

Brief Prologue ..... Louise Touchings
Marie de Villaroche ..... Carol Graves
Pierre Lestrange ..... Arthur Harrison
La Comtesse de Villaroche ..... Andwin Wright
Sir Edward Brandon ..... Helen Brunell
Peter ..... Beverley Gregzor
Director: Miss Christine F. M. MacNab

Here was not an easy play, said the adjudicator. She felt the settings gave the period, and that the costumes were adequate. There was some convincing action, but it was the adjudicator's considered opinion that there was a need for more rhythm and movement to make an easy pattern for the players.

"WOMEN AT WAR"
By Edward Percy
Presented by Victoria High School

Philadelphia Witchett ..... Ann Heywood
Nan Shoales ..... Sue Harrison
Lady Althea Shoales ..... Sally McGill
Dame Clibbutt ..... Marjorie Mottishaw
Mistress Neve ..... Louise Warren
Mistress Joan Barebegod ..... Doreen Wilkins
Mistress Drood ..... Thurza McDermid
Directors: T. W. Mayne and Mrs. M. De La Mare

In the first part of this play, there was need for more contrast of voice, said Mrs. Pirtle. It was a little slow at times, but had some very moving moments. There had been good use of scenery and sound effects, some fine entrances and exits, she felt. In summing up it was the adjudicator's feeling that this was a wordy play, necessitating a great deal of movement and business invention.

The afternoon session was held at the Willows School auditorium.

"THE SHOEMAKER AND THE ELVES"
Adapted by I. Wilson and M. McMillan
Presented by Willows School

The Shoemaker ..... Michael Pagdin
His Wife ..... Carol Wiper
An Elf ..... Joan Meredith
An Elf ..... Jennifer Costain
A Boy ..... Kirk Davis
A Girl ..... Barbara Johnson
Directors: Miss Irene Wilson and Miss Marjorie McMillan

This play had simple but effective scenery, the adjudicator said. It was delightfully characterized, and the two elves were played with spirit and zest. She summed up the play from an audience point of view from the comment of one small girl who said that this was the third time she had seen the play and she loved it.

"THE BLUE WILLOW PLATE"
By Beatrice Shand
Presented by Frank Hobbs School

Chorus ..... Pat Sullivan
Property Man ..... Robin Bugg
Wang Li ..... George Megaw
Oh Foo ..... Gary Shepheard
Koong Shee ..... Judy MacCormac
Chang Loo ..... Robert Lewthwaite
Oh La La ..... Marilyn Sommers
Director: John Ashworth

Mrs. Pirtle commented on the picturesque costumes and settings and wonderful make-up. She said that the tone quality had been held throughout and that the audience had been transported to other times and another culture in this convincing production. She made special mention of the property man.

"THE THURSDAY"
By Alice Johnston Walker
Presented by McKenzie Avenue School

Cristoul ..... Dave Bowden
Gary ..... Jim Wormald
Rosalie ..... Betty Edge
Villagers
Kerions
Student Director: Ann Logan

The adjudicator summed up this particular play as a difficult subject well done. There had been a nice feeling and good team work throughout. She felt that the costumes were a little out of keeping, and that the tempo failed at times. She felt the character of Gary was well sustained.

The minute hand of "Big Ben," the clock on the House of Commons in London, is 11 feet long.

City Council Deaf As Musicians Ask Cash for Concerts

A plea from the Victoria local of the Musicians' Union for continuance of city-sponsored summer band concerts at Beacon Hill Park fell on deaf ears at a City Council parks committee meeting Wednesday.

The committee had earlier recommended that $2,500 allotted for this purpose last year be dropped from the 1953 budget.

Charles Hunt headed a union delegation asking the committee to reconsider. The committee said the matter would be dealt with in estimates.

"If private industry wants to pay for the concerts we are all for it," said Ald. Waldo Skillings, chairman. "However, we can't subsidize the musicians to the extent of $2,500 when last year we had to cut out grants to the Symphony Society and many other worthy organizations."

The committee noted that the union did not approach other municipalities for financial aid for the concerts.

Sidney-Anacortes Ferry Service Starts in April

First sailing of Washington State Ferries on the Sidney-Anacortes run will be on April 20.

From April 20 to May 28, there will be a daily ferry leaving Sidney at 1.20 p.m.

Commencing April 29, the service will be stepped up to two daily sailings, except Sundays, leaving Sidney at 10.15 a.m. and 4.45 p.m.

On Sundays, the 10.15 a.m. sailing only will be operated.

Under the new schedule, passengers may make the round trip in one day, leaving Sidney at 10.15 a.m. and returning to Sidney at 4.15 p.m. Continuous coffee shop service is maintained on the ferries.

Britain to Issue Coronation Stamps

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain will issue four double-size postage stamps to commemorate the Coronation, it was announced Wednesday. The stamps, on sale from June 3, day after the actual event, will be in the twopence-halfpenny, fourpenny, one shilling and threepenny, and one shilling and sixpenny denominations. Colors will be magenta red, blue, olive green and steel blue.

Members of a PPCLI company training at Mary Hill were among former members of the famous Patricias' regiment at a smoker Tuesday night in Bay Street Armoury.

Among the guests were Brig. W. G. Colquhoun, CBE, MC; Col. C. M. Ware, DSO, commandant of Royal Roads; Col. James Edgar, MC, and president Capt. George Harrison.

AMALGAMATION PLAN STUDIED

Copies of letters to Mayor Claude Harrison of Victoria from Ald. Brent Murdoch, which urged a metropolitan board to direct essential services common to local municipalities and the city, were submitted for consideration to the Oak Bay Council Wednesday night.

The council referred the matter to a closed session for study, without comment.

City to Tackle Deputy Ministers On Amalgamation

City Council's health and welfare committee will seek a meeting with provincial government officials over a proposed study of amalgamation of Greater Victoria health and welfare departments.

The city had earlier suggested that the provincial government make a study of the possibilities of such amalgamation.

Health and Welfare Minister Eric Martin replied it was up to the city to initiate talks with the municipalities concerned.

Ald. Brent Murdoch Wednesday told a city health and welfare meeting that the province should take the lead. A meeting will be sought with E. W. Griffith, deputy minister of welfare, and Dr. G. F. Amyot, deputy minister of health

Sailor's Good Record Marred by Conviction

A fine of $75, or one month in jail was imposed against naval rating Eugene Marcotte, HMCS Naden, when he pleaded guilty in city polire court Wednesday to a charge of taking a vehicle without the consent of the owner.

His superior officer told the court Marcotte had a good service record.

A crash into the side of Johnson Street bridge cost William H. Knight, 821 Devonshire, $35 in city police court Wednesday. He pleaded guilty to careless driving. About $300 damage was done to his car in the accident March 12.

SPRING FASHION SECTION

Victoria Daily Times

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, MARCH 19, 1953

Gown for Spring Parties

Copper-toned silk tulle fashions this ballerina-length formal, an original Rolande of Britain model. The bodice, with its wide halter-type shoulder strap, is beaded in the coronation theme, and the beading also forms a design on the skirt. The model is Helen Cooper.

Cotton Comes to the Fore In New Weaves, Finishes

Cotton is king when it comes to spring casual clothes, with denims and chambrays leading the list for sportswear.

Denim in faded blue is used for a quintet of mix-and-match items that will see you through countless outings.

They include a halter-style top, buttoned right up to the Johnny collar; a full skirt with the buttons continuing from waist to hem; a dolman-sleeved jacket with buttons on the tapered sleeves and down the front; pedal-pushers, and shorts, both with buttons on the tapered legs.

All are piped in white. Halter and shorts are $2.98 each, the others $3.98. There's a matching hat, too, at $1.98.

Charcoal grey denim makes up a skirt and sleeveless top with grey-and-white striped trimming tied at the shoulders, cut to a deep V front and back for easy sunning. These are $6.98.

Flower-pretty cotton dresses are appearing on store racks, too, with new finishes and weaves adding interest to this utility fabric.

Shiny glazed cotton fashions a two-piece dress in either tan or green, that features a tucked yoke, flared skirt, and upstanding white pique collar and cuffs. It's priced at $14.95 and will do double duty as a separate skirt and blouse.

White binding on the rounded neckline and armholes iced a dress covered all over with diagonal tucking, in lipstick red or navy blue. Complete with a bunch of flowers in white and the dress color, it's $12.95.

Washable and wrinkle-resistant is the new-as-tomorrow tweedy fabric, made of rayon, acetate, and cotton. In blue tweed, it's done up into a straight-cut dress, sleeveless and with a tiny collar turned down over the brief matching bolero. The skirt has cuffed peg pockets.

In green tweed, the dress has huge pearl buttons and a lowered waistline with unpressed pleats in the skirt. Either is $16.95.

Almost every warm-weather wardrobe will boast at least one brief-sleeved cotton blouse. New ones with cap sleeves and diagonal patch pockets are in spring shades of pink, yellow, and white embossed cotton and are priced at $2.98.

Stylings for Mothers-To-Be

The newest look in maternity fashions is inspired by—baby clothes and little girl dresses!

Mothers-to-be will find their dresses for spring, 1953, featuring such trims as smocking, fine ball fringe, rickrack, white organdy bows and collars. These little-girl touches are featured on broadcloth, pique, and checked gingham. Little puffed sleeves, copied from the French school smock, and novel yoke treatment all heighten this young look.

Maternity separates for casual wear are definitely gay and bright-hued. Denims, sailcloth, terry cloth, cotton twill, and ginghams are top favorites in the casual field. Matador pants and plus-fours with ribbed cuffs are topped with full sleeveless shirts in gay awning stripes.

The peon shirt with a tiny collar, shirt sleeves, and a shirred back is being shown in a bright calico print cotton, solid broadcloths, and checked cotton.

Textured effects and glazed surfaces add fabric interest to maternity fashions for daytime.

Exciting Fashion News From California Stylists

Bright as the sunshine, colorful as the desert in full bloom, and as exciting as the ocean on a wind-swept day, is the fashion feeling of the California collections for spring-into-summer!

Slimmer lines come through for the new season, in coat and dress ensembles—in tapered, at-home pants and in sleek-fitting shorts.

Rich silks, fine linens, dramatic cottons are all used to interpret the new dresses—basically-simple in line, and devoid of the extravagant flourishes of the past.

Sleeveless, bare-topped and halter dresses—as well as the newly-important spectator frocks—are emphasized with subtle smartness by sweater tops.

California, too, gives royal emphasis to the ensemble theme. Coats and dresses are team mates in every major collection. Jackets over dresses, are designed in the ensemble mood, too.

Ever the leader in creating distinctive swim wear, California gives smart emphasis to the elasticized, smooth-lined bust-flattering suit.

The strapless top is heartily endorsed in all the leading swim wear showings.

Golden State designers too, deftly manipulate denims, linens, cotton suitings and all the wonderful synthetics with a new ease and decorum for "under the sun" and "under the moon" fashions.

For fun and sun—fashions are always pace-setters when they wear a California label!

Tailored shorts are tops! They team with Indian princess over-blouses . . . with modified middies . . . with shirt-tail jackets . . . with poncho-styled shirts and brave toppers with stand-away necklines or turtle-necked ribbing.

Terry is printed, plaided, plain, and used with wide variety and distinction, in all fun wear.

MAKE A PONCHO

A poncho is simply a square or oblong piece of fabric with a hole in the middle for the head, and in its natural state is the traditional all-purpose utility garment of the Mexican peon. But made in a fine fabric, and with the addition of a belt and a touch of fringe, the poncho is high fashion, newer than the stole and even more practical. In a subtle tweed or fur fabric, the poncho can top a smart town costume; in a bright fleece or plaid, it's wonderful for casual country wear or for school.

Local Stores are Showing Smart Hats In Wide Range of Styles and Prices

Spring and a new hat are synonymous to most women, and Victorians shopping for a Lonnet to top off their Easter outfits can take their pick of a gay variety.

Fresh and very new are shallow-crowned sailor hats, made to ride squarely on your head without a tip or a tilt to the side.

To go with the season's popular beige tones, we found straw sailors in natural shades ranging from golden yellow to sand, their brims outlined with blossoms.

Red poppies or a cluster of red rosebuds added a note of color to some, and others were wreathed in pale yellow flowers or can be worn with a beige outfit to give the very stylish "monotone" look.

Most of these had demure face veils and were priced from $4.98 to $6.98.

Low in price ($1.98 to $2.98) and high in style were small helmet-shaped hats in straw fabric. These were especially smart in clean-cut navy and white combinations, with red or white flowers at each side.

Stripes are a fashion by-word this spring, and if you prefer to wear them in small quantities, you can choose a hat in a novelty striped straw in combinations of black, brown, grey, or green with white.

Other accessories in the news are purses, smaller than last year, in smooth-as-smooth leathers. Carrying out the beige theme are the ones in a warm butterscotch shade that are neutral enough to go with any costume.

Wrist-length gloves in sparkling white are a must with a springtime ensemble, and if you choose them in quick-drying nylon, you'll have no trouble keeping them white. Nylon suede gloves at $2.98 are just right.

Come spring, almost every suit and coat lapel blossoms out with a bunch of real or real-looking flowers. For a touch of luxury, there are corsages of everlasting wood-fibre orchids in a choice of colors that sell for $2.50.

A cluster of artificial fruit is a real conversation piece for any outfit, and we found oranges, apples, pear, and even a bunch of black cherries to pin to a suit or hat.

SHORT AND PLUMP

Where height and slimness do not exist, the right kind of clothes can give the illusion of them. A short, plump figure can benefit enormously by sticking to solid colors and unbroken vertical lines; avoiding horizontal eye catchers and jutting details that emphasize width.

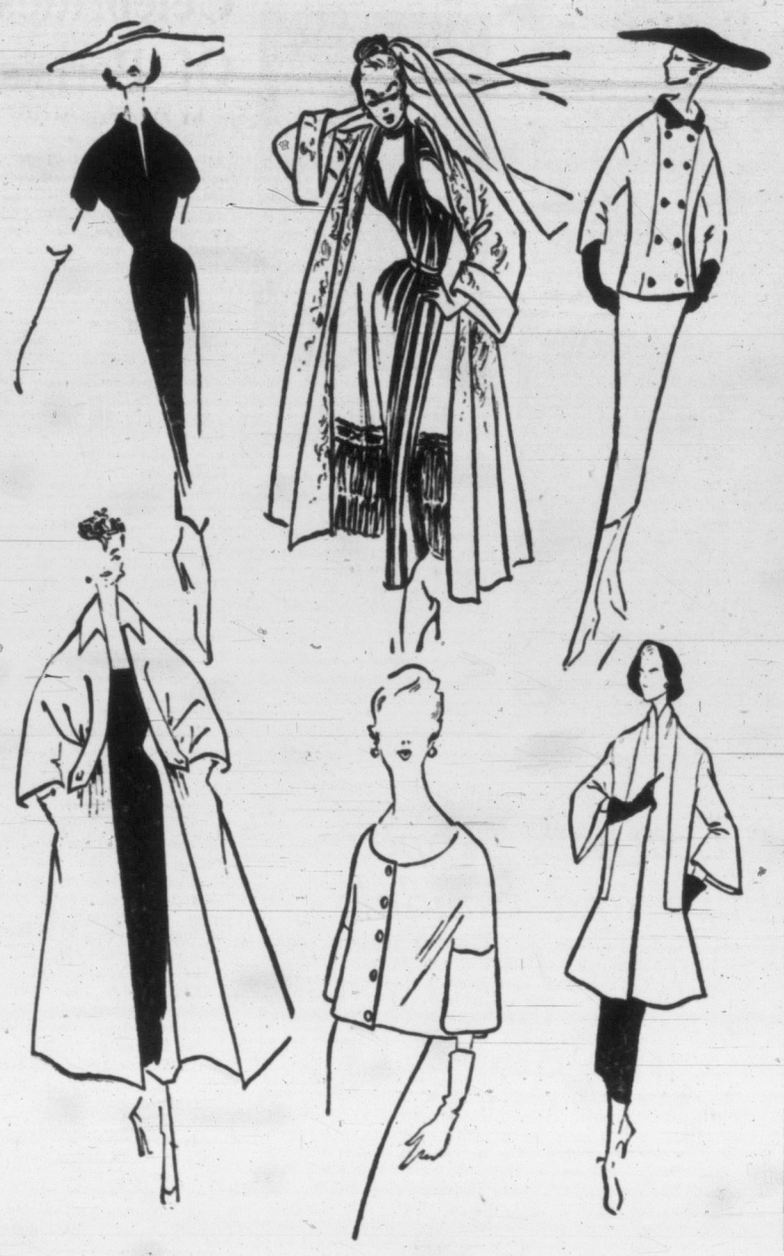
Gala Gown

This gala ball gown is called "Sea Treasure" and is designed by Hardy Amies of London, designer of many outfits worn by the Queen on her visit to Canada in 1951. It is a dress suited to royal balls. In pearl-yellow duchess satin, it has semi-full skirt, heart-shaped halter neck and exquisite pearl beading. —(CP Photo)



Batwing Sweater

Made in black and white cashmere this fully-fashioned model sweater has wide batwing sleeves and rollette collar. British women are following the North American desire for knitted fashions and business is brisk in London shops.—(CP Photo)

Print in High Favor Daytime and Evening

Dresses are more versatile than ever. Many have separate waist-length or bolero jackets . . . which means that with cover they make a nine-to-five costume . . . and then, with jacket off, become a dinner and party dress.

You'll see hundreds of prints in both daytime and evening dresses.

One designer (Adele Simpson) shows print dresses with print stoles to match. Some stoles are triangular with fringe edges . . . others are long streamers with a loop at one end to hook securely over the arm. There even are narrow fox fur stoles lined with print to match the dresses in this designer's collection.

Come evening, the full-skirted look prevails . . . and the most publicized length is called "waltz length." That's just above the ankles . . . but well below the calf.

Retailers expect a larger-than-usual business in evening clothes this spring and summer . . . for two big reasons. The U.S. inauguration, just passed, and the Coronation to come. They feel that both events will inspire a general dressing-up.

Evening clothes are more demure than usual—at least in front. Many of the dresses are cut high at the neckline . . . but dip low in back. One designer (Pauline Trigere) manages a throat high in front and the back bare by tying the front of a pastel colored wool cocktail dress around the shoulders with a tiny, self-fabric cord.

Many of the dressier clothes come as ensembles . . . dresses with jackets or coats. One house (Filcol) features silk organza combinations . . . waitz-length evening dresses with sheer, dress-length coats.

Day dresses are simple and tailored. Coat dresses are popular. There are many ribbed jersey dresses. Dior's all-in-one dress, named 1953, will probably have a strong influence and may some day be a rival of separates. Scooped necklines are often filled-in with guimpes; sailor collars have reappeared; grosgrain inserts are popular at Givenchy:

In Choosing Accessories

By MARIAN RAHL

The ensemble or "costume," as so many designers prefer to describe the new spring coat and dress outfits, achieves fashion importance this year. It emerges in so many varieties that you will find yourself falling for one whether your wardrobe is basically a casual type or one that puts more emphasis on after-five clothes.

Fabric is often a starting point for the dress and coat twosome. A contrast in weight, a contrast in color or the co-ordination of a print with a solid color lends charming interest. With the designer creating the whole costume, you are bound to be happier than if you tried to attain similar results yourself with the many more hours of hard shopping involved. Slim or beautifully fitted coats frequently have their silhouettes repeated in the dresses designed to go under them.

Coats follow the general lines of all good smart spring coats with nicely rounded shoulder lines, easy sleeves that sometimes push up on the arm and necklines finished with or without collars. They are so carefully designed that you will wear them with many other dresses in your wardrobe. Dresses, too, stand on their own in beautiful sheer woolens and pretty printed silks — sleek sheaths and the dress with a shirtwaist feeling. You will wear them under their companion coats, you will wear them later with toppers, little furs and still later alone when the weather becomes warm enough.

To wear your costume with the utmost chic, choose accessories that are worthy of it. Look for the small hat in matching or contrasting color, for shoes and handbag that echo its importance and touch it all off with a single fresh flower or corsage.

The Spring Silhouttes From Paris Designers

Top left is Christian Dior's new "tulip" line. The dress is roomy through the shoulders and bust. It has a slim and unbelted waistline cut princess style. The skirt is stem-slim. The Balmain ensemble (top centre) is a huge white Pakistan fur coat over a slim ribbed white jersey dress. White wool fringe lines the coat; the bonnet is white chiffon with long, flowing ends. Top right is Jacques Fath's "barely touching" silhouette. A cocoa color cotton pique suit trimmed in black satin vaguely approximates the lines of the figure; the collar stands "away from the neck." Bottom left: the Dior coat again stresses fullness of bosom. Two front tabs cross and button in the back in a plunging movement, holding in the width. The widow's peak hat has a point between the eyebrows. Bottom centre, Hubert de Givenchy makes a brief black jersey coat with scooped neck and low-mounted sleeves (almost cape-like) to wear over sheer cocktail or evening dresses. Bottom right is the new three-fifth length coat by Jean Desses, with a wide flounce at the hemline. (Released by Fashion League.)

Mollie Parnis' box-jacketed costume of printed shantung, features a jacket trim of black silk twill, and short-sleeved, scoop-necklined dress. (A N.Y. Dress Institute Photo.)

Jeweled Fashions Appearing To Mark Coronation Year

The Coronation of Queen Elizabeth has been a source of new inspiration to designers of everything from top to toe.

Never before have we had such an array of jeweled fashions—from tiara-like hats flashing with more jewels than Elizabeth's crown to jeweled ribbon footwear, daintier than Cinderella's glass slipper.

Especially in costume jewelry has the Coronation theme captured the designers' imagination. The crown motif appears in everything from tailored metal to scintillating make-believe stones.

Tiaras have already been accepted as a formal hair ornament and will twinkle on even more heads under the spring and summer stars. Definitely, every woman can be a fashion queen.

The jeweled suit is one great favorite for spring—a suit that can go everywhere, even after-five. It may have bands of pearls and rhinestones around the neckline or hipline, or just a motif at the hip or collar. It may be of worsted or rayon. It's your Coronation suit to make you the queen of the Easter parade.

Black Lace Lines Coat

You'll soon be seeing:

- - the elegant fur coat with an unusual lining. For example, there's the nutria coat with blue chiffon and now the mink coat lined with frills of black lace!

* * *

- - the leather belt that is irregular in width. It's contour lines may be narrow at front or vice versa.

* * *

- - the ankle-length skirt that is full and wide. It is lovely in white net with diamonds of the net appliqued to it and rhinestones highlighting the corners.

* * *

- - satin in metal shades, velvet, chiffon and taffeta. The latter is most attractive and new looking in changeable deep green and blue tones.

* * *

- - the straight coat of velvet! It is only knee length and worn with a slim matching skirt.

* * *

- -the shorter length umbrella! It is still slim and sticklike in appearance when not in use. One in a cocktail version has a jeweled knob for its handle!

Color is Theme In New Hosiery

Color, color, color is the theme song of this spring's hosiery fashions. Everywhere hosiery designers are giving "real color" to stockings!

The wide color range in spring hosiery gives today's shopper a perfect opportunity to develop beautiful co-ordination between costume, hosiery and shoes.

One of the greatest impacts on spring hosiery styling comes from the overwhelming use of prints in new ready-to-wear styles. Since the prints are bolder than in previous years with well-defined clear colors, they demand color in the stockings to be worn with them.

Another big influence on spring hosiery shades is the popular black and white scheme shown in every type of footwear and ready-to-wear fashions—dressy, casual and sportswear. These styles require lighter hosiery shades but with definite color undertones.

Pink—one of the outstanding pastels in fashion is featured from the palest tint to mauve to rose, and calls for beige hosiery with a definite pink tint.

Beige—the most important spring neutral, replacing the past greys—requires light, but very-warm, beige hosiery.

The Coronation colors so prominent in all spring ready-to-wear: deep reds, golds, blues, in jewel-like shades have influenced stockings tremendously, and call for co-ordinated hosiery with definite color undertones.

Styling in spring hosiery takes its cue from new shoe fashions, particularly the graceful tapered heel which calls for stockings with narrower heels, also finely tapered.

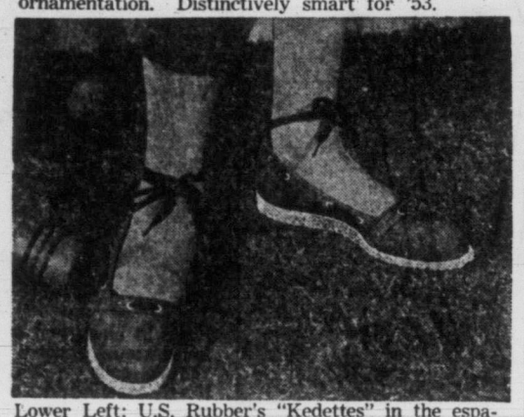
Trim, Sleek Look is Expressed in Spring-New Footwear!

Against the jet gleam of patent leather, Palter de Liso edges a streak of white on smart, strapped pumps and elongated handbag. Perfect accents for prints!

That important all-round fashion, the knit dress, takes on new importance for spring!

Styled with a softer air, knits are appearing in wool, Orlon, and cotton. The turtle neck or open necklines are replacing the class-jewel neckline.

Top Left: Newton-Elkin's "Sylvan Pump," new-for-spring with its long-tapering lines and white jet, leaf ornamentation. Distinctively smart for '53.



Lower Left: U.S. Rubber's "Kedettes" in the espadrille styling. In bright-new, high shades plus white and charcoal, complete with two pairs of gay laces for quick costume changes.

Above: A newsworthy dressy flat — with outlined cut-outs, tiny pearl buttons—all of them fashion significant on the spring footwear scene.

NEW FABRICS

For daytime, there are pale bicolored tweeds, monotone tweeds either rustic or smooth, jerseys, featherweight woolens, alpacas, canvas-like fabrics, shantungs, irregular ottomans, mixtures of fabrics (wool and silk, synthetics and natural), rustic linens, silk sackcloth. For evening, there's organza, organdy, lace, marquisette, chiffon. For regal occasions (Coronation parties) faille, grosgrain, satin, lames, embrodiery are shown. "Allover" paillettes cover entire dresses. Cotton and prints are important.

Smooth and Textured Leathers Appear In Newest Spring Pumps and Sandals

The "New in Shoes" for 1953 is leather, leather, leather.

And such leathers! Calfs in glowing jewel tones and new aniline dyes, which bring out the natural grain and beauty of the skins. Kid—both glazed and crushed—in the brightest hues of the spectrum. Suedes in delicate pastel shades, as well as rich sooty blacks, deep chocolate browns and many varieties of blue. Patent, which is the thing this spring, and in colors like lime, aqua and other shades never dreamed of before. Supple, sturdy cattle leather in a multitude of grains and finishes—not least of which is the new butter-soft glove leather which is going to be in casuals of all types.

Shoe designers have utilized these new luxury leathers to turn out shoes in styles that will keynote the new spring ensembles.

Everywhere you go this spring, you're going to see pumps, pumps and more pumps—but you'll find it hard to recognize them as the pump patterns you've seen so often. A little bow here, a teardrop or triangular cutout there, a swirl of piping in contrasting leathers give the classic pump a fresh and exciting look for '53.

Here are some of the shoes which made news at the spring shoe openings, and which are beginning to appear at leading resorts and aboard cruise ships:

A high-cut red-white-and-blue pump with a broad band of white suede and a narrow strip of glowing red calf above the silky blue calf that covers most of the shoes. A motif that's chic and unusual to boot.

A taffy-colored pump in aniline calf, with triangular cutout just above the open toe—and all topped by a saucy little bow of the same leather. Saddle stitching runs all around from heel to wafer-thin leather sole.

The brown-and-white pump—but what a difference. A high, narrow heel and tapered toe in benedictine leather, with a white leather triangular insert at the front of the vamp. The base of the triangle forms a square throat, across which run five little buttons of benedictine leather.

A purple kid sandal, with swirls of piping in red, aqua and pink along one side. Criss-cross ankle straps ride high and do wonders for the ankle silhouette.

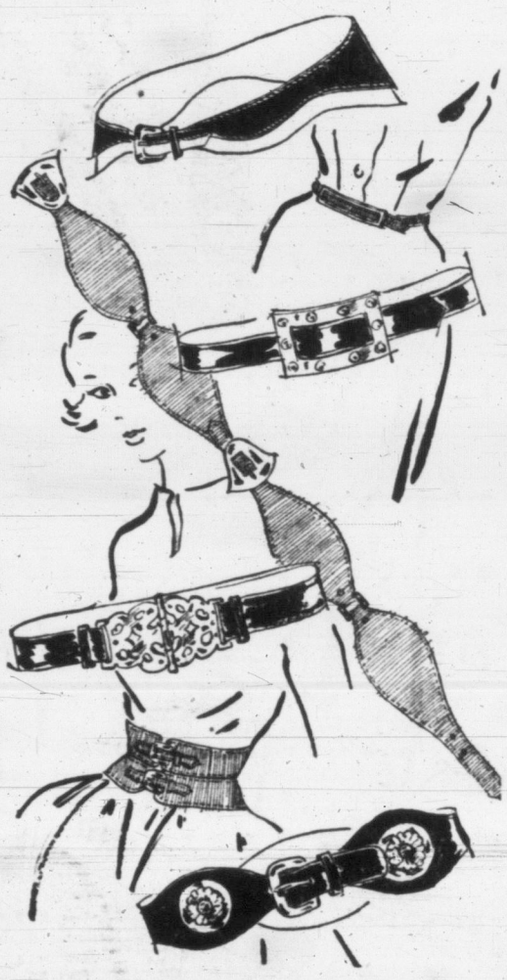
A stripping sandal of patent with strips of black and white leather intertwined at front and a high ankle strap. Dots of black patent march along the white stripping. All perched on a coin-thin leather sole.

And the Coronation theme in an open-toed pump in pale green kid. The vamp is surmounted by a little scalloped tiara of the same leather studded with gold encircled stones.

PAISLEY PRINTS

Paisley: This intricate oriental print gets its name from a town in Scotland which became famous for its copies of Indian Kashmir shawls. These shawls were considered the height of elegance by our grandmothers and the fashion has now come full circle; some of the newest and prettiest of spring accessories are in the same Paisley pattern. Paisley makes a gay summer parasol, belts, slippers, scarves and stoles. In 1953 versions, the design is often picked out with jewels, as in a handsome casual cotton skirt, in which the Paisley motif is accented with beads and sequins.

Novelty Cinchers Shown



Coats, dresses, and blouse-and-skirt combinations all take to the waist-trimming look that the new cincher belts give. Many are decked with novelty buckles and are shaped to make the least of your waist.

Fit For a Queen

Up-to-the-minute fashions demand a royal theme, and what could be more appropriate for a royal year than these cocktail pumps in luxurious crimson velvet lined with rich gold kid. The Canadian shoe manufacturer who designed this shoe added a truly regal note in the coronet of velvet hooped with rhinestones which decorates the throat of the vamp.

Celebrities Attend Openings Of Paris's Top Fashion Houses

BY LUCETTE CARON

PARIS—All the celebrities in Paris have been attending the fashion openings: ambassadors, film stars, members of the new French government. They enjoy the atmosphere, the pretty models and the glamor. But others—the international buyers, manufacturers and the press—are not amused; to them it is a matter of serious concern. What will the 1953 line be? And—what will catch on?

These "premieres" are always crowded. Jacques Fath, to avoid confusion, gives three shows: one for the press, one for the buyers and one for "his friends." Hubert de Givenchy, the tall wonder boy of 1952, and his young staff are too inexperienced to keep out the uninvited guests. These always arrive first and take the best seats. The free-for-all that ensued this year will make history. As for Dior, a well-trained, incorruptible organization manages to keep out the gate crashers. Inside there is no confusion; each moves to his allotted square inches without protest.

The silhouette of 1953 is not easy to define. Couturiers show almost too much individualism this year, and many styles are in direct opposition.

Three main lines stand out: the "away from the body," loose-fitting look, the low-waisted-blouson-middy square silhouette of Balenciaga, the busty, feminine, tight-fitting princess line of Dior. A fourth, the "back-flounce" line of Desses will probably be taken up, too.

Except for the length, the wider shoulders, the absence of complicated ornaments, there is little feeling of unity.

Coats are varied and important. The super-full coat has disappeared: it is either square, semi-fitted or straight. The short coat takes on a new three-fifths length at Desses, flounced at the hemline, it is an intermediary long-short coat.

At Jacques Fath, coats "flow gently," with measured progressive fulness, Empire style; at Lanvin, their controlled fulness is held in by patch pockets on the side, or twin buttons in the back; at Balenciaga, they are square, wide and straight; at Givenchy, almost always trimmed with grosgrain. Jean Desses' three-tiered coats look new, Lafaurie's are slit on the side Chinese style; Balmain's "Balminades" are built like capes and Schiaparelli's "little girl" coats have sailor collars and are fastened with bows. Everywhere, details with no bearing on the construction have been eliminated.

Suits are varied as the coats and follow the three main silhouettes. The "barely touching the body" line (following the line of the body at a distance), more or less loosely fitted ignores the waist and rests on the hips.

Royalty Sets Theme for Spring Millinery

The inspiration in spring millinery is touched with royalty. In color, in style, in ornamentation, new hats take their cue from the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth.

Deep, rich reds—such as garnet and wild cherry, directly taken from Coronation colors, are very important and destined to be most popular.

These reds are particularly good in shiny straws done in small silhouettes like the shell and small cap. They are also important as trimmings for navy, white, and pale blue hats.

Golden yellows, too, are in great demand and take their cue from the Coronation. Blue, because it has always been a favorite of the ladies in the Royal Family, is very strong, particularly in the mauve-tinted shades.

In the neutral family, beige is definitely the big thing and replaces the greys, so popular in former years. The beige has a pale pink tone and is most popular in drapable straws and straw cloths in both dressy and casual styles. Important color touches for trimmings on these beige hats are coral, green and red.

Shiny-black edges out navy for spring. It looks very new this season because of the way it is used—particularly in the fringed synthetic straw braids for little berets, caps, and shell silhouettes. This new shiny black fringe is also very effective as trimming on contrasting color smooth texture straws.

In the pastel shades, pale pink is definitely tops with blue and mauvy-blue following for honors.

Silhouettes are also Coronation-inspired, giving prime importance to small shapes and front height. The pillbox is the most popular silhouette — used in everything from simple basic shapes to very exciting variations—centre front peaks, lifted upward over the brow to frame the face — bracket curves that rise off the forehead like a tiara.

Bretons, flat level bonnets, small sailors also head the silhouette list. From Paris—comes small hats with back interest developed through unique draping.

Head rings, so popular several years ago in flower motifs, are back with a new look! Done in ribbons with delicate jewel and braid trims—they are very feminine and very definitely influenced by the Coronation. They'll be especially featured for dress-up and party wear.

Newness is achieved in spring hats through new color combinations and unusual individual treatments of textured straws and fabrics — fringed braids, particularly in shiny black; hairy straw cloths, dotted and plaided straws, straws with angora yarn or a metallic thread.

Ribbon is staging a big comeback in trims and little all-ribbon hats. New pleated ribbons, wide satin and taffeta in rich Coronation colors are manipulated into very smart and new looking little hats—destined to be great favorites for vacation trips because they pack so neatly.

All spring hats are designed for flattery and femininity and the choice is large and inviting for the fashion-conscious woman.

Germaine Montabert fashions a bonnet for the sophisticated woman from violet milan straw. An oversized pink velvet rose points up the flattery of the profile brim and a violet veil with pink chenille dots add a dramatic note! Definitely an Easter charmer! Mink by Bernham-Stein.

New Bonnets To Be Small, With Variety in Texture

By MARIAN RAHL

Your spring bonnet will be colorful, it will come in a variety of textured straws and novelty fabrics but above all it promises to be one of the prettiest you have ever worn! A variety of silhouettes insures this flattery you desire both for your face and new pring costumes.

In every leading milliner collection, the small hat shows up in a bonnet, a beret, a toque of the simple little cap. It always molds the head smoothly, curving and clinging to the sides. Your new spring hat may arch pertly over the crown or be flipped up in the back. Back of the hairline is the position for most of these shapes and this is so easy to wear on so many women that you will likely find the hat you've searched for these many springs.

It couldn't be spring without the sailor hat either and for 1953 it can be shallow with a breton brim and tucked, rounded crown. Your sailor shape is just as likely to be bonnet-like and turned up or cut off in the back to make way for a pony tail or flowers or other trimmings! Also in good fashion is the sailor with side-to-side width in its brim.

The little hat for spring will complement you new suit with tapered jacket that fits snug at the hips. It is equally good with the long slim coat that tapers at the hemline. Youthful small hats will grace the ensemble with long loose coat and companion wool of silk print dress underneath.

When you go out to shop for your new spring bonnet, you will be aware of new and interesting textured straws, some shiny, and the straw-like fabrics that milliners have used. With a little thought you can choose one to contrast with or echo the texture of your costume. Felts are beautifully finished with "dressmaker" touches—piping, stitching and velvet ribbons.

There's no lack of color in spring millinery either. The bold and bright finds as much favor—sometimes more—than the sombre dark colors. Warm gold beiges and yellows, mossy green and greenish yellows, perennial favorites; have such colors as electric blue, turquoise, bright navy, scarlet, crimson and shades of violet added this year. This spring your white hat has more chic if a bit of bright color or glossy black or grey is added for accent.

One of the surprises of the spring hat picture is the glistening straw that resembles shiny jet—obviously a carryover from the holiday season but one that is likely to make a delightful tie-in with shiny patent accessories.

Dramatic Variations Shown in Materials

Fabrics give the shape and texture to the fashion themes for spring! Not in many a year has so much dramatic importance been given to so many different, exciting variations; slub, crisp, and supple fabrics create a new sensation in wearables!

Silk is again every woman's fabric — particularly in surah, honan and shantung. The "silk" coat . . . the "silk" dress and the "silk" costume—are all fashion important this spring.

Jersey and flannel . . . patterned tweeds with plain . . . hairy-surface pastels combine with smooth darks . . . boucles with linens or suitings—are the co-ordinate fabrics for the fashion-right costumes of the new season.

SLUBS — Fabrics with the "raw" look of natural fibres—such as shantung, pongee, seeded yarns, textured tweeds—are all newly-important and newly-exciting.

SUPPLE—Easy-to-drape, natural-handling fabrics — easily adaptable to the slim silhouette, take on a new surge of interest in the spring showings in mat jersey, soft satins, gentle silks, chiffons and newest crepes.

CRISP—Novelty failles, bengalines, textured taffetas, metallic-highlighted combed cottons, honans and others—give staccato emphasis to crisply-handled spring treatments.

The luxury fabrics, such as vicuna, cashmere and camel's hair—now blended with the newest and most exciting of the miracle fibres, take on new elegance and dramatic importance in coat and suit showings.

The luxury fabrics, such as vicuna, cashmere and camel's hair — now blended with the newest and most exciting of the miracle fibers, take on new elegance and dramatic importance in coat and suit showings.

Look to big emphasis on linen . . . jersey . . . shantung! All of them important in their own rights—equally important as co-ordinates, complements and trims!

Cotton looms on the fashion scene as the leading contender for the spotlight! Designers this year interpret some of the smartest and most versatile creations . . . for daytime into evening wear in fascinating cottons. They have found cotton eminently "suitable," and are showing suits in a wide variety of cottons from denims, baby cords, ginghams, to suitings handled with a menswear look.

They have adapted cottons to every silhouette and shape of the season, and dipped them in a rich variety of pale to vivid hues.

Taffetized chambrays, sculptured cottons, waffle-piques, plisses and paisly prints all come into new importance on the fashion scene!

Cotton lace appears often in the smartest daytime costumes.

Whether you are making your own spring wardrobe . . . or choosing it from the smart shops in town, let your imagination and the wonderful fabrics for your choosing — keynote your foundation for Fashion '53!

This enchanting profile hat, inspired by the Queen of England, is named "Young Elizabeth" by the designer, Emme. White and gold imported straw.

Tret-Marlin adapts the coronation influence in a regal hat of rough natural straw. Diadem brim of straw "jewels" and silk braid.

There's Magic In Millinery

There's a lot of magic in spring millinery. Colors and silhouettes combine to flatter your good books and to accent your new costume. Hues are warm and gay, as in the John-Frederic's collection where Fred Frederic collection where Fred recent travels to South America. He likes warm pinks, oranges, yellows, blues that have a greenish cast, and purple. Two colors, such as beige and orange or yellow and orange, contribute strikingly beautiful combinations that are surprisingly easy to wear. Mr. Frederics takes his cue for provocative native silhouettes from Peru and so his wide-brimmed bretons may have high-peaked crowns. He does many interesting decorative touches, too often using embroidery or crochet. Here is his open crowned cloche of smooth beige straw. It is set over a peaked, snug-fitting cap of white crocheted Milan, reminiscent of Peruvian native headgear but sprinkled with jewels for a touch of sophistication. (Photo by Larry Gordon.)

All Shades of Beige Shown, Along With Vibrant Colors

Fashion extends a rich, vibrant palette of deep tones and pert pastels to delight milady when creating her spring wardrobe picture.

From the palest off-whites to the warm, caramel shades . . . beige wins top honors in every collection. The "natural" look shows promise in elegant woolens, textured silk and rayons, as well as in linens and cottons.

From in-the-pink to rosy-red, there's a wondrous glow to this pastel highlight! Look for "peachy" tones, intense corals, and pale pinks to dramatize and to glamorize.

True-blue, blue-greens and navy are the "out of the blue" fashion notes on the color scale.

Silks and cottons play up turquoise and peacock blues, while wools highlight the true blues and navy hues.

Light versions of mossy greens, pale, silver greens and neutral, yellow greens — are wondrous new accessory and basic tints.

Citrus colors . . . orange, lemon and lime . . . remain fashion favorites for spring. Violet has a winning way with women and will be seen throughout the collections, but not as a leader.

Grey takes a back seat to beige, yet remains a popular blending and background tone for prints and suitings.

Black and white remain constant in fashion importance! White influences fabrics in milky-toned pastels or white-flecked mixtures and white-grounded prints; tweeds and boucles really get a "snow job."

Yes—color, whether "hot or cold"—is important in the rich tapestry of color fashion for spring.

Accessories Seen In the Boutiques

. . . Pleated organdie muffs.

. . . Dog collar and leash worn around neck of fur stoles.

. . . "Cane chair" bags.

. . . Bunches of lilies of the valley to wear in pockets of spring suits.

. . . Full-length moulding gloves to be worn with short sleeves.

. . . Shaped belts to accentuate raised bosom of Dior, or low hip waist of Balenciaga (they can be worn upside down).

. . . Long "sautoir" necklaces worn backwards.

. . . Colored stone necklaces (coral, light emerald, moonstone).

. . . "Headband" hats that leave one ear quite bare and cover the other completely.

. . . "Widow's peak" hats with peak pointing between the eyebrows (hide vertical forehead lines!).

. . . Solid brass pocket flaps with lion, crowns and grenades.

. . . White guipure lace pants for tennis.

. . . Half pants, half skirts for sports.

FABRICS AND ACCESSORIES

A woman virtually needs to take along a dictionary of fabrics terms when she shops for her spring wardrobe. Designers and manufacturers have come up with dozens of new treatments of silk, wool, cotton, linen and the synthetics.

You'll see things like worsted pique, ribbon tweed, pearl cloth, ermine cloth, lace tweed, straw cloth, straw lace, cotton serge, nubbed silk baku, chiffonwool, and double-woven organza.

There are silk tweeds, silk twills, cotton ottoman, linen-tweed, and chiffon Shantung. And there also are the fabrics you've seen other springs . . . bulk Shantungs, the surahs, the crepes, organdies, flannels and jersies.

Tall girls will take heart when they see the first spring showings at their favorite store! More and more attention is being given to the customer who's 5'7" and over.

Appearing this spring are separates, dresses, swimsuits and knitwear in tall sizes, supplementing the proportioned suits that have been available for some time.

Collars and Cuffs Appear On Smartest Spring Suits

Red and white beaded flowers add a different touch to the collar and tabs on the yoke of a soft beige wool jersey suit.

White linen collar and cuffs are putting in an appearance on many of the season's smartest suits. They're used on the oversize collar and wing cuffs of a fitted suit in navy corded fabric.

The style is also shown in black and white or blue and white striped material.

A three-piece suit is made up of a tuxedo-type shortie coat in grey tweed and trimly fitted suit in a grey flecked fabric that looks like a very smooth tweed.

Gay raincoats will take some of the dullness out of a rainy day, and there are many vivid ones to pick from.

Fashioned from gold and brown stripped corduroy, one raincoat looks bronze from a little distance. Its collar flips up to show off a brown velvet lining and it has tiny brown buttons.

A weather-proofed coat in navy taffeta that can be worn as a duster over spring dresses has lining, tie and umbrella in eye-catching plaid taffeta.

The Ensemble Look is New This Spring; Old Fashioned Look for Little Tots

With the first spring breezes, little glamour girls may turn to thoughts of hopscotch or "soda sessions," but they'll also be turning to thoughts of clothes, and what a world of fashion magic awaits them this spring!

They'll be thrilled by the ensemble look, patterned after the handsomely co-ordinated outfits mothers will be wearing this spring.

The interpretations of the ensemble are clever and varied—print cotton dresses worn with wool coats lined in a matching print; skirts to match the lining of a coat and facing of a bonnet; tweedy woolen or cotton fabrics in tailored suits with matching loose topcoats; denim, heavy cotton, or slubbed rayon suits lined with bright cotton prints to match gay sleeveless blouses. These are a few of the many change-about possibilities in spring ensembles for tots through teens.

In tots and toddler dresses, the old-fashioned look is the new fashion—charming little dresses in wallpaper prints on cotton and organdie, dainty embroidery organdies; dresses with ruffled sleeves, party aprons, embroidered fichus.

Teens and juniors will be thrilled with the truly sophisticated styles concocted for them this spring. The sheath silhouette, strictly a misses' and women's fashion, is now definitely a "must" in the junior wardrobe for spring. It is frequently interpreted with back interest—a gathering of pleats, or a black wrap.

These sheaths, featured in every fabric — cottons, linens, print silks—are perfect counterparts for the young ensemble.

The slim look carries through in all teen and junior fashions—the straight collarless coat, tapered box jackets, the narrow tapered skirt.

Fullness is featured importantly, too, but it is always controlled in unpressed or inverted pleats or princess lines.

There's a world of excitement in fabrics—cotton tweeds for ensembles, rayon orlon blends for suits and skirts, poodle cloths and pastel fleeces for toppers, textured woolens of all types for loose topcoats lined to match dresses of solid and striped cotton or striped rayon taffeta.

For dresses—the limelight is on embossed cottons which don't require ironing on "patent leather prints—shiny black overlays on glazed cotton—on colorful clear-cut prints for cottons and silks.

The trend in color is away from traditional pastels and into more vibrant shades like spice pink, mint, watermelon, tangerine, citron yellow.

Black is the most important innovation in color for tots through teens—as a background or accent color in cotton prints—tiny floral, stripes and checks. It is very good as an accent or trim for all ages, all styles—black ball fringe, jet buttons, patent belts, collars and cuffs of glazed cotton.

Bonnets, Caps

"Young miss" millinery for spring makes news in its use of bright colors, new patterns and textures in straw, the importance of white and the use of black as an accent.

In addition to the popular bonnets and caps, new floppy shapes, flat crowned padre hats appear strongly for the younger set up to teen age.

Black velvet is used for piping around every type of shape—bonnets, padre hats, scalloped shells—for bandings and bows on linens and straws. Flower clusters on the side, flower circlets on bands, under brims are featured prominently.

One of the newest and most complementary accessory colors for all the warm beiges in this spring's ready-to-wear is deep copper. This means a new fashion significance for copper jewelry which is being featured by several designers in handsome wide bracelets, pendant and choker necklaces, and pins.

Many Bracelets New Style Note

New fashion notes are:

. . so many bracelets at one time they become important for their number alone. Gold supplies the tailored look for daytime but brilliant rhinestones are for after five.

* * *

. . . the daytime dress with a covered-up look because its neckline is high or it is low and filled in with an ascot.

* * *

. . angora gloves to match your angora hat or the angora crown of a felt hat. Black and grey are two of the most attractive colors seen in these sets.

* * *

. . white kid in headwear which takes on elegance when done in a little beret shape with all-over iridescent sequins and a band of black velvet.

* * *

. . muffs in any size that suits your fancy or pocketbook. They range from small to the huge black fox muff that almost covers one arm!

* * *

COSTUME JEWELRY

Costume jewelry adds the final, finished touch to an outfit. Knowing how to use it can add immeasurably to the ability to appear always well dressed. No town costume looks complete without a touch of tailored jewelry—earrings, lapel pin or necklace. Simple pearls or elaborate, multi-jeweled creations enhance a late-day or evening dress, and for informal, at-home wear, you can be as fanciful—or bizarre—as you like. At least, such is the current fad.

Two Silhouettes by Ann Fogarty

It wouldn't be spring for juniors without an Ann Fogarty to start off a new wardrobe. Long an exponent of the full silhouette, Miss Fogarty does it again for spring 1953. She handles it as shown here in a navy blue taffeta, with wide skirt carefully gathered to the waistline. The well-molded bodice is another Fogarty touch which plays up the pretty skirt underneath. A simple V neckline faced with white pique and three-quarter sleeves make it a wonderful basic style to wear all season. Other full silhouettes have fullness placed low on the hips and to the sides in a "mandolin" silhouette; another slim silhouette in the collection is called the "bracket"—"with every curve in parenthesis."

For The Tall Girl

Black and white checked taffeta makes a young, young dress in tall gals styling by Peg Newton. Bias treatment of the bold checks lends interest to the bodice top while they take to a horizontal direction for a skirt that glamorizes the height of the taller girl. Small unpressed pleats, bat-wing sleeves and a flattering bow at the neckline are all touches that enhance its charms for the taller-than-average miss.

Styles in Favor Of the Tall Girl

Improved sizing has caught up with the tall girl and, if you are among these goddess-like queens, you will find waistlines, sleeves and hemlines hitting the right target when you choose clothes designed for the tall girl. Among those who pioneered in this field of clothes for the taller-than-average customer is Peg Newton, herself a lofty six feet!

Miss Newton has some good clothes suggestions for her customers whom she affectionately refers to as her "giraffes." First, she suggests your clothes be of the finest fabric you can afford. There's a two-fold reason for this—one, your size does make you conspicuous and, two, because you are large the sweep of your movements may be hard on your clothes. She believes you should favor important tweeds and plaids as well as large-patterned prints.

Spring fashions this season favor the tall girl, says Miss Newton. There are many becoming costumes that have draping; slightly extended shoulder width and the longer torso line to recommend them in your favor. A soft bow under your chin is as pretty as any under the chin of the very little girl. Have it large enough to be becoming.

Accessories are right up your scale this season, too. You'll find tiny hats balanced by a good selection of medium and larger brimmed types—the latter two of which you can wear so beautifully. They have a new, wonderfully uncluttered look you like because trimmings are secondary to line and color. Handbags strike large and important silhouettes this spring, too, and they can be selected to enhance the lines of your costume. Those that take a horizontal line will cut and break the long figure lines you want to minimize.

THE ANGORA TOUCH

Knitwear has been important throughout the fashion picture this fall and winter, and all signs point to its continuing importance this spring. Plain and fancy sweaters have become wardrobe staples, and knitted trim and ribbed collars and cuffs are seen on everything from suede cardigans to fur coats. This year's favorite in the wool family seems to be angora, for the very feminine touch it gives a costume.

BOXY FUR JACKETS

Following the lead of slim dresses and boxy line suits, fur jackets this spring are newest when they're squared-off. The straight lines, easy shoulders, look right over narrow skirts; lengths are from hipbone to just over the waist.

Effective Stripes

Stripes are used effectively in this coat-effect dress by C. H. D. Robbins. Grey, navy, and brown with matching stripes or sparked with white stripes.

Dress—Plus Costume Comes in All Sizes

A woman has a double-barrelled argument for a new wardrobe this spring.

One, she can tell hubby that her new outfit will cost a bit less than it would have last year. And two, it'll put more emphasis on her feminine figure than before.

V.T. industry sources say most items in milady's wardrobe will be a little cheaper than last year. It also is a year when the average customer can get clothes with the look of the high-priced custom designers, but at ready-to-wear prices.

Both fabrics and silhouette this spring will emphasize the feminine form.

Stiff crackling fabrics, which stood out from the figure, have given way to softer ones, with a little more cling. And as for silhouette, there are fewer of those hugged-in waistlines and voluminous skirts . . . and more clothes cut along the natural figure lines.

The little-top, big-skirted look has changed to the rounded bodice with the straight, slim skirt. However, you will see many stores featuring the boxy look in suits . . . with a loose, boxy jacket topping the slim skirt. But there still are plenty of the well-styled, fitted jackets for the woman who neither wants nor should wear the unfitted line.

Prominent in all sizes . . . and in varied types of fashions . . . is the dress-plus costume. Sometimes it's a dress and stole . . . sometimes a dress and jacket . . . or a dress and coat. But in almost every case, they are co-ordinated in color and fabric. Generally the dress is slim in line and is either short-sleeved or sleeveless. Occasionally the dress has a halter neckline or is strapped over the shoulders. Stoles are generously wide and long, double faced and often fringed. When it's a dress, and jacket costume, the jacket—ranging from shortest bolero to hip-length — is lined to match the dress. Some costumes combine thin wool in the jacket, with crepe in the dress . . . and others combine linen, for the coat or jacket, with silk shantung or surah.

Some designers say that the slim silhouette will continue way past this spring. Norman Hartnell, designer to the royal family, says it'll be tops for at least a year.

The designers agree about the shape of clothes generally . . . but are inconsistent on some details. For instance, Jacques Fath (Zhahk Fat), a pace-setter from Paris, plunges the neckline to daring new depths. Another from Paris, Hubert de Givenchy (Oo-behr Duh Guh Van-Shee), raises the front . . . but bares the back. New York designers contend that the stand-away neckline's the thing. In this case, the neck of the dress or suit—or even coat—is built out away from the throat. In some cases it's just enough to show a couple of three strands of beads . . . and in others, it's a giant cuff.

Coats generally are thinned down in line . . . but the trend toward deep armholes, wide sleeves and standaway neck make even the looser coats seem to taper into a wedge shape. The push-up sleeve retains its popularity in coats as well as other garments.

And you'll notice that many suits have the three-quarter sleeve instead of the traditional wrist-length.

Although slimness is the rule of daytime, fullness is the order of the evening. And the waltz length—hitting just above the ankles—continues popular.

One designer, Maurice Rentner of New York, uses free-flowing panels to achieve the billowing look. Panels drift from shoulder or waistline of dresses in linen and sheer wool, as well as filmy silks.

The sweater influence is greater than ever . . . with many jackets built along the lines of the college girl's cardigan. Knitted dresses are popular . . . and, thanks to the miracle fibres, can take to details not possible before. Permanent pleats, tiered skirts, tweedy looking two-piece outfits—all have been created in knitwear . . . and all can be dumped safely into the suds.

You'll see more trimming than in many a year . . . with jewels just as plentiful on daytime outfits as evening. There's all over embroidery on everything from bathing suits to coats, to formal evening gowns.

Black, white, navy and grey are as popular for the Easter parade as ever . . . but you'll also see plenty of the beiges, pinks, yellows, greens, pale blue and violet.

THE WESKIT

As a natural result, probably, of the recent big to-do over fancy weskits for men, weskits for women are looming large on the spring fashion scene. These trim little garments will give a dandified air to many a spring outfit, particularly the boxy jacket suit.

Spring Fashions in Beacon Hill Park

A Smart Suit or Coat is Start In Wardrobe for Easter Parade

Plans for making a showing in the soon-to-come Easter parade begin with a becoming suit or coat, and local stores are featuring the smartest of both to start you off right with your spring outfit.

Coats have a flare for easy fit, but are never full enough to be bulky. Newest are the ones that are button-free, designed to hang straight to show off a suit or dress or to wrap around snugly on chillier days.

Fabric-wise, it's the checks, the stripes, and the tweeds, usually rough-finished, that rate headlines. They're bulky materials that make up perfectly into the season's smoother stylings.

Beige has never been better as a color choice, so tailored camels' hair coats rate mention.

TWEEDS SHOWN

Turquoise, grey, and white nubby tweed is used for a buttonless coat with rounded, stand-up collar and cuffs that adjust to the depth you wish. Another, similar but with double-breasted effect, is done in novel pink tweed. These are both $34.95.

Also tweed, this time grey, green and white, is a coat with one button at its shawl collar and a deep V yoke at the back topping a deep inverted pleat. The price tag reads $49.75.

At $65, there's a picture-pretty coat in pale yellow fleece with a yoke coming to points over the chicken-leg sleeves and continuing to form deep square armholes. A cluster of tiny buttons snugs the neckline.

The lining of this coat is so attractive that it's a shame it doesn't show more. It's pale gold and silver striped taffeta.

A made-in-Vancouver model is reversible, with mauve cut fleece on one side and mauve-and-tan basket weave wool on the other. It's also $65.

More extreme are the fitted coats, one in blue and black worsted with an attached fringed stole, and another of grey flannel with a zig-zag welt seam cutting it in half sideways.

SUIT VARIATION

The "match-box" jacket suit is the first variation on the tailored theme that has really caught on, with many Victorians finding it an easy-to-wear style.

The jacket often makes a separate topper to wear with other skirts or over a dress.

One suit especially designed for separate wear has a three-button boxy jacket of pink and grey frosted check combined with a straight-lined black worsted skirt.

Light blue boucle fashions the jacket of another suit, which has four patch pockets and bracelet-length sleeves. The skirt is of smooth blue fabric and the outfit has its own tie of colorful striped silk to match the jacket lining. The price is $49.75.

Ensembles are newly important on the style scene. One unique combination is made up of a lime-yellow tweed match-box jacket with shawl collar, front facing and cuffs in grey worsted to match the skirt.

The "extra" that goes along with this is a turtle-neck blouse in lime-yellow wool jersey, included in the $69 price.

Another outfit is in beige spring - weight boucle with blouse and jacket lining in multi-colored taffeta. It's also $69.

Fresh New Versions Of the Dainty Blouse

Although suit silhouettes have changed, your need for the blouse that goes underneath remains constant. You want it in fresh new versions to go under the suit with a fitted jacket and under the new boxy jackets as well.

Flattering necklines will enhance many of your jackets. Those cut high and finished with soft or crisp bows pose prettily under your chin and give that finished look to your costume. Others have darling little collars; some take to pearls and other costume jewelry. Infinite are the many bib touches in tailored types and dressy sheers with lace inserts. Your arms can be bared in the many sleeveless blouses or show through long sheer sleeves finished in pretty ruffles or cuffs at the wrist. Between lengths end somewhere at or above the elbows.

Whether your blouse hides under a fitted jacket or shows off under a boxy one, it can be in a variety of fabrics—lovely sheer Swiss organdies and cottons; pure silk and the many synthetics or blends. Consider the new stantung type cotton weaves that have the look and feel of silk, the crisp finish that is permanent and lasts through a lifetime of launderings.

Lighter and Brighter Note for Men's Wear

With spring at hand, the man who knows the value of good grooming sizes up his wardrobe with an eye not only to the replacements he will heed among his suits and coats, but to two other aspects as well: the clothes he lacks for certain aspects of social and business life, and the need to keep up with the times with clothes which have the newest fabric and cut!

When he enters his clothing store this spring, the average man will find that styles for 1953 place heavy emphasis on lighter, brighter colors and on fabrics greatly reduced in weight to reiterate the newer "natural look."

This "lighter, brighter look" is the biggest news in styles for spring.

In every aspect of apparel—from the lightweight shirt he buys for golf, to the suit and topcoat he purchases to create that important "successful-looking" appearance in business—the shopper will find this "brighter lighter look."

When he shops for his new spring suit, the style-conscious man will find that the greatest variety in fabrics, colors and stylings will be found in suits of all-wool tropical worsted and in the new lightweight woolens.

Despite the countless new fibers and blends, most advances in suit styling and newest textures are introduced first in wool and later adapted by the makers of blends and other fibers.

A variety of suit models is available for spring and — depending upon the section of the country—the shopper can take his choice not only of single and double-breasted suits, but also of three-button, two-button and single-button models of single-breasted suits.

When it comes to spring topcoats and overcoats, unencumbered freedom of movement is the main interest of their designers. First choice on the topcoat scene is the single-breasted raglan-sleeve style, shown for spring in a wide variety of the handsome woolen weaves.

The balmacaan or bal collar topcoat is newer looking and placed second in popularity. It has a less formal appearance, as the bal collar is a true collar and does not extend into lapels. Because of this, it is most suitable for wear in the afternoon.

The concealed fastening featured in topcoats in past seasons gives way to an open display of buttons. Three and four buttons are used in single-breasted topcoats and overcoat models, and usually are large, dark, and made of horn.

Overcoats continue to be made largely with the more suitable and formal inset sleeves, although raglan sleeves, take first place in the new topcoat. Notched lapels retain importance in both overcoats and topcoats.

There is one item of clothing that virtually every man needs—a surcoat. Surcoats are the solution for the problem of what to wear for casual sports and around-the-house outdoor activities.

This jacket falls to mid-thigh, and usually closes by a slide fastening down the front. Low front pockets for items such as shotgun shells or other equipment for outdoor sports may have slots to allow the hands to be warmed as well.

SHIRTS HAVE NEW COLLARS

The cut of shirt collars for spring is a radical departure from what has been seen in the past.

The new collars fill the function of carrying the eye along the line of the body, heightening the slim look. This is brought about by a shortening of the collar—the short collar is the "only" collar, men's stores will tell you.

The main new collar styles are the sharp point in a fairly wide spread, and the round-pointed collars. One of the best of the short points is cut so that the angles on the inside and outside of the points are almost equal; it makes people note the longer line of the body of the tie and of the jacket.

It is a fashion axiom that vertical lines flatter the larger figure, and this spring's coat and dress ensembles and redingotes are just right for the mature woman who finds suits hard to wear. The redingote has another advantage for the large woman—it enables her to wear a touch of gay, spring-like print which might not be flattering to her in a complete dress.

Fabric Interprets Style In Many Spring Costumes

By MARIAN RAHL

There's a fresh, new appearance to spring fashions and if you look closely you will realize that the fabric is often responsible for their charm and appeal. While the silhouette achieves a new slim line, it takes fabric to interpret it for daytime, for casual wear and for those important later hours when daydreams turn into reality. Texture and light hand come to mind as one reviews the woolen costumes in so many of the collections by top designers.

There's an airy look to less densely surfaced woolens and a polished suppleness to worsteds. At Forstmann the 1953 collection of fabrics are grouped and these, different categories show the fashions for the new season ahead.

Sheer dress worsteds come in many versions from tissue crepes to sheer novelty patterned effects. Pure silk lends its decorative touch to fabrics such as Silkolaine, which has the appearance of raw silk, an effect achieved by combining thick and thin yarns. Elfinette is a fine worsted rep supple as silk. These fabrics with the "light touch" are being made into sheaths, coatdresses, suits and even coats.

When you shop for a new spring costume you will frequently see that these same featherweight woolens and worsteds have been used as suitings. They interpret with more success the new shirt-waist suit jacket and the jacket which is soft in line and hugs the hipline. They are right, too, for the narrow dress that must fit the figure close and true. Tweeds are suggested in a group of novelty fabrics and mixtures that follow the general trend to less weight.

There's a movement away from densely surfaced poodle treatments. Coatings such as the closely curled Mirelga herald this trend and for spring it appears in new two-tone versions as well as solid colors. Boucle, looping and unusual surface treatments are tempered, too. A crisper, detailed, raised look—tiny dots, ribs and knot-like twists—replace the wind-blown appearance of last season. These "tempered textures" make handsome full-length coats. Another group with excitement combines different textures artfully dyed to match. "Costume companionates," as these fabrics are described, have been seized upon by many designers who develop them into wearable costumes such as jacket and dress; jacket, skirt and stole or the dress with its companion coat.

Dress-weight worsteds Tunisette and Ispana; and suit-weight worsteds Nympheen and Romanza have the subtle crisp chic of alpaca although no alpaca is used to give them the expensive luxury look so characteristic of this fabric.

Of course, old favorites such as cashmere, camel hair and the newer zibilene await you in many handsome spring costumes, also.

Delicate Fabrics Create Gowns for Spring Brides

There is much in the way of fashion news to interest the bride-to-be of spring, 1953! There's the "debutante" look with the fuller-than-ever cotillion skirts created of the airiest of fabrics . . . the barer look in bridal and bridesmaids' gowns . . . and the new importance of bridal separates.

The "deb" gown" for the bride is definitely of the formal gown design with a full skirt that billows out from a tiny waistline. This type of wedding gown is floor-length and is designed of the sheerest fabrics. Foremost among the fabric choices are: nylon tulle or net, laces, with a definite emphasis on "imported," plain and embroidered organdies, and silk organdies.

The barer look in bridal gowns is achieved with the strapless bodice, always shown with a separate cover-up jacket or stole, or through the wider decolletage and off-shoulder treatments. If a net yoke is used, it is highlighted with pearl embroidery or lace applique where it joins the bodice.

In addition to the floor-length gown, the ballerina and the waltz length (just above the ankles) are leading favorites.

Separates are gaining much importance in the bridal picture. They are usually shown in a waltz-length skirt, bare top bodice, tiny jackets, lace gauntlets, and pleated cummerbunds to achieve the one-piece look.

Enchanting separates are shown for the bridal party, too. They feature styling that makes them appropriate for formal wear later. Satins, silk taffetas, nylon net or tulle, laces and embroidered organdies all appear in the separates field. Furthermore, there is equal representation of informal, semi-formal and formal designs in the three popular lengths.

An exciting newcomer in the bridal picture for spring is the color, forsythia yellow. This pastel is being shown in wedding gowns of embroidered organdie, as well as in dresses for the attendants.

Men Step Out In Fashion Parade

A casual, single-breasted suit in light grey fine worsted with brown felt snap brim hat is tops in men's fashions in the Easter parade.

Charcoal New In Sportswear

Youth's fashions are abreast of men's wear, in most instances, in spring and summer apparel lines from manufacturers from coast to coast.

For example, men's sport shirt lines for 1953 stress such ideas as mitred collars, coin size overall patterns, and slub and nubby fabric. So, too, do boys' shirts for spring.

Charcoal, a color accent in men's clothing and sportswear, "pops up" in various boys' items too.

In swimwear, manufacturers create trunks and cabana sets "just like pop's" styles for younger fry.

Washability is stressed by boys' wear resources to help minimize mother's laundry problems.

Trims in new treatments, including picture frame collars, show up strongly in shirts. And, like Dad's, Junior's collar for '53 is a shorter point, with rounded, always widespread styling.

Pullovers look big for summer in knits—some nylonized for extra wear—and cottons. And, denim sportswear—faded blue, faded green and fireman red—leads the parade.

LIGHTER SUIT

It's amazing how fresh and appealing the little fitted suit continues to appear in a season when the boxy jacket suit has definitely carved itself an important niche in fashion. Easy to wear and extremely flattering, the fitted suit moves from daytime styles to those fussed up for evening. In addition to woolens are interesting blends such as rayon and acetate which resemble wool. These lightweight suits are wearable now under your little furs and later without them.

One of the happiest ways to greet the coming spring, at least millinery wise, is in a white hat. White is good with newsy beige, with traditional navy, with just about every color you can name, and crisp white straw sailors, pillboxes and toques will top many an Easter outfit.

PRINT DESIGNS

Impressionist designs recall fields of flowers, Persian miniatures, large branches of flowers of Chinese inspiration, waves, seashells, tortoiseshell, fruits, vegetables (tomatoes, peas, pineapple), bright birds, blurred water-color prints. Cotton is printed like silk in dark tones, silk printed like cotton in fresh childish flowers. "Fool-the-eye" prints give the impression of volume.

"Yes and No"

The big question about shoulders—to reveal or conceal? Cabana's charming halter dress says "yes and no" with a halter dress and stole in a taffetized cotton print; gently bouffant, it is equally good day time or date-time. McMullen rivals the print with a gaily-striped chambray, and reveals slightly with a decollete (or not) neckline on a smart, flouncy frock.

Cotton Khaki and White Chiffon Combined To Make Unusual Suit

The designers have combined unlikely fabrics to make dresses and suits even more unusual.

One designer (Jane Derby) combines cotton khaki with white chiffon for a spring suit. The flared skirt and short jacket are of khaki, the tucked blouse of white chiffon.

Another designer (Nettie Rosenstein) combines navy printed Shantung with grey flannel in a dress and coat ensemble. She uses a new linen and wool fabric which looks like tweed for some of her tailored suits. A chiffon Shantung is used in evening dresses — co-ordinated with fleece coats of thin mohair.

One of the prettiest coat fabrics is called pearl fleece . . . a woolen, with a white pile over a rose pink background.

One sportswear house (B. H. Wragge) features linen dresses with sleeveless mesh cardigans . . . hand-crocheted to resemble fish net.

Straw lace is a favorite for both daytime and evening skirts. Tops usually are made of softer fabrics, though the new straw weaves are more flexible than last year's. One designer (Elizabeth Arden) uses white straw lace for a sheath evening dress, with a flounce of white nylon net flaring from the knees to the floor.

Another manufacturer (Filcol) uses straw-braiding, sewn together in narrow horizontal bands, for some striking sheath dresses, of beige, black and white. This same concern uses texture-on-texture idea for short evening dresses on demure lines. One dress is of pink-embroidered Swiss organdy, with the slip or underlayer of pink taffeta. The embroidery is a heavy application of lace flowers. One designer (Hannah Troy) uses men's shirting to line jackets. Accompanying dresses are of the same shirting.

This spring you'll see satin belts on linen dresses . . . white val lace ruffles on tailored grey flannel, seersucker dotted with rhinestones, ermine trim on a checked cotton evening dress, and a pink satin weskit worn with a white pique dress.

These unusual treatments haven't crowded out familiar fabrics, such as wool jersey, or comfortable fashions such as the basic black dress . . . although this spring, the basic dress is more probably navy, grey or beige.

The new star for cocktails is the print dress. It is everywhere, bright, gay, likhtweight and new. Decolletes are generous and often draped. Schiaparelli's Double-V (Victory) necklines have a small V in front, a deeper V in the back.

As for fabrics pattern, the big news this year is in prints . . . which are in greater profusion than in many a year, but with some drastic changes made.

Flowers seem to have about disappeared. Like as not, the print will be an abstract type, or be inspired by leopard or tweed.

One designer (Adele Simpson) has created dresses, jacket dress costumes and coat dress combinations with both tweed and fur prints.

Another designer (Mollie Parnis) uses white, grey or black for a spring print dress topped with a raw silk coat, lined in the same print.

Another house (Elfrega-Fox) uses satin, printed like leopard's skin, for the lining of a suit jacket.

One designer (Nettie Rosenstein) prints the leopard markings on silk crepe, chiffon and cotton voile.

ZINGO !

Clothes do not make a woman—but they do help. Victoria girls DO NOT take a back seat to anyone when it comes to beauty and personality — and they need not bow to anyone in the art of dressing attractively. Victoria's fine specialty shops offer fashions and accessories in styles and quality on par with those found in any of the leading fashion centres of the world.

A new spring outfit is not complete without appropriate accessories to match. B.C. Craft House (if you'll pardon the plug) at 884 Fort St., offers Victoria girls custom - made handbags and belts at factory-made prices—in styles adapted from the leading fashion magazines, from your own ideas, or originals by Hudson. Whether it be saddle leather bucket bags, suede box bags, tartan pouch bags or morocco traveling bags—they can be made to suit you at B.C. Craft House. We like making them and you'll like carrying them, so drop in soon, won't you?

Do Victoria girls lack zingo? NO by jingo!

Textile Display 'Biggest' Ever

Visitors to the textile section of the British Industries Fair to be held at Earl's Court, London from April 27 to May 8 are promised the "biggest ever" display.

Among the high-class worsteds to be shown, the emphasis will be on the Melange cloths—fine-corded cloths of blended grey and white yarns that are already making up the most distinguished models in the couture collections. This cloth has a supple quality appropriate to the slim-skirted, softly tailored suits now being shown with draped necklines or soft collars and boxy jackets.

SPRING SUITS ON DECLINE

In the woollen ranges the emphasis is on tweeds, in mixtures of pastel colorings. Some mills are making a tweed coating in a large fleck mixture weave co-related with light-weight dress cloth of the afgalaine type.

Cottons shown at the fair are bound to create immense interest. For evening wear and garden party frocks there will be screen-printed organdies and Sea Island cottons with trailing, realistic floral designs incomporating vast repeats. Much to the fore will be the permanent gold-printed designs.

The glazed finish, which had the crackly handle of a furnishing chintz only 12 months ago, has been advanced to such a degree that it can be modified to suit any fabric.

In decorative fabrics for formal wear nylon is playing an increasingly important part. It is used in lames, brocades, voiles and taffetas in combination with metal threads.

New to the fair will be terylene, a polyester fibre produced in two categories—filament and staple fibre. It is warm to the touch, has a low stretch in the yarn, is crease-resistant, keeps its shape wet or try, is easily washed, dries quickly and needs no ironing; has high strength and resistance for rubbing, is moth-proof and mildew-proof and is resistant to weather and sunlight, paritcularly behind glass.

New Silhouette

Seymour Fox introduces Fanfare, a new coat silhouette with 16 fan pleats graduating to graceful fullness at the hem. Straight front.

Comfortable Seating For TV Viewers

The room with the television set is the one to which everyone in the family gravitates. The addition of television into any home immediately poses a seating problem which did not previously exist. There are always extra guests who have to be comfortably seated, as well as the family.

Sectional suites are ideal for your TV room because they allow so many convenient seating arrangements, and are highly adaptable to any size or shape of room. These sectional pieces appeal tremendously to artistically inclined homemakers, for they lend themselves to a large variety of useful and decorative arrangements.

Chesterfields placed along one wall and directly facing the set make comfortable seats for your TV guests, yet they avoid a cluttered look in your room. Whatever type of seating you choose, comfort is the main ingredient which makes your TV get-together a success.

Airfoam cushioning for extra comfort is now more and more in demand. Wool frieze or the new tweedy look in fabrics is favored, and a soft blending of color tones provides a restful atmosphere to promote relaxation. Among the favorites are tones of sage green, lipstick red, forest green, beige, soft delicate rose and colour combinations.

TV can be so much better when enjoyed in completely comfortable surroundings where guests may relax and not feel that they are in the way.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Anybody happen to have a spare portrait of President Dwight D. Eisenhower?

The only picture now on display in the office of Victoria's United States consul is of Mr. Harry Truman.

Dear Between Times:

The enclosed picture (of two kiddies building a snowman, allegedly in Victoria) is from the Family Herald & Weekly Star, Feb. 26, 1953. It was sent to us by my father who lives in Vancouver. We have recently left Vancouver to live in Victoria, and we are constantly getting good-natured digs about the weather here.

One cannot dispute a picture, but we feel this picture isn't all it appears to be. Can you enlighten us, please

Yours Truly,
MRS. A. G. EARLE.

I am sorry to say, Mrs. Earle, that in this case at least, photographs do not lie.

The picture was snapped by Sidney Potts, of the B.C. Government photographic branch, at his home on the Old West Saanich Road, about a mile from Brentwood, in January of this year.

Those of us who live in the banana belt of Greater Victoria do not realize the hardships undergone by residents of the outlying districts—although I might say the snow in question did not last more than a day.

As for your Vancouver-dwelling father, you might tell him there is no danger of a similar picture being taken in his city.

You cannot take pictures in Vancouver.

The fog is too thick.

Punch and I must regretfully refuse a pair of free tickets to a function planned for Monday, April 6.

A thoughtful gentleman brought them in yesterday, and offered them to us if we would promise faithfully to attend.

The tickets were to a tea and bridge, to be held by the Cats' Protection League.

Unfortunately, Punch and I will be out of town on that day.

We had better be.

Otherwise, I feel we would need considerably more protection than the cats.

Roberta Dickinson, 941 Victoria Avenue, says that if it is true the younger generation can't spell very well, it has lots of company—herself included.

This was brought home to her rather forcibly this week, by a letter from her uncle, an 88-year-old parson in England.

She has been corresponding with him regularly for a good many years, but it was only in his last letter that he revealed his patience had worn thin.

"Please stop referring to me as though I were a firearm," he wrote, plaintively.

You see, Miss Dickinson had been addressing her letters to "The Rev. Cannon A. W. Batchelor."

Old Couple Faces Trial for Assault

Trials of Phillip Phinis, 84, and Margaret Beasley, 75, of 530 Selkirk, and Hilda Wilkins, 532 Selkirk, on charges of assault causing injuries, were set for March 25 in city police court today.

Phinis and Mrs. Beasley are jointly charged with assaulting and injuring Mrs. Wilkins on March 5. The two elderly people, defended by Jack Gatehouse, have charged Mrs. Wilkins with committing the same offense against them. Her counsel is Joseph McKenna.

Area Water Board Delays Decision On Sooke Logging

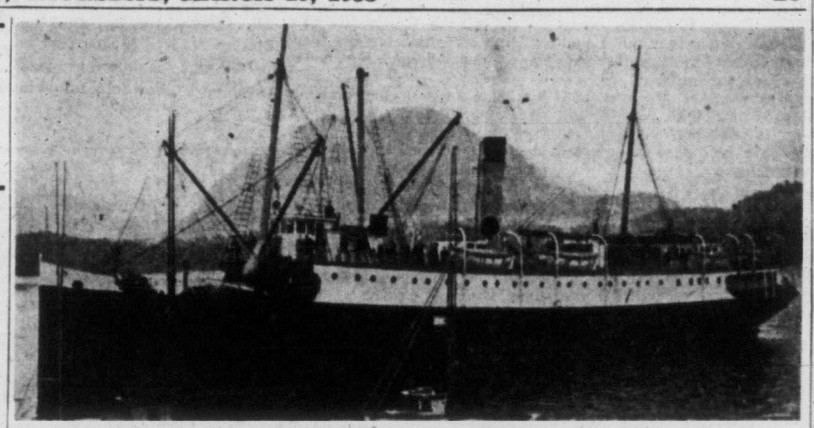
Greater Victoria Water Board Wednesday tabled the question of holding municipal referendums on logging on Sooke Lake watershed in order to study "methods" of procedure.

Mayor Claude Harrison favored asking the provincial government for a change in the Water District Act to making the holding of a plebiscite mandatory.

Reeve Joseph Casey of Saanich, chairman, felt no municipality would refuse to hold a plebiscite and advocated asking each municipal council to take such action.

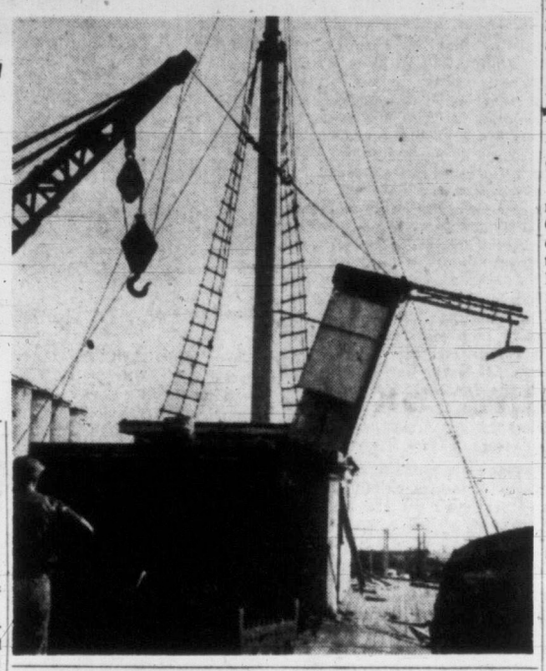
He thought the plebiscites could be held at the December elections.

The board awarded two contracts for logging in Niagara canyon and a small tract on Goldstream to A. G. Manzer & Sons Ltd. Estimated revenue to the board will be $80,000.



Shipbreakers End Saga of Maquinna

Once the favorite friend of all residents of the West Coast of Vancouver Island, Ss. Princess Maquinna is now in the hands of shipbreakers at Ogden Point. She is being stripped of all her comforts, her machinery is being ripped out of her hull, and she'll end her days as a bulk cargo carrier, plodding along at the end of a tugboat's towline. Photo above shows Maquinna as she looked toward the end of her 39-year career. At right, shipbreakers tear away the starboard wing of her bridge. (Times Photo by Strickland.)

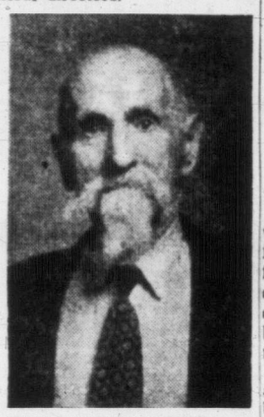


City Elder, Sam Rainey Dies at 102

Victoria lost its oldest citizen Wednesday.

Sam Rainey, a fighting Irishman, who was 102 years and three months old, died at his residence, Selkirk Lodge, 819 Fort Street.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by McCall Bros., funeral directors.



THE LATE SAM RAINEY

Mr. Rainey came to Victoria in 1912 after roaming the United States and Europe as an elephant keeper with Barnum & Bailey's giant circus. He gained employment here driving a two-horse delivery wagon.

He remained active until a few years ago.

Mr. Rainey was born into a family which lived to great ages. His father died at 104.

As a young man he was the central figure in a long legal dispute involving property in Ireland. The Duke of Manchester was supposed to have evicted the Raineys from their farm by using violence, and young Sam was supposed to have regained the farm by force on three separate occasions.

The story was that he won the farm back in a court battle after the Evicted Tenant's Bill was passed in 1908.

Mrs. Margaret Rainey, Mr. Rainey's estranged wife, died three weeks ago of accidental gas poisoning.

Medical Officer Declares Oak Bay No 'Poor Relation'

Oak Bay is not a "poor relation bumming off the city," according to Oak Bay medical health officer, Dr. Neil Stewart.

Council heard his quarterly report on the state of municipal health Wednesday night, then commented on remarks reportedly made by city authorities to the effect that health services were literally amalgamated.

Council asked the doctor if there was any truth in the talk.

Dr. Stewart stated that as the provincial department of health supplies the items needed for baby clinics and other health department work to both the city and municipalities, it has been a time-saver to pick up his stores from the Victoria stocks.

Beyond that he said there is nothing done jointly with the city.

The report showed that Oak Bay is healthy. There has been an increase in babies treated at the clinic. And except for 22 cases of chickenpox in January, the municipality has been almost free of infectious disease.

The municipal death rate was described as being only 11 per 1,000 of population.

"Does this mean one lives to be 90 in Oak Bay?" asked Clr. P. Birley who was figuring rapidly.

"Must be the Oak Bay air," said Clr. G. Gregory.

AMALGAMATION FORMULA

Area Debt Levy Plan Would Lighten Load

This is the third in a series of articles prepared from a brief by Forrest L. Shaw on the amalgamation of Victoria, its three surrounding municipalities, and the View Royal district. The articles are being presented by The Victoria Daily Times as a public service.

By FORREST L. SHAW

In order to insure that no one will be unduly burdened with those parts of past debts that represent expenditures from which they could argue they would receive no benefits, the servicing of the remaining debts of each municipality should be a levy on present areas for say a period of 10 years after amalgamation. By that time the combined present debts would be reduced to such an extent that they would no longer be a burden on anyone.

As far as the municipalities and unorganized areas which are now lacking in services, those services would be financed by bond issues of the amalgamated area, but the taxes for servicing that debt should fall upon the municipal or unorganized area (View Royal) as it stood before amalgamation until that particular debt is liquidated. Some of these services such as sidewalks and boulevards could be provided under local improvement by-law.

Interim Elections for Four Years

In order to insure that a council which is truly representative of the whole area would be in existence during say four years from the date of amalgamation my suggestion would be that the council for the Greater Victoria area consist of eight aldermen and the mayor.

At the first election one alderman be elected from each of the outside municipalities and one from the View Royal area, four from Victoria and mayor elected at large. It could further be provided that the reeves holding office at the date of amalgamation of the three adjoining municipalities be declared their aldermen for the first two-year term.

After the expiration of the four years all aldermen and the mayor should be elected at large as a ward system of electing representatives does not insure the most efficient council in the long run, and is only suggested here as a means of overcoming a present difficulty.

In the fourth article of this series, Mr. Shaw discusses difficulties to be overcome before amalgamation can be achieved.

House Committee to Veto Fixed Parking Assessment

City of Victoria's application to allow a five-year fixed assessment on parking buildings will be rejected by the legislature's private bills committee, it was learned today.

The city wanted the fixed taxation authority to encourage investment in parking buildings, which would ease congestion on city streets.

The committee considered granting of such concessions dangerous in principle because other businesses would want similar treatment.

The committee is expected to reject the city's request for permission to enact legislation allowing cars to pass on the right hand side of laned streets.

The city's agreement for sale of the Ogden Point grain elevator to Hallet & Carey Ltd. will be approved.

Constable Finds Purse-Snatcher's Loot, Still Intact

A purse, reported snatched when Mrs. Annie Adelaide Swanston, 64, of Langford, was attacked last Sunday night, has been found.

It still contained $6.10 in cash and money orders worth $85.

It was found late Wednesday by Constable J. L. Cotter, RCMP, in his front yard at 323 Menzies.

Mrs. Swanston received a broken left wrist and facial injuries in her encounter with a young man, who she reported, slashed her across the face, grabbed the purse and ran away. A loose catch on the purse resulted in most of the contents being scattered in his flight.

Mrs. Swanston is in St Joseph's Hospital, her condition satisfactory.

City Increases Car Allowances

City Council sitting on estimates today agreed to increase car mileage allowance from 8 to 10 cents.

City Manager Cecil Wyatt recommended the increase and suggested $5,000 be put in the estimates to cover it.

City employees recently appealed for an increase and suggested the provincial government rate of eight cents for small cars and 11 for big cars be adopted.

Mr. Wyatt suggested the flat rate for city employees using their own cars on city business.

Victoria Labor Body Wants Pritchard Back

Victoria Labor Council (CCL) on Wednesday night decided to urge the provincial government to reappoint C. W. Pritchard to the Workmen's Compensation Board when his term expires.

"We have confidence in his honesty and integrity," the council stated.

Tab License System May Be Abandoned

Waiter Denies Disposing of Stolen Goods

Crown's Witness Contradicted

Garnet Baker, waiter at Half Way House beer parlor, described in Assize Court Wednesday as "a known fence," today took the witness stand and denied the allegation.

LS William Gordon had testified Wednesday he had disposed of stolen butter through Baker.

Gordon already has been sentenced to three months' imprisonment for theft of navy stores.

Baker, called as a crown witness in the case against Walter Gallaugher, 1817 Quadra Street, charged with stealing a quantity of meat from HMCS Naden last January 31, admitted knowing Gordon but maintained he had never disposed of anything for him.

Baker recalled seeing both Gordon and Gallaugher in the beer parlor on the night in question, and recalled they left together about 11 p.m.

REPRIMANDED

During the course of his testimony Baker was stopped by Mr. Justice J. V. Clyne and told to go outside and get rid of some gum he was chewing.

Most of the morning was taken up by evidence of RCMP investigators. Two statements which Gallaugher gave voluntarily to the police were admitted as evidence.

In the first statement given February 4, Gallaugher said that someone had borrowed his car and had taken it away while he remained in the beer parlor. In the second statement, dated February 10, he admitted going with Gordon to HMCS Naden's main galley where he said Gordon picked up two packages.

The statement said in part: "I told him I would have no part of taking anything."

Gallaugher admitted in the statement that he had an interest in a delicatessen but stated he had never dealt in contraband goods.

Gaglardi to Confer On Highway Route

Public Works Minister Philip Gaglardi said Wednesday night he is going to Edmonton for a conference on the proposed Yellowhead Pass route for the Trans-Canada Highway.

The conference will be held Saturday and four western provinces will be represented.

Mr. Gaglardi said last month that British Columiba is "most anxious" for an immediate start on the highway.

CCF Meeting Hears Cost of Education Frills Defended

Speakers at a CCF-sponsored public meeting in Connaught Seamen's Institute Wednesday night gave qualified approval to present expenditures on education.

Stanley Murphy, a teacher, said technical training and domestic science courses had produced valuable workers in society who otherwise might have left school early and remained unskilled laborers.

"Equipment for these courses is costly but necessary," he said.

School curricula have been designed to suit private enterprise, said Fred Bevis, who admitted that "teachers do as good a job as possible under these circumstances."

Colin Cameron suggested that in comparison to expenditures on liquor and war preparations, school costs were not too high, but he doubted if the money was well spent.

"We now have a mass of ignorant minds unable to decide, without emotional upsurges, how world problems should be solved," he said. "It would be worth all our surplus wealth if we could train minds to visualize a society which did not have to spend huge amounts on atomic bombs to kill other humans."

CNR Veteran Dies Among His Flowers

Saanich fire department resuscitator crew worked for an hour Wednesday afternoon but was unable to revive Frederick Lea, 68, of 1690 Kisber, after he collapsed in his garden.

Mr. Lea was a member of the CNR Veterans' Association and the BESL branch of the Canadian Legion.

He is survived at home by his widow.

Funeral services will be held Monday from Chaplin's funeral parlor, Rev. J. Clerihue officiating.

B.C. Expected to Drop Scheme Police Find Far From Fool-Proof

British Columbia probably will abandon its new car license "tab" system which was instituted this year.

It is expected commercial licenses will be issued next year under the old system of issuing a whole new plate and number, and in 1955 the former method will be readopted for passenger cars.

Reason for the contemplated reversal is that the present system does not provide the motor-vehicle branch and the police with any fool-proof method of determining rightful ownership of plates.

Except in the cases of licenses issued from the Victoria issuing office, there is no record kept of the serial numbers of tabs sold to motorists. Other issuing offices in the province don't file the numbers of the tabs they sell.

Thus in most parts of B.C. an unscrupulous individual can steal a tab from a car, place it on his own vehicle and nobody can prove a theft.

Even if the police were supplied with the number of a stolen tab, they would be practically powerless to act. They would be seriously handicapped because they can't see the tiny numbers on the tabs without close-up inspection. Unless they had a definite suspect, they'd be faced with the impossible task of checking all tab numbers in any given area.

A return to the old system of passenger cars is not possible until 1955 because the 1954 tabs are already being manufactured.

But next year the Victoria issuing office system of keeping files of tab numbers will be extended to all offices in B.C.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said in the Legislature this week the new system is causing considerable difficulties.

The tab system was recommended by Stevenson & Kellog, management engineers, who studied the whole motor-vehicle branch set-up a few years ago. The five-year driver license was another recommendation from the firm.

FORMULA REVISED

School Costs Cut for City

The city of Victoria will gain from a change announced Wednesday in the Rolston Formula, the new school financing system proposed by the provincial government.

The city, instead of sharing increases in school costs over the 1952 level on a 75-25 basis with the government, will share them equally. Burnaby will get the same deal.

The "watering down" of the formula, a concession to strong opposition from municipal leaders, was announced in the Legislature by Finance Minister Einar Gunderson.

Vancouver will be the only municipality which will be required to pay 75 per cent of the increased school costs. Before the announced change, Victoria and Burnaby fell into this category.

The formula now reads that only "municipalities over 150,000 population" must pay 75 per cent. Previously, municipalities over 50,000 paid 75 per cent.

Civic officials had not worked out what the amendment will save Victoria.

The finance minister, explaining reasons for the change, said the formula is based on a taxation basis "and Victoria's tax base is not clear because of the large amount of tax-free government property."

Burnaby, he said, had a poor tax base. There is not much industry in the municipality, and the school population is increasing faster than the tax base.

The government, Mr. Gunderson said, felt the change necessary in fairness to Victoria and Burnaby.

Vancouver Angry at New Move

George Miller (PC, Vancouver-Point Grey), immediately asked the minister why Vancouver isn't getting some relief.

"It looks like you're just going to crucify the one big city in B.C.," he said angrily. "You're just trying to isolate Vancouver. Why is one city left out on the end of a limb to pay on the 75-25 method."

Vancouver, too, should come in on the 50-50 basis, he said.

"We don't propose to take anything like this lying down," he added.

Bert Price (SC, Vancouver-Burrard), didn't like his own government's plan.

"It looks like Vancouver is being discriminated against because of its size," said Mr. Price.

Mr. Gunderson replied that "size is not the base of this—it is the tax which is the base."

"You jumped into this Rolston Formula before you looked," said William Moore (CCF, Comox).

"We didn't have all the school budgets when we prepared the formula," explained Mr. Gunderson. "Now we have, we can see the need for changes."

E. E. Winch (CCF, Burnaby) complimented the government on being "big enough" to make a change.

"The government should have talked it over with the UBCM and it wouldn't have made mistakes," said Leo Nimsick (CCF, Cranbrook). "You don't know where you're going, but you're going."

"We're on our way," said Premier Bennett.

"Up or out," shouted a CCF-er.

Under the new Rolston Formula, the government will keep the one-third share of the provincial sales tax revenue previously paid to the municipalities. In its place, the government will increase its direct grants to defray education costs on the local level.

School costs paid by municipal taxpayers will be limited to the equivalent of a tax levy of 9 mills on 100 per cent of land and 75 per cent on improvements. Then, if the 1953 costs are higher than 1952, the government will share the increases on a 75-25, 50-50 or 25-75 basis, depending on the size of the municipality.

New School Formula Wins Support in Duncan Area

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES

DUNCAN — The Rolston school finance formula won support at a meeting Wednesday of trustees of Cowichan School District 65 and city, municipal and rural representatives, when the rural body agreed to drop proposed arbitration proceedings.

Reeve A. E. Beasley of North Cowichan felt that for the first time the provincial government would bear a true 50 per cent of the cost of education, particularly in connection with new schools.

He said that because municipal bonds issued earlier for new schools had sold for from $2 to $3 under par, the municipalities had had to bear more than 50 per cent of the load.

Under the Rolston formula, he said, municipalities would no longer finance on their own credit but on government credit.

Mayor J. C. Wragg of Duncan endorsed Reeve Beasley's promised support of a hinted school loan by-law to meet a growing accommodation problem in District 65.

Rural representatives agreed to forego arbitration on school estimates when trustees promised to treat the new Somenos elementary school as a separate school rather than as an annex of the Duncan schools.

Trustees will also consider means of reducing bus transportation costs, a source of complaint by rural representatives.

Buenos Noches, Senor! Please Send Lesson Two

By PENNY SAVER

While we are waiting to hear from the Cisco Kid, compadres, I will tell you about the Frijoles Fritos Arroz Mexicana and Tacos. Si? These foods are put up in tins and called Texas Tavern, complete Mexican dinner for three. Why three, I wonder? Are they trying to encourage the eternal triangle or something. I don't think it would be "baby' making a third on a Mexican dinner. Quien sabe? Maybe your mother-in-law or John's other wife will drop in.

This dinner will cost you $1.59. You get one tin of soft Tacos with meat, one of Spanish Rice, Arroz Mexicana and a Frijoles Fritos, Mexican style fried beans. Heat the cans in boiling water, divide up and serve. Or for a real treat, grate a little cheese and sprinkle some chopped onion over the Tacos. Place platters in the oven until cheese is melted and serve.

You can get extra tins of Spanish rice for 39 cents or Frijoles Fritos for 35 cents. Or for 49 cents, there is a dozen Tortillas. Heat this can in boiling water too, if you like—but listen to this. Place Tortillas in hot grease until soft. Do not allow to become crisp. In each Tortillas, roll two teaspoons grated cheese and two teaspoons chopped onions, like rolling a cigarette. Place three rolls (now how did we get to be three again?) on a platter and sprinkle with cheese and onions. Pour over them a sauce made with one part water and two parts Texas Tavern Chili. Place Enchilades (so that's what we're making) in hot oven until cheese is melted and Enchiladas are thoroughly heated.

Find Out Why Man Balks At Altar, Woman Advised

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

There is an old saying which goes, "You can lead a horse to water but you can't make him drink." This holds just as true for men as it does for horses. You can lead a man right up to the altar, but you cannot force him to marry you. That is why the woman who wrote the following letter should change her tactics. She writes:

Hurlock

(Q)—"I've been going with a widower for four years. I am divorced and we're both 39 years old. Sometimes I ask him, 'Why don't we get married?' but his answer is always, 'Not just yet! I'm not ready.' Sometimes I ask him if he loves me and he says he does love me a lot. Please tell me what to do. I think there are a lot worse things than to marry a divorcee. I know I would be happy with him."

(A)—Have you ever discussed the matter of divorce with this man? A man can love a woman very much but, if he has strong religious or moral beliefs about divorce, he may stop short before he actually goes to the altar.

This man may love you too much to hurt you by telling you that his conscience keeps him from marrying you. He is stalling whenever the question of marriage is brought up by giving you the impression that he is not yet ready to marry.

In all fairness to yourself, as well as to him, you should get this matter straight now. If what is holding him back from marriage now is the belief that it would be wrong for him to marry you because you are divorced, you might just as well know the truth now as years later.

If this is his reason for stalling, then it will be up to you to decide whether you want to continue your friendship on its present basis or whether you want to pull out before you are more emotionally involved than you now are. That decision you and you alone can make.

If, however, he is stalling because his children object to his remarriage or because he has obligations that make it impossible to assume any more financial burdens at present, you will know when to expect the end of this waiting period. Don't try to force him, however, before he is ready to marry. You might spoil your friendship, and you certainly would get no further than you are at the present time.

Elizabeth Hurlock is one of the nation's great psychologists, and she will gladly help you with personal problems.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Man is continually searching for the causes which lie behind aging. More than one eminent authority has believed that it is a disease instead of a necessity.

Years ago Elie Metchnikoff, the well-known bacteriologist, became interested in the idea that self-poisoning might be the reason for the aging process. He investigated the diet of people who lived in the Balkans.

Any facts gleaned were interesting because many of these people lived to be 100 years old and in some regions the average life span was the mid-eighties. Metchnikoff learned that since ancient times Bulgarians have eaten a form of milk known as Yogurt. In ancient India a similar milk was called Dadhi. In the Balkans it was sometimes known as Mieko.

In our intestinal tracts we have two types of bacteria. One group is friendly and one is unfriendly. Yogurt contains large amounts of lactic acid and lactic acid bacteria. These organisms and the acid produced by them promote the growth of the friendly bacteria in the intestines. Yogurt gives you the same food values which regular milk does but with this added attraction.

Constipation is one of modern man's great problems but it is one which yields to a hygienic routine. Some of the causes of constipation are: food which is too concentrated and refined—not enough roughage — poor tone in the intestinal tract, lax abdominal muscle and tension and rush.

You cannot possibly overcome this difficulty if you take laxatives regularly. Leave them alone while you adopt a routine of proper food, exercise and relaxation. You might also add Yogurt to your diet.

The following exercise is one of the best for stimulating peristaltic action and toning the abdominal muscles. Lie on the floor on your back. Bend the left knee, grasp the knee with the hands and pull the leg back toward the stomach. Return leg and arms to the floor. Bend the right knee and do the same thing. Continue, alternating left and right.

My leaflet about constipation has quite a bit of information which is helpful but which does not lend itself to a newspaper column. If you would like to have it send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for "Are You Committing Suicide Slowly?" No. 23, to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Steamed Puddings, Sauces Good on Almost Any Menu

The English are famous for their suet puddings or at least they were before the austerity program. However, most people on this continent serve somewhat lighter types of desserts. The average Canadian homemaker would rather make puddings which do not require long hours of steaming. There are any number of steamed puddings which take only a half hour to one hour to cook and they are bound to be greeted with delight.

TIPS ON STEAMING

When making a steamed pudding there are few things to keep in mind. Home economists state that pudding moulds should not be filled more than two-thirds full. This gives the pudding room to rise. If the mould has no lid, it can be covered with waxed or parchment paper and the paper tied in place. This keeps the steam from condensing on the surface of the pudding. After all no one enjoys eating a steamed pudding that has a soggy top. It is important to be sure that there is always a good supply of steam while the puddings are cooking. A regular steamer is best but a good one can be improvised by placing a wire sieve or a collander in a saucepan. If a collander or a sieve which fits into a saucepan is not available, the pudding may be placed on an inverted heat-proof saucer, small pie-plate or even on a jar ring. An inch or so of boiling water should then be poured into the the saucepan. The saucepan used as a steamer must have tightly-fitting lid or it will boil dry. If water has to be added during the cooking period it is important that it is boiling so that there will be a steady flow of steam.

There are some steamed puddings that are as light as a feather such as the snowball pudding. It is made with a regular white butter cake batter using three egg whites but instead of baking it as a cake it is placed in indivdual greased moulds and steamed for just half an hour. Served with a fruit sause this pudding is really delicious. This light snowball pudding needs comparatively short steaming—just half an hour but pudding with suet and large quantities of fruit must be steamed for a much longer time. Here is where a pressure saucepan is a boon for it cuts dowh the steaming time to about one-third. In most manufacturers' directions for using most pressure saucepans it states that the puddings should be steamed for a short time without pressure. This gives the pudding a good chance to rise and the cooking is completed at fifteen pounds pressure.

SAUCES ARE EASY

Home economists say that steamed pudding should always be served with a sauce. There are a host of delicious sauces that can be used but the applesauce cheese sauce they suggest is very good and certainly is easy to make.

All that has to be done is to combine a 20-ounce tin of applesauce with half of a four-ounce package of cream cheese. After the applesauce and cheese are thoroughly blended the sauce is chilled until it is ready to use. This amount is sufficient for eight servings.

Another easy sauce to make is foamy fruit sauce. It is made by beating an egg white until it is stiff but not dry and then gradually beating in two tablespoons of sugar and a pinch of salt. Continue beating until the mixture holds a peak. This is just the same as an ordinary pie meringue. Then fold into the meringue a half cup of any type of mashed canned fruit. If the fruit is very sweet add a little lemon juice. Chill the sauce until it is ready to be used. What could be more simple — just make a meringue and add mashed fruit. The sauce can be colorful too if it is made with canned cherries or plums.

Handicrafts Exhibition Planned

Mrs. N. Lovrod, Miss M. Moran, Mrs. M. Krogstad and Mrs. H. Turnquist, left to right, are on a commmittee in charge of arrangements for an exhibition of old and new Norwegian handicrafts, to be presented under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Sons of Norway, in the Douglas Room at Hudson's Bay, on March 27, from 3 to 4.30. Afternoon tea will be served with Norwegian delicacies. Mrs. Lovrod will assist in receiving guests. Proceeds will be used for special projects of the Sons of Norway Lodge.

Spring Motif Set Stage for Style Show Presented by College Women

Smartly-dressed guests and attractive co-eds mingled at the spring tea and fashion show given by Women's Undergraduate Society, Victoria College, in the library of the new Ewing Building on Wednesday afternoon. The affair, which commemorated the 50th anniversary of the college, was convened by Miss Robin Maunsell, WUGS president, and Miss Christine Cook, secretary.

The cream and pale green room with its large windows and beautiful paintings, made a perfect setting. Tea tables were decorated in a green and yellow motif and centred with low bowls of spring flowers. Miss L. Gidney opened the tea and Mrs. J. Tracey, Mrs. R. Poisson, Mrs. P. Noble and Miss G. V. Downes presided at the urns.

Recent candidates for the title of Miss Victoria College and the winner, Miss Patti Jones, modeled in the fashion show, which was sponsored by the Hudson's Bay Co. Mrs. Harold Damaske was fashion commentator.

MISS VICTORIA COLLEGE

Enthusiastic applause greeted the latest spring and summer styles worn by the charming co-eds. Patti Jones, "Miss Victoria College," was stunning in a summer formal of gay Roman striped denim, showing one bare shoulder and one covered by straps held together with an oversized brass hook and eye. A cotton fringed stole completed the outfit.

Frances Fredette modeled a lovely graduation gown in lustrous white nylon net. Sweeping 10 inches above the floor, the bouffant skirt was swathed at the waistline by a wide pink sash. Layers of net, with dainty pink satin trim formed the bodice and pocket.

Gwen Bavin displayed a dainty summer formal of fresh white embroidery over ice blue net, featuring a fan pleated bodice and overskirt which was caught up by a bouquet of blue flowers.

Shirley Nutter drew applause in Toreador pants of faded blue denim, trimmed with white piping and buttons, and topped by a halter type bodice with buttoned front. Her outfit was complemented by a casual cap in the same blue denim.

Janet Bowden wore a smart coat in Elizabeth rose shade, of rich mohair and wool, styled with rounded yoke back, club collar, single-button closing and irridescent taffeta lining. She chose a navy blue felt pill box hat for contrast.

TWEED AND TAFFETA

Dorothy Sullivan was lovely in a striking Donegal tweed skirt in brown tones, lined with flamingo red taffeta in a wrap-around style. She topped this with a matching red pullover and a coco brown cincher belt.

Belinda McConnell was charming in a pure wool coat of royal red, featuring a double row of shiny buttons, turn-back cuffs and irridescent lining. With this was worn a white pique Breton sailor hat with black velvet facing.

Sylvia Ditchburn modeled several lovely skirts of Guatemalan cotton. One evening style in tropic green featured a pattern woven in shades of grey, white and silver metallic thread. Another in a wild orchid shade, had an inner-outer blouse of the same material and gay weaving of pink, lavender and white.

Numerous other styles were modeled and outstanding among the hats was the new wide Leslie Monroe cloche, as worn by Patti Jones, in a grey balibuntal straw.

Miss Beryl Harvey was director of the fashion show. Others on the committee for the tea were Miss Pam Temple, publicity; Miss Elizabeth Creery, tea arrangements; Miss Frances Fredette, invitations, and Miss Frances Appleton, publicity. At a special ceremony before the opening of the fashion show, Miss Maunsell presented Mrs. Tracey, the former Miss Phyllis Baxendale, German professor at the college, with a set of handmade copper lapel pins from the undergraduate society, as a wedding gift.

Chapter Sends Coronation Gifts To Adopted School

Coronation coloring books and crayons will be sent to the adopted school at Bear Creek as well as the book "Famous Canadian Stories," it was decided at meeting of Aldyen Hamber Chapter, IODE, at the Ferndale Road home of Mrs. C. Medley.

Mrs. H. B. McClung presided; $45 was voted to the Coronation scholarships and $12 to the milk fund.

Permission has been obtained to erect a "Jungle Gym" indoors at the Victoria Protestant Orphanage for the benefit of the smaller children and all the necessary lumber for the project has been donated, it was reported by Mrs. McClung.

Plans were made for a rummage sale in April; Mrs. H. Langton reported $12.25 cleared through sale of coffee and cookies at Municipal annual meeting; Mrs. J. H. Moore and Mrs. C. Medley were named conveners of services at home and abroad and Empire study respectively, and Mrs. McClung to represent the chapter at the provincial annual meeting in Victoria in early April.

Mrs. Alice Titterle was welcomed as a new member.

Rebekah Club Annual Tea

Lodge colors of green and pink were used decoratively at Oddfellows' Hall Wednesday afternoon, the occasion being the annual spring tea of Victoria Club.

Vice-president Mrs. P. Blackburn introduced Mrs. Margaret Forde, district deputy president, who declared the affair open.

Mrs. Forde was presented with a corsage made of delicate nylon in the lodge colors, handiwork of Mrs. Helen Loat. A shamrock motif was combined with spring flowers on tea tables, and Mrs. Mabel Wood and Mrs. Eleanor Roberts, junior past noble grands, poured tea at a lace cloth covered table, centred with a green bowl of daffodils and pink and green candles.

A sale of home cooking and fancywork was featured under convenership of Mrs. Ada Wilson and Mrs. Helen Brine, and in charge of door receipts were Mrs. Lottie Smoothey and Mrs. M. Fleming.

Projects— At a meeting of Evening Branch, Ganges United Church, it was decided to hold an Easter bonnet tea on April 9 in the Sunday school hall and the branch will sponsor an Easter candy basket stall, April 4, at Mouat Bros. store, Mrs. A. M. Brown convening. Financial statement was read, revealing $691 realized from various activities during the year. Mrs. H. J. McGill presided, and a new member, Mrs. V. Homberg, was installed. Tea was served by Mrs. I. W. Bradley and Mrs. A. M. Brown.

Sheilagh Patrick Married in St. Luke's

A wedding at St. Luke's Church united Sheilagh Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Fagan, Victoria, and Robert Harry Patrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Patrick, Victoria. Rev. F. Pike performed the ceremony and the bride was given away by her brother, P. D. Fagan, in the absence through illness, of her father.

For the simple ceremony she wore a grey tailored suit with navy accessories and carried a white prayer book covered with a cascade of red roses and white hyacinths. Sister of the groom, Miss Betty Patrick, was sole attendant, in a teal blue suit with which she wore pink accessories. Allan Todd was best man.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick are making their new home at Fairway Apartment, 3895 Hobbs Road, Cadboro Bay.

Lake Hill WI Hears Address On Garden Bulbs

Gardening enthusiasts enjoyed an informative afternoon recently, when members of Lake Hill Women's Institute heard an address by Mrs. K. Christiansen, on unusual bulbs for the garden. Mrs. Christiansen showed a basketful of blooms to illustrate her talk.

She described alliums as relations of the common onion. The various varieties of crocus and their product — saffron — used in cakes and medieval medicine; colchicums, erythroniums, fritillarias, iris, chionadoxas and the large families of daffodil and tulip were discussed.

Mrs. Gilbert Howland introduced the speaker and Miss D. G. Cox moved the vote of thanks.

Mrs. K. Massy and Mrs. M. Carruthers served tea, and Mrs. Roscoe Myles presided. Donations of $5 each were voted to the Red Cross campaign and the Solarium.

Author of 'Tristram Shandy' Discussed at Women's Club

A dramatic and entertaining talk was given by Prof. R. J. Bishop, Victoria College, at a meeting of Victoria University Women's Club Wednesday evening.

His subject was, "The Wit of Rev. Laurence Stern, 1713-18," as evidenced in his writing, "Tristram Shandy."

To quote Stern, Prof. Bishop said, "everything in this world, said my father, is big with jest . . ."

By use of his fantastic web of knowledge and interpretation of human nature, the speaker pointed out, Stern employed brilliant parody to point up the follies and foibles of man.

At the same time, Stern is tolerant, so that the joy of life seems to come from imperfections as well as perfections.

The speaker was thanked by Mrs. J. M. Thomas

Club president, Mrs. T. B. Williams, was chairman of the meeting, and during the business session a motion was passed in which the club joined the Business and Professional Women's Club in supporting a bill before the Legislature asking that equal work be rewarded with equal pay, regardless of sex.

Councillor Would Risk Breaking Act

A request by the school board that Oak Bay council donate toward the expenses of students chosen to attend the Coronation was favorably received Wednesday night.

No immediate action could be taken, however, as council fears the Municipal Act prohibits such grants.

"If we gave $100 it would be worth it even if we did get stuck on the matter," said Clr. George Gregory.

The Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau will likely land a grant of $750 when the Oak Bay estimates are passed. This has been an annual grant and is included in proposed 1953 expenditures.

The Victoria Symphony Orchestra will be informed that the council cannot legally donate to its support.

Average temperature range at Brisbane in Queensland, Australia, is between 37 and 98 degrees.

Troops Will Parade to Honor Red Cross

The reserve army will pay tribute to the Red Cross Friday night when troops and mobile armament parade through downtown Victoria.

Vehicles will bear Red Cross banners.

Two heavy duty trucks and at least one heavy field piece will accompany soldiers of the 75th HAA reserve unit under command of Col. James Baird.

The parade will fall in at the parking lot of the Bay Street armories at 8 p.m. and move off along Bay to Douglas, through Douglas to Yates, Yates to Blanshard, returning along Blanshard toward the starting point. The unit band will lead the parade.

The event is planned to draw attention to the current $70,500 Red Cross campaign in Greater Victoria.

Pesticides Used on Foodstuffs Are Possible Danger to Health

No one needs to be told that the food we eat is important to the maintenance of health. In recent years a whole new set of problems has arisen with regard to our daily diet.

Briefly, these may be considered to be the effects of artificial fertilizers on the foods raised in soil so treated, the effects of dusts or sprays aimed at animal or vegetable pests, fungi or weeds, and finally, the influence on the body of chemicals added to foods to preserve their freshness, softness, or other qualities.

It is not possible to consider all these things in a brief newspaper column, and it must be confessed that the answers to many questions raised on these subjects are not known.

Some people feel, for example, that the artificial fertilizers may have a serious effect on the health of the nation, through altering the food products grown under such circumstances.

There is, however, little definite evidence that the effect is either harmful or healthful, and until the scientists are able to obtain more information, there is not much we can do about it. Personally, I am not unduly alarmed.

With regard to the substances used to attack insects and other pests on food-bearing plants or animals, it has been recognized that hazards are created. Two of the scientific councils of the American Medical Association have been interested in this subject, as have other organizations.

It is recognized that when pesticides are poisonous to insects they are usually poisonous to man. They are less poisonous to human beings than to insects, of course, but pesticides carry possible dangers to those who come into direct contact with them. Every effort should be made to keep the food down to the lowest possible level.

In closing an editorial discussion of this subject in the Journal of the American Medical Association it was said:

"Now physicians ask that foods be free from toxic residues of pesticides . . ." This is a subject that requires continued study and in which the efforts of all should be engaged in order to guard our foodstuffs from dangerous contamination.

STUDY OTHER CHEMICALS

Another enormous question relates to the addition of chemicals to various foodstuffs. Work on this subject is also going forward under the auspices of many agencies. In closing a report on this subject, for example, the Council of Foods and Nutrition said:

"Intentional chemical additives, especially those likely to find their way into basic foodstuffs or to find widespread application in a variety of foods, each of which may be infrequently eaten, must not be permitted until the complete harmlessness of these agents can be demonstrated beyond reasonable doubt. Furthermore, the use of additives which lead to a significant decrease in nutritive value should not be permitted."

Canadian Press Editorial Staff Has Guild Revoked

OTTAWA (CP).—The Canada labor relations board today revoked the certification of the American Newspaper Guild CIO-CCL as collective bargaining agency for a unit of editorial workers in The Canadian Press, national news agency.

The decertification followed a vote of CP employees last week in which a majority balloted against continued representation by the guild, certified as bargaining agent for the group in April, 1950.

Noranda Gold Mine Founder Dies at 88

HALIFAX (BUP) — Edmund Henry Horne, the man who found the fabulous Noranda gold and copper mine in Quebec, died yesterday in his 89th year.

He had retired a number of years ago to start a cattle herd on his Monta Vista farm near Halifax. Death came in the Halifax Infirmary.

Horne mined and prospected in Nova Scotia for a number of year before hunting for strikes in Colorado, Nevada, California and British Columbia.

MAJOR CRIMES SHOW INCREASE SAYS HOOVER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Director J. Edgar Hoover of the federal bureau of investigation reported today that 2,036,510 major crimes were committed in the United States in 1952, 154,350 more than the 1951 figure. Hoover said every category of major crime showed an increase. Listed were 12,860 felonious homicides, 17,240 rapes, 87,930 aggravated assaults.

Italy Combats Blast Menace

ROME (AP)—A country-wide campaign has been launched to protect Italian children from death or injury from explosives left over from the Second World War. No exact figures were available, but one estimate said 1,400 children were killed or injured by such explosives in 1950 alone.

BODY FOUND

VANCOUVER, B.C. (BUP).—The body of an RCAF pilot (reserve) has been recovered in Vancouver from the Gulf of Georgia off the mouth of the Fraser River. Twenty-one-year-old Donald Seymour Butcher of Kelowna, B.C., crashed Saturday in a Harvard trainer while on a training flight.

Wreckage Recovered

LAUENBURG, Germany (Reuters)—A British motor convoy went into Soviet Germany Wednesday and collected the wreckage of the Lincoln bomber which Russian MiG-15 jet fighters shot down last week, killing the seven men aboard.

Most of the wreckage fell on the East German side of the border near Boizenburg. Russian soldiers collected the debris and piled it up alongside the inter-zonal highway, West German police said.

RAF men loaded the wreckage into three trailer trucks, while heavily-armed Russian soldiers and East German police stood guard. Two Russian T-34 tanks also were in the area.

U.K. Helicopters To Combat Subs

LONDON (Reuters) — The Royal Navy intends to develop helicopters capable of hunting out and attacking enemy submarines, the Society of British Aircraft Constructors announced Wednesday. It said the helicopters would be ship-based and operate on medium-range patrols. The craft will probably be adapted from large current types, but details on equipment and operating techniques where not disclosed.

BRIDGE LESSON

By Oswald Jacoby

Even the very best bridge players don't always make the perfect play on every hand. This is true of the average bridge player too, but there is an important difference. The average bridge player may miss the correct play in a particular situation and never realize that he has made a mistake.

When the expert misses the right play, however, he eventually sees his mistake and is therefore prepared to make the right play the next time he meets a similar situation.

When today's hand was played in a match point tournament in Pittsburgh, recently, there was no way to defeat the contract of four spades. The only question was whether or not declarer was going to make an extra trick. (In a match point tournament, the extra 30 points for the overtrick are of great importance.)

West opened the king of clubs, continued with the ace of clubs, and then led a low club. E. J. Mori, one of Pittsburgh's great bridge players, ruffed with the deuce of spades, and declarer over-ruffed with the five. "I saw too late," said Mori, in telling me about the hand, "that I had missed a very pretty play."

South next led his singleton diamond to dummy's ace and continued with the 10 of spades from the dummy. The trump finesse succeeded, and South was able to draw all of the trumps with the ace, queen and jack. It was then easy for declarer to take the rest of the tricks, making his contract with an overtrick.

Opening lead—♣ K

Since Mori is a first-class bridge player, he was the first to see his mistake. It's an unusual situation, but you can bet your bottom dollar that if the situation ever recurs he will automatically come through with the winning play.

When West leads a third club, East must ruff with the nine of spades. South must use the jack to over-ruff, and this will eventually cost South a trump trick. South must enter dummy with the ace of diamonds to lead a spade for a finesse through East.

South can easily take two trump tricks with the ace and queen (East will surely cover the 10 with his king), but then West will win the third round of trumps with his lowly eight.

IN TUNE WITH THE TIMES

BY RAY SIDAWAY

Broadcast of the annual Academy Awards dinner will be televised by KING-TV and aired by KOMO tonight.

Eddie Cantor, veteran showman, plays Academy Award-winning tunes on his "Show-business, Old and New" program tonight on KOMO at 6.30. The pop-eyed comic even makes his prediction as to the song that will win the current "Oscar."

His selection? "Because You're Mine."

A search for a missing wedding ring turns the Anderson household upside down on tonight's broadcast of "Father Knows Best" heard on KOMO at 9.

After Jim (Robert Young) delivers a lecture to the family on carelessness, Margaret (Dorothy Lovett) misplaces her wedding band, thereby causing a family turmoil. With the help of her children, Margaret dismantles the sink while Jim takes the furnace apart—each group trying to keep the search a secret from the other.

A soot bath and a minor flood result, but no ring. At the last minute, Kathy (Helen Strohm) turns up with a simple solution to the mystery of the missing ring.

Dinah Shore and Joe Venuti guest with Bing Crosby on the crooner's program tonight, heard on KIRO at 6.30.

Dinah solos one of her lates tunes, "Salome" and also singles on "Capistrano" and "Avalon." Venuti plays his violin arrangement of "Wild Dog."

How a reporter's ingenious reconstruction of the route used by a hit-and-run driver helped solve a heartless killing, will be dramatized on "Big Story" tonight on KOMO at 7.

Reporter Niver Beaman of the Waterbury (Conn.) American interviewed neighbors and worked tirelessly on the case when a 10-year-old boy was struck at the curb of a street by a driver who left him to die.

TONIGHT'S HIGHLIGHTS: Drama — Marlene Dietrich stars in "Chapter in Singapore" on Time For Love on KIRO at 6. . . . Music—John Avison conducts the CBC Vancouver concert Orchestra on CBU at 9. . . . Special Programs—Local Seattleites make TV tryouts on KING-TV at 9. . . . Mystery—The Big Story and how a reporter helps solve a crime on KOMO at 7.

AN AGE OF GREATNESS

No. 65—Trial of Mary

Elizabeth's hand was being forced. There were rumors of her own assassination, of civil war, that the Spaniards had landed at Newcastle. Everywhere the atmosphere of tension increased until Amyas Paulet refused to be responsible for the custody of Mary. Elizabeth ordered her at last to Fotheringay, a royal castle in Northamptonshire. It was to be Mary's last journey before her death. Finally, in October of 1586, after being nearly 20 years a prisoner, Mary Queen of Scots came to trial at Fotheringay before a commission of 36 judges, peers and privy councillors. She was charged with conspiring with traitors to procure invasion of the realm and the death of the Queen. A letter from Elizabeth urged her: "Act candidly, and you may meet with more favor." Mary treated the charge as frivolous. She was a queen, and Elizabth's equal, she claimed. She was answerable only to the law of nature and as Elizabeth's prisoner she had behaved according to it. The court had no right to try her. For two days she defended herself with spirit. And then, before sentence could be pronounced, Elizabeth summoned the court to London.

(Tomorrow: The Verdict Is "Guilty.")

1952 SOCRED ELECTION PAMPHLET 'FINE LITERARY EFFORT' – MARTIN

A 1952 election pamphlet, signed by Health and Welfare Minister Eric Martin, was produced in the Legislature Wednesday by James Bury (CCF, Vancouver Centre).

"Abolish compulsory hospital insurance. Replace it with a voluntary system," Mr. Bury read from the pamphlet in an effort to show the Socreds didn't stick to their election promises.

"The people of B.C. are no longer free (under compulsory BCHIS premium payments) . . . a government elected in the name of free enterprise is applying policies characteristic of a police state," the pamphlet said.

"That was a fine literary effort," replied Mr. Martin. "I am protecting the people of B.C. from the police state by carrying out policies of the compulsory act."

City Skiers Fare Well In Kandahar Event

Last week-end had its share of thrills and spills for Victoria skiers when they visited three popular ski areas.

A fresh fall of snow at Forbidden Plateau welcomed the Kandahar racers Sunday. Willie Leitner and Toni Lamprocht from Victoria Sno-Birds Ski Club placed second and third, respectively, in this even, while Herb Bradley of Comox District Mountaineering Club reached the finish gate first for fastest individual time.

Up on Mt. Brenton snow fell Saturday night and all day Sunday for a fast and treacherous skiing surface. Three carloads of club members hiked in Saturday night to enjoy the week-end at the lodge. The Club Ski Patrol saw action Sunday when Shirley Slaney suffered a sprained ankle, the injury, however, wasn't severe enough to call out the new toboggan which is ready to whisk skiing casualties down for first aid treatment at the cabin.

The Port Angeles trip was a huge success, about 19 Victorians enjoyed skiing on a fresh fall of powder snow. Last week-end saw the end of the ski season at this popular area, both the lodge and ski-tow now being closed down until next year.

Most Son-Bird sitzmarks will be on Mt. Brenton this week-end, with carloads of skiers going in Saturday and Sunday . . . enthusiasts may register for the trips by calling Jack McColl, G 1550 after 6 p.m.

DUNCAN — North Cowichan Council will seek engineering advice and aid under the B.C. River Banks Protection Act to dike Chemainus River to protect Westholme farm properties from seasonal floods.

Council action followed a presentation from Col. R. B. Ker, Victoria, representing Lord Brockett, owner of the Swallowfield farm at Westholme, that logging operations are to blame for the repeated annual floods. Since the government enjoys revenue from stumpage, he said, it should provide protection for those who suffer from the floods.

CROFTON—Miss Beatrice P. Cornwall, resident of Crofton and Westholme from 1910 to 1951, died recently in Cornwall, England, according to word received here.

She built the Crofton church hall in 1921, helped to form the Anglican Woman's Auxiliary and was its president, and served on the committee of Cowichan Health Centre.

DUNCAN—A water rate increase of about 25 per cent will be embodied in a by-law to be submitted to the Lieutenant-Governor in council and the Public Utilities Commission for approval.

A concession to householders, however, will be elimination of sprinkling charges during summer months.

NANAIMO — Construction of a new building for the Central Vancouver Island Health unit was practically assured Wednesday with word from Hon. Ralph Campney, solicitor-general, that a $15,000 federal grant will be made toward the building.

This makes likely a matching grant from the provincial government. Kiwanis Christmas seal fund has advanced $10,000, and the Cancer Society $4,000, making a total of $44,000 in sight.

Mercury and Mars are the only planets whose true surface may be seen from the earth.

WAS KING FOR A DAY —AND THEN HE BOLTED

OLDENBURG, Germany (CP) — Otto Witte, 81, a retired fire-eater and sword-swallower, this week celebrated the anniversary of a glorious day 40 years ago when he ruled Albania just for the fun of it.

In 1913 he dressed up as a Turkish prince and hoaxed the whole nation for two days.

All the people of Albania were eagerly awaiting the arrival of Turkish Prince Halim Eddin to take over the country's reign. Witte and a friend made themselves look very Turkish and presented themselves at court. Everybody bowed and scraped and then Witte and his friend took the salute from the guard of honor. On March 15 Witte was crowned King of Albania in a ceremony at Durazzo.

The next day the real prince showed up and was put out to discover he was too late for his own crowning. Witte dug a hole in the palace garden, buried his Turkish uniform and bolted.

U.S. Court Rules Bible Distribution To School Okay

RUTHERFORD, N.J. (UP)—The Rutherford Board of Education made plans today to resume distribution of King James version of Bibles to public school students.

Judge J. Wallace Leyden of a New Jersey superior court Monday denied a permanent injunction requested by Catholic and Jewish parents seeking to stop the distribution of the Bibles in the tax-supported schools.

Leyden ruled that since students were free to accept or reject the Bibles, made available by the Gideons Society, there was no violation of the constitutional requirement for separation of church and state.

Kanelos to Esks

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos of the Western International Baseball League today announced the purchase of third baseman Sam Kanelos from Brooklyn Dodgers, provisional on his reporting to Eskimos.

One of Brooklyn's "bonus babies," Kanelos, 23, played last season with Spokane Indians of the WIL, compiling a .294 batting average. Since 1950 he has also played for Sacramento of the Pacific Coast League and Tri-Cities of the WIL.

The Pacific earthquake zone with slight tremors every day is centred on the coast of Japan near Tokyo.

McCallum Quits Planners' Group

The resignation of Neil McCallum from the Oak Bay Town Planning Commission was reluctantly accepted by the Oak Bay council Wednesday night. Council suggested that the planning group should recommend someone to fill the vacancy.

R. B. Wilson and L. A. Austin-Leigh were reappointed to the commission for three-year terms on the notice of expiration of their previous appointments.

Elizabeth Shellhorn* Carries Phillips' Tablets Wherever She Goes

* Mrs. Clayton Shellhorn of Ottawa always carries a tin of Phillips' Tablets in her handbag so that whenever acid indigestion causes gas, heartburn or other distress, she can get quick, pleasant relief. Phillips' Tablets actually bring relief in just a matter of minutes. This is because they are made from one of the fastest, most effective stomach acid neutralizers ever discovered. And their delightful peppermint flavor makes them as pleasant to take as after-dinner mints. 30 tablets—25¢.

PHILLIPS' TABLETS

P. M. Cagy on Election Date

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent indicated today he has his sights set on the period between August and November for the next general election but hasn't yet pinned down the exact timing when in that period.

He was asked by reporters after a Liberal caucus if he could elaborate on his recent statement that the record of his government will be placed before the people "in the next few months."

He said he couldn't be more specific because he hasn't even discussed a possible date with the cabinet and he indicated that his own mind still is open on the point.

Berliner Shot Dead

BERLIN (Reuters) — A West Berlin policeman, Erwin Schlaeger, was shot dead near the East-West border early today by East German gunmen, West Berlin police said. Schlaeger, 46, had been on duty in a railroad tunnel marking the border between East Berlin and the French sector.

Germany Approves Payments

BONN (AP) — West Germany's agreement to pay $822,000,000 in reparations to Israel for Nazi persecution of the Jews was ratified Wednesday night by the federal parliament. The Socialist opposition came to the aid of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer to put it over in the Bundestag (lower house).

The final vote was 238 to 39, with 86 members abstaining.

Most of the votes in favor came from Adenauer's Christian Democrats and the Socialists. Two parties in Adenauer's three-party coalition government—the Free Democrats and the German Party—divided on the issue and did not vote solidly in favor.

Fined for Cock Fight

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—John Leloupe of nearby River Ryan was fined $100 Tuesday for operating a cock-fighting pit, and the court ordered that 23 fighting birds seized in a weekend raid be destroyed.

DEALERS PROTEST PRICE CUT

Surprise Move By Chain Stores

A price war in cigarettes loomed in Victoria today.

The Safeway Store chain today announced a 2-cent-a-package cut in most leading brands, and other retail outlets said they were considering what steps they would have to take to meet the competition.

It was the second time within a month that the price of cigarettes have been cut. In the federal budget the tax was reduced 4 cents a package and cigarette manufacturers made a further 2-cent cut.

In Vancouver, Nanaimo and Victoria newspaper ads announce the cut. All cartons of 200 cigarettes will sell at $2.95 and all popular brands at 31 cents or three for 89 cents . . . plus tax in each instance.

CUT TO 32 CENTS

With the provincial sales tax of 1c a package Safeways will sell single packets of cigarettes for 32 cents, three for 92 and 10 for $3.04.

The Safeways Ltd. move took wholesale and retail firms here by surprise.

"We have heard nothing about it but I suppose other stores will have to follow their example," one wholesaler said.

Safeway's action started a price war in Vancouver where other big chain and department stores joined the price cutting. The same thing has happened in Winnipeg, where the Detail Merchants' Association is charging the cigarette manufacturers with abetting an unfair price.

A Safeway spokesman said, "We buy direct from the manufacturer. We have a large turnover and low overhead. We want to pass the benefit along to the public, that's all."

RETAILERS WRATHFUL

Small retailers' reaction here was wrathful.

"We pay the wholesale 29.1 cents a package and sell for 33 plus one cent tax. How can we cut our prices? We might as well quit selling."

A wholesale tobacconist said: "Safeway won't make any profit at all. They're obviously just using it as a sales getter or loss leader. That's permitted now. It puts the trade in an awkward position. I don't believe most dealers will follow it. They can't. They would be losing money."

Pirates Sign O'Brien Twins

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates signed twins Eddie and Johnny O'Brien of the University of Seattle today at a five-figure bonus which was not announced.

Scout Edward P. McCarrick telephoned after a special trip to Seattle that he had landed the two over bids from several other major league clubs in addition to Seattle.

City Budget May Presage Mill Rate Cut

Will Whittle at 58.5 Figure Despite Higher Cost Forecast

The city of Victoria is to have another "austerity budget" this year and there is a fair prospect it will mean a reduction from last year's tax rate of 56½ mills on 100 per cent of land assessments and 65 per cent of improvements, despite the fact overall spending by the city will be higher.

The provisional budget brought down in City Council this morning calls for total expenditures of $6,517,535.

This is an increase of $673,000 over the actual expenditures in 1952, but because of higher revenues from non-tax sources and a higher assessment could be financed with a rate of 58½ mills.

However this is before the council starts paring the budget and Mayor Claude Harrison indicated he has every hope that the final budget can be cut below the 1952 rate.

The budget statement disclosed that the city finished 1952 with a revenue surplus of $311,196, which was $47,000 greater than in 1951.

This surplus will be carried forward to help keep the 1953 mill rate down.

Here, briefly is the budget picture:

Total proposed expenditure $6,517,535.

Revenues from other sources than property taxation $3,383,583.

Amount required to be raised by property taxes $3,133,952 (an increase of $250,555).

A large part of the extra money required from properties will be collected because of the higher assessment roll this year.

Each mill levied will produce $53,571, instead of $51,033 last year.

Council members expressed the view they have a good chance of cutting expenditures to the point where a reduction in the mill rate can be achieved.

BAKER'S DOZEN

13th Girl Born To U.S. Couple

PITTSFIELD, Me. (AP) — Lloyd Brooks looked at his newborn 13th daughter today and decided that "if we're ever going to have a son, guess we'll have to adopt one."

But Brooks said he was none-the-less pleased with the arrival Wednesday night of eight pound two ounce Lorene Avis, which brought his family to 13 daughters, the largest all-girl family in the United States.

When Lorene Avis' arrival was announced, the 37-year-old, $40-a-week textile worker dashed happily up to the delivery room of Osteopathic Hospital in Waterville, shouting:

"I knew it would be another girl."

Both the baby and Mrs. Brooks were reported doing well. The mother is 37 years old, stands five feet tall and weighs a mere 100 pounds.

The oldest of the other daughters, 15-year-old Eunice, exclaimed: "If she had been a boy we'd have had to send her back. Boys are always fighting."

CAMPNEY EXPLAINS CBC POLICY

TV Promised Within Weeks Once Joint Application Made

Quick processing of a joint CKDA-CJVI application for a Victoria television license was assured today by Solicitor-General Ralph Campney, who is visiting Victoria.

Mr. Campney, who represents Vancouver Centre in the federal house, estimated a joint application would be approved "in a month or two months" after submission to the CBC board of governors.

It has been estimated, however, it would take at least six months to prepare the technical data needed for a joint application.

Mr. Campney said the CBC is encouraging joint applications, and many small eastern Canadian centres are following this line. Radio stations and newspapers are banding together in some places, he said.

He said this strengthens the financial feature, and makes TV more easily obtainable for small cities.

On Wednesday, Dave Armstrong, owner - manager of CKDA, heard that the CBC had reversed its decision not to accept TV license applications from Victoria.

He announced his intention to proceed with TV plans calling for an expenditure of $400,000, and suggested to the management of CJVI that representatives of both stations "look into all the possibilities of a joint application."

Although William Guild, CJVI manager, is in eastern Canada, and not available for comment, he has expressed himself in favor of a joint operation.

CKDA's plans call for construction of a 50-kilowatt transmitter, or more than triple the 16-kilowatt transmitter now used by KING in Seattle.

According to the trade, such an installation here would eliminate the need for costly antennas on rooftops, since the built-in antenna would suffice.

"If that is not sufficient, a simple device that the owner can erect himself usually does the job," said Eric Young, local TV technician.

He added, though, that experience has proven that TV set owners are not satisfied to be limited to one station, and that if they want to reach Vancouver, Seattle, Bellingham and Tacoma, that large antennas will be required.

Engineers claim that a large antenna will improve reception anywhere beyond a one-mile radius of the transmitter by eliminating interference caused by fuorescent lights, doorbells, and ignition systems common to buses and British-made cars.

CANADA AND U.S. TO TEST COAST PLANE SPOTTERS

Ah! Spring! You Beautiful Thing!

The birds are singing, the bees are buzzing, the buds are budding . . . and the young man takes renewed interest in double-whistle ankles. Not that a well-turned limb doesn't attract attention any day in the year, but the young man's fancy will officially turn to thoughts of you-know-what Friday at 2.01 p.m. At that magic moment, the sun reaches the vernal equinox, and spring will be here, officially. 3 Services, CD Corps To Hunt Planes, Subs

RCAF Lancaster bombers from Comox and Vancouver Island's Civil Defense volunteers will join in two-nation West Coast war games at the week-end.

Taking part in the joint U.S.-Canada defense exercises will be RCAF bombers from Greenwood, N.S., an American submarine, navy ships, commercial merchantmen.

Four Lancasters from 404 squadron, Greenwood, will combine with 11 from 407 squadron, Comox, to sub-hunt and provide air cover for freighters.

The navy will round up merchantmen into convoys and provide escort.

Observations posts of the ground observer corps on Vancouver Island and Gulf of Georgia islands will report all sightings of planes and ships to the control command post at Vancouver.

This will be only part of the exercises extending from Alaska to U.S. West Coast states. Main purpose is to test communication facilities.

The air force, which instructs the civilian observer corps, said some 4,000 persons have volunteered to man the 450 posts throughout British Columbia.

ACADEMY AWARDS TONIGHT

Who'll Win Oscars—Shirley? Bette? Joan? Gary? Brando?

BY PHIL LEE
Times Movie Reviewer

Step right up, folks, and join in the annual guessing game.

Tonight Hollywood names the outstanding picture and stars of the year.

In the gals' division Academy Award winners could be Joan Crawford (Sudden Fear), Bette Davis (The Star), Susan Hayward (With a Song in My Heart), Julie Harris (Member of the Wedding), or Shirley Booth (Come Back Little Sheba).

My choice—if you're interested—is Shirley Booth.

The choice between the men for Oscars is among Gary Cooper (High Noon), Kirk Douglas (The Bad and the Beautiful), Alec Guiness (The Lavender Hill Mob), Marlon Brando (Viva Zapata), Jose Ferrer (Moulin Rouge).

Without having seen Moulin Rouge or The Bad and the Beautiful, I'm picking Cooper in High Noon. Or if Breaking the Sound Barrier is entered, as I understand it is, then my choice would be Ralph Richardson.

Some of those mentioned for supporting Oscars include Jack Palance (Sudden Fear), Richard Burton (My Cousin Rachel), Arthur Hunnicut (The Big Sky)

Crawford Cooper

and Victor McLaglin (The Quiet Man).

The western, High Noon, received the most nominations as the best picture of the year. Personally, I've always thought this one over-rated. The best picture of the year for my money is Breaking the Sound Barrier. If it is not entered then I would choose The Quiet Man.

Unhesitatingly I would name John Ford as the best director of the year for the wonders he performed with run of the mill actors in the gay, Irish comedy, The Quiet Man.

I also hope Cecil B. DeMille gets an award for his awesome technicolored documentary of circus life, The Greatest Show On Earth.

You can hear the awards from the RKO Pantages Theatre stage, Hollywood, tonight via Seattle radio station KOMO. Or if you have a TV set you can witness the presentation over KING-TV. The radio show starts at 7.30, the TV at 8.00.

Them TV fellers hope t' git Channel 6 fer Victoria. Wonder if it'll be as nice as Chanel No. 5?

Victoria Budget Brought Down

Mill Rate May Be Cut Despite Higher Costs

WHAT BUDGET MEANS

Following table shows what taxes are on three different priced city homes, and what they would be at provisional tax rate for 1953 of 58½ mills and at 55 mils:

Market Value	Assessed Value	1952 Taxes	58½ rate	55 rate
$ 7,500	$4,000	$175	$181	$171
10,000	5,000	203	210	198
14,000	7,100	282	290	275

First Draft Shows 58.5 Mills Needed

The city of Victoria is to have another "austerity budget" this year and there is a fair prospect it will mean a reduction from last year's tax rate of 56½ mills on 100 per cent of land assessments and 65 per cent of improvements, despite the fact overall spending by the city will be higher.

The provisional budget brought down in City Council this morning calls for total expenditures of $6,517,535.

This is an increase of $673,000 over the actual expenditures in 1952, but because of higher revenues from non-tax sources and a higher assessment could be financed with a rate of 58½ mills.

However this is before the council starts paring the budget and Mayor Claude Harrison indicated he has every hope that the final budget can be cut below the 1952 rate.

The budget statement disclosed that the city finished 1952 with a revenue surplus of $311,196, which was $47,000 greater than in 1951.

This surplus will be carried forward to help keep the 1953 mill rate down.

Here, brief is the budget picture:

Budget Picture in Brief

Total proposed expenditure $6,517,535.

Revenues from other sources than property taxation $3,383,583.

Amount required to be raised by property taxes $3,133,952 (an increase of $250,555).

A large part of the extra money required from properties will be collected because of the higher assessment roll this year.

Each mill levied will produce $53,571, instead of $51,033 last year.

Council members expressed the view they have a good chance of cutting expenditures to the point where a reduction in the mill rate can be achieved, although it was pointed out some of the economies achieved last year cannot be repeated again.

Council started with a provisional budget of $6,961,360 in 1952 and slashed it to $6,247,255 before it had finished paring down costs.

The budget was submitted to council by City Comptroller Dennis Young and City Manager Cecil Wyatt.

Water Responsible for Increase

Biggest increase this year is $100,965 for a water distribution system, with replacements and extensions taking up a major part of the increase.

School costs are up $86,126 and debt charges, $54,762. Cost of fire protection is down $13,463, while police protection is up $34,248 and street lighting up $12,929.

Only $1,900 is estimated for purchase of new parking meters this year compared to $11,252 spent last year.

Question of charitable grants is expected to result in lengthy debate. The sum of $6,800 has been included in the budget. Last year, only $2,050 was actually allotted.

The city estimated it would benefit by $91,000 under the new Rolston education formula. But after the provisional budget was completed the government announced Wednesday it would share increased school costs over the 1952 level on a 50-50 basis rather than the previously announced 75-25.

City Comptroller Young said he did not yet know how this would affect Victoria financially.

"At the time of writing, an accurate or even understandable interpretation of the Rolston formula was not obtainable although we have been assured that the city will benefit to the extent of approximately $91,000," he reported.

Special expenditure this year include $25,000 replacement of a fire truck ladder; $9,480 for new traffic signals; $65,200 for new street construction, and $10,935 for new equipment purchases in public works.

Items such as new street construction, grants—including the $14,590 estimated for "special" grants, are expected to be scrutinized closely.

Revenues from licenses and permits are up $17,500, principally from trades licenses of $3,000. Rents and franchises are down, mainly because of sale of Ogden Point elevator and other city properties.

Police court fines are expected to bring in the same revenue as last year—$65,000.

500 to 1,000 Perish In Turkish Quake

Shock Felt 10,000 Miles

ISTANBUL (AP)—A violent earthquake shook western Turkey Wednesday night and unofficial reports today said from 500 to 1,000 persons perished. President Celal Bayar left Ankara with government officials for the stricken region.

Zahmi Argon, Red Crescent Red Cross information officer, said unconfirmed reports from the scene estimated the dead at 500. Two Instanbul newspapers estimated the death toll at 1,000.

The quake apparently centred around Balikesir, across the Sea of Marmara from Istanbul, and near the First World War battlefield of Gallipoli. Police at Balikesir said by phone there were 38 confirmed dead in the towns of Gonen and Manyas, but that there was no contact with the towns of Yenice and Cihan, believed to have been even harder hit.

HALF HOMES DESTROYED

Balikesir police had unconfirmed reports that 500 were dead in Yenice and Cihan, towns of about 2,000 each. Their confirmed reports included 35 dead at Gonen, 100 miles southwest of Istanbul, and three at nearby Manyas. They said more than half the homes in the latter two towns had been destroyed or damaged.

The Istanbul observatory said the quake was felt over an area of more than 10,000 square miles. Through the affected area, people fled their homes, spending the night in the open.

CAMPNEY EXPLAINS CBC POLICY

TV Promised Within Weeks Once Joint Application Made

Quick processing of a joint CKDA-CJVI application for a Victoria television license was assured today by Solicitor-General Ralph Campney, who is visiting Victoria.

Mr. Campney, who represents Vancouver Centre in the federal house, estimated a joint application would be approved "in a month or two months" after submission to the CBC board of governors.

It has been estimated, however, it would take at least six months to prepare the technical data needed for a joint application.

Mr. Campney said the CBC is encouraging joint applications, and many small eastern Canadian centres are following this line. Radio stations and newspapers are banding together in some places, he said.

He said this strengthens the financial feature, and makes TV more easily obtainable for small cities.

On Wednesday, Dave Armstrong, owner-manager of CKDA, heard that the CBC had reversed its decision not to accept TV license applications from Victoria.

He announced his intention to proceed with TV plans calling for an expenditure of $400,000, and suggested to the management of CJVI that representatives of both stations "look into all the possibilities of a joint application."

Although William Guild, CJVI manager, is in eastern Canada, and not available for comment, he has expressed himself in favor of a joint operation.

CKDA's plans call for construction of a 50-kilowatt transmitter, or more than triple the 16-kilowatt transmitter now used by KING in Seattle.

According to the trade, such an installation here would eliminate the need for costly antennas on rooftops, since the built-in antenna would suffice.

"If that is not sufficient, a simple device that the owner can erect himself usually does the job," said Eric Young, local TV technician.

He added, though, that experience has proven that TV set owners are not satisfied to be limited to one station, and that if they want to reach Vancouver, Seattle, Bellingham and Tacoma, that large antennas will be required.

Engineers claim that a large antenna will improve reception anywhere beyond a one-mile radius of the transmitter by eliminating interference caused by fuorescent lights, doorbells, and ignition systems common to buses and British-made cars.

33 May Have Died in 2 U.S. Plane Crashes

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Two United States military planes crashed in Newfoundland Wednesday and the death toll may reach 33.

It was announced today that a second U.S. plane, a B-29 medium bomber, plunged into St. George's Bay with 10 men aboard while on a routine flight. Fate of the occupants was not known.

Meanwhile, searchers looked for survivors of a giant bomber which crashed on the east coast of Newfoundland with 23 persons aboard. Ten bodies have been found. There was no immediate trace of the other 13 persons.

Details of the B-29 crash were not available. Wreckage was found in the bay, on the province's west coast, but there was no sign of life.

On the other side of the island, search parties hunted for the remaining 13 persons aboard the 10-engine RB-36 which went down north of here while en route from the Azores to its base at Rapid City, N.B.

Ten bodies were found near the still-burning wreckage on a heavily-wooded hilltop today by woodsmen.

They said the plane crashed into a hilltop but did not say if it had burned. The plane had a gasoline capacity of 20,000 gallons.

All men in the tiny settlement of Bygoyne's Cove, nearest to the crash scene, left in motorboats early today in an effort to reach the wreckage. Another rescue party also started out by jeep from McAndrew air force base.

None Named To Succeed Czech Premier

VIENNA, Austria (UP)—The body of Czech dictator Klement Gottwald, who died mourning his idol Joseph Stalin, was consigned to a marble tomb in Prague today with the name of his successor still unannounced.

The funeral pattern, as described by Prague radio, was a miniature copy of last week's Kremlin rites for Stalin.

Gottwald, whose brief fatal illness was strikingly similar to Stalin's, died Saturday — just three days after flying home from Moscow where he was one of the chief mourners for his Communist master.

As Gottwald's funeral got underway with a four-mile procession through the Czech capital today, there still was no announcement as to who would replace him as president-dictator of Red Czechoslovakia.

RED CROSS DRIVE LAGS

Red Cross canvassers are barely keeping pace with the passing days as the month-long campaign draws nearer its end. With the month 61 per cent gone, the Red Cross drive quota has only hit the 58.5 per cent mark of the $70,500 target. The total collected at noon today was $41,250.

BAKER'S DOZEN

13th Girl Born To U.S. Couple

PITTSFIELD, Me. (AP)—Lloyd Brooks looked at his newborn 13th daughter today and decided that "if we're ever going to have a son, guess we'll have to adopt one."

But Brooks said he was none-the-less pleased with the arrival Wednesday night of eight pound two ounce Lorene Avis, which brought his family to 13 daughters, the largest all-girl family in the United States.

When Lorene Avis' arrival was announced, the 37-year-old, $40-a-week textile worker dashed happily up to the delivery room of Osteopathic Hospital in Waterville, shouting:

"I knew it would be another girl."

Both the baby and Mrs. Brooks were reported doing well. The mother is 37 years old, stands five feet tall and weighs a mere 100 pounds.

The oldest of the other daughters, 15-year-old Eunice, exclaimed: "If she had been a boy we'd have had to send her back. Boys are always fighting."

German Police Beat Back Reds Protesting Alliance With West

BONN, Germany (AP)—Reinforced police today beat back nearly 1,000 Communist-led demonstrators who tried to march on the West German Parliament to block ratification of twin treaties that would bring the Bonn republic into armed alliance with the West.

The screaming, chanting demonstrators scrambled over a barbed wire barricade blocking the street and attempted to break through a police cordon.

The police met them about 200 yards from the Parliament buildings and drove them back with powerful streams of water from hoses.

Several demonstrators were arrested.

Police said that Communist and neutralist opponents of the rearmament treaties had imported hundreds of demonstrators from al lsections of West Germany, especially the industrial Ruhr.

Police closed off an area of nearly 10 square blocks around the Parliament with the barbed-wire barricades. All around the building they stretched fire hoses. Water guns were mounted on the roof.

The demonstrators shouted anti-rearmament and peace slogans.

Several were injured.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer will launch the treaties on their third and final reading in the Bundestag (lower house) with a government declaration. This will be followed by a debate lasting probably eight hours.

The 77-year-old government chief wants this step completed before he goes to the United States for a state visit April 6.

The treaties are the Allied-Bonn peace contract, giving West Germany near-sovereignty, and the six-country European Defense Community pact, setting up a unified West European army. Germany would contribute 500,000 men to the one-uniform force.

As the two agreements came up in the Bundestag, the confident Adenauer called for a big majority "to show the way" to the rest of free Europe. The final vote was expected tonight.

Hope Fading For Renewal Of Wheat Pact

OTTAWA (BUP)—Hope for renewal of the International Wheat Agreement appeared to be fading rapidly today.

Federal grain officials remained silent on details of the Washington negotiations and Trade Minister C. D. Howe declined comment on a statement by Sir John Teasdale, chairman of the Australian Wheat Board, that a new three-year pact was "unlikely."

But other federal officials echoed the pessimism.

The negotiations were expected to end in about 10 days, but there was a report that the Canadian delegation would come home if a price was not settled by this week-end.

It was understood that representatives from the 46 major importing and producing countries of the free world were still 20 cents apart on the proposed ceiling prices for the new agreement and 15 cents apart on floor price quotations.

Them TV fellers hope t' git Channel 6 fer Victoria. Wonder if it'll be as nice as Chanel No. 5?

Dies When Trapped In Sand Hopper

Flying Saucer Seen

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (BUP) Two residents of Prince George in north-central British Columbia claimed today they say a "flying saucer" shoot across the sky at a "tremendous speed."

Fred Harper and Peter Evans told the Royal Canadian Mounted Police they observed the saucer for more than an hour. They said it would hover low, then shoot up in bounces and finally disappeared. The men said it changed color from white to reddish yellow.

ACADEMY AWARDS TONIGHT

Who'll Win Oscars—Shirley? Bette? Joan? Gary? Brando?

BY PHIL LEE
Times Movie Reviewer

Step right up, folks, and join in the annual guessing game.

Tonight Hollywood names the outstanding picture and stars of the year.

In the gals' division Academy Award winners could be Joan Crawford (Sudden Fear), Bette Davis (The Star), Susan Hayward (With a Song in My Heart), Julie Harris (Member of the Wedding), or Shirley Booth (Come Back Little Sheba).

My choice—if you're interested—is Shirley Booth.

The choice between the men for Oscars is among Gary Cooper (High Noon), Kirk Douglas (The Bad and the Beautiful), Alec Guiness (The Lavender Hill Mob), Marlon Brando (Viva Zapata), Jose Ferrer stage, Hollywood, tonight

Without having seen Moulin Rouge or The Bad and the Beautiful, I'm picking Cooper in High Noon. Or if Breaking the Sound Barrier is entered, as I understand it is, then my choice would be Ralph Richardson.

Crawford Cooper

Some of those mentioned for supporting Oscars include Jack Palance (Sudden Fear), Richard Burton (My Cousin Rachel), Arthur Hunnicut (The Big Sky) and Victor McLaglin (The Quiet Man).

The western, High Noon, received the most nominations as the best picture of the year. Personally, I've always thought this one over-rated. The best picture of the year for my money is Breaking the Sound Barrier. If it is not entered then I would choose The Quiet Man.

Unhesitatingly I would name John Ford as the best director of the year for the wonders he performed with run of the mill actors in the gay, Irish comedy, The Quiet Man.

I also hope Cecil B. DeMille gets an award for his awesome technicolored documentary of circus life, The Greatest Show On Earth.

You can hear the awards from the RKO Pantages Theatre stage, Hollywood, tonight via Seattle radio station KOMO. Or if you have a TV set you can witness the presentation over KING-TV. The radio show starts at 7.30, the TV at 8.00.
